WEDDINGS BETROTHALS

SENIOR women of Butler University were honor guests at a tea this afternoon at the college residence, given by the Association of University Women. Dr. Martha Doan, dean of women of Earlham College, and a lift member of the Indianapolis branch, talked informally upon the work of the association. Mrs. Earl B. Long announced the program for the thirty-eighth general meeting in Portland, Ore., July 15-21. Mrs. J. C. Moore was in charge of the program, assisted by Mesdames W. W. Thornton, Ernest De Wolf Wales, W. J. Hasselman, and Miss Amelia Platter.

Miss Elizabeth Callon, Helen Payne and Mildred Johns sang. Mrs. Frank Streightoff, Mrs. Robert J. Aley, Miss Corinne Welling, Miss Martha Doan, and Miss Evelyn and Miriam Wier received. Mrs. Everett Schofield presided at the tables, assisted by Miss Margaret Bloor, Anne Smith, Charlotte Howe, Cora Marie Emerich, Nell V. Green, Eva Green, Katherine Mead, Mary Elizabeth Moore, Ruth Anne Read and Katherine Riley, and Mesdames Albert Winkie, William C. Batchelder, W. S. Scholl, Pierre Van Sickle, J. M. Williams, and John S. Spiegel.

LA VENDER and pink were colors carried out in the decorations at a tea given Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lester C. Morris, Jr., in honor of Miss Angeline Bates, a bride-elect, and Mrs. William Thomas of Sharon, Pa., a house guest of Miss Bates.

The other guests included Mesdames Victor H. Prange, Max Baker, Paul McConnell and Claude Jones, Jr., and Misses Ruth Lee Pythian, Lydia Bates and Elizabeth Kolmer.

TWO hundred guests, friends and members of the Indiana Women's Republican Club, attended a garden party Thursday afternoon and evening at the home of Dr. Amelia Keller, 3515 Guilford ave. In the afternoon the guests played cards at forty tables decorated with baskets of spring flowers and enjoyed a program of costume dancing by Miss Ernestine Walker, Jane Crabb, Lucia and Eleanor Wilde.

In the evening under a profusion of Japanese lanterns, a musical program was presented by Mrs. Everett C. Johnson, soloist, accompanied by Miss Grace Whitman and numbers by the chorus of twenty children's voices directed by Mrs. James M. Ogden. Miss Annamie Fee gave a butterfly dance which was especially attractive.

Part of the proceeds will go to the Riley Memorial Fund. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. O. A. Hobbs chairman of the afternoon entertainment, assisted by Mesdames E. J. Robinson, R. E. Richardson, C. A. Kennington, Luke Duffey, Clarence R. Martin, Otto Keller, C. B. Reed, E. B. Jackson, Harry Campbell, Roy Powell, Taylor Groninger, and Edward Toner, and John Rosenberg of Anderson and A. A. Kist of Portland.

Mrs. Julia Belle Tutewiler was chairman of the evening's entertainment assisted by Mesdames James P. Goodrich, John Gardiner, Wilson, Pearl Hughes, J. H. Donaldson, Clara Shank and Miss Jean McCormick.

Misses Mildred Miller and Cecil Frye, at their home, 3110 N. Illinois St., entertained with a personal shower and bachelorette party Thursday night in honor of Miss Mabel Pringle, 325 Wallace St., whose marriage to Paul Postal, Dacatur, Ill., will take place Saturday. The house was attractively arranged with spring flowers. The gifts were presented to Miss Pringle in a large basket decorated in the bridal colors, honeydew and black.

The guests were Mesdames Leigh Felton, John Short, Theodore Campbell, Richard Merriam, Jay McIlvahn, and Misses Ruth Miller, Velda Schob, Julia Miller, Helena Wanner, Winniford Brown, Esther Goshea, Estelle Carthright, Gertrude Metzger, Bertha Hoerth, Alice Miller and Grace Fraiser, and Mrs. Harry Shireman and Miss Alberta Smith of Martinsville.

Martha Lee Says

'Stronger' Sex Is Weak When Woman Flatters

Men, known as the stronger sex, are universally weak on one point: They like to be flattered.

The flattery of a watchful eye during the performance of some feat, ordinary or extraordinary; the flattery of an attentive ear during the recital of a tale, thrilling or dull; the flattery of an admiring glance, perhaps an admiring word, regarding a new suit; most of all, the flattery, to a man whose hair is graying and whose gait no longer is alert, of a remark which indicates that he still is quite a "bean"—for all of these, the men "fall."

Wives should know how to flatter, in such a way that their husbands never suspect the flattery.

Wife Neglected

Martha Lee: I have been married twenty years. I am 60 and my husband is 65. He goes with other women and says he always did go with them and always will. I left twice and he almost went insane, so people told me to go back. I did it and it is the same old story. He will not go out with me and tells me he does not care for me. He says I should go where I want to—only live with him. Could he be child-like? I do not care for him any more, knowing he does not care for me. Please advise me. X. Y. Z.

Your husband, like many other men of his age, probably likes to make himself feel young by making himself believe he still is as attractive to women as he was when he was 25 or 30. Yes, it might be a sort of childishness.

If your husband just carries on harmless flirtations, the thing for you to do is to make yourself attractive—oh, yes, you can, at 60—and to give him the flattery he seeks from others. Then don't mind if he seems to flirt a bit.

If his actions really are such that they constitute infidelity, you should leave him again. Of course, you will go back, but he will realize that you will not stand for everything.

She's Not 'Wild'

Dear Martha Lee: I am a girl 24 years old and am divorced. I have a little girl who is almost 3. I would nearly die if anything happened to her. I have to work and my mother keeps my baby. But I get so lonely at night that sometimes I nearly die.

I go to dances usually two nights a week and try to cheer myself up. For I try to make people think I don't worry. But I do worry because I cannot find any fellow to go with. They all think that because I am a widow I would go on wild parties, but I never have and never want to. I don't drink and don't drink I should start it now just to please a fellow.

You may think I am foolish, but I should like to find some man who would be good to my little girl and whom I could marry. I want so much to go straight. Won't you advise me?

You are right, of course, not only because you could not be happy unless you went straight, but also because you owe it to your little girl never to do anything that would harm her.

Just keep your ideals, and you will find there are men in this world like the one you want. Sorry I cannot find one for you, but, as I've explained before, that is impossible through this column. Whenever you get blue, think of your little girl. Make her your life and you will not regret so much the dull evenings you may have before the "right man" comes along.

Mrs. George M. Spindler. Mrs. Frank Hopkins of Ft. Harrison was also a guest.

The Jaunt-a-Bit Club will meet tonight at the home of Miss Margaret Gordon, 3027 E. Michigan St., for a special business meeting.

Mrs. Eva Leak, 5440 University Ave., entertained this afternoon with a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Mary Michaelis, whose wedding to Howard Richter will take place June 13. The hostess was assisted by Beulah Mangus and Mrs. Mattie Shriver.

Mrs. Martha J. Stubbs spoke before the Economics Club of Montgomery County today at Crawfordsville. Her subject was "One Phase of Child Psychology."

Petition Hearing Set

Petition of the Home Telephone and Telegraph Company of Ft. Wayne for a new rate schedule will be heard before the public service commission June 11. The company now operates under a Federal Court order.

Mr. Harry C. Bachman, 4735 Main Avenue, Norwood, Ohio, writes: "I had skin eruptions—pimples and blackheads. I took S.S.S. and was happily surprised at the results I got in less than three weeks' time."

Try it yourself. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size is more economical. Get a bottle today!

Your blood changes in the Spring. Why?

YOUR blood, S. S. S. has given new, long-forgotten strength to older people and has made many old and young people look years younger. Blood is life—it's your foundation—make it rich—get blood strength—we all need it, especially rheumatics. S. S. S. will improve your appetite and give you greater energy, strength and endurance.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again

FASCISTI INVADE FRENCH POLITICS

Three Socialist Leaders Handled by 'Black Shirts.'

By United Press
PARIS, June 1.—Introduction of Fascist methods into French politics will be debated in the chamber of deputies.

Following the man-handling of three Socialist leaders who were shampooed with purple ink, forced to drink castor oil, and rolled in the mud, Deputy Herriot announced he would interpellate the government concerning the episode.

As the three Socialists—Deputy Moutet, Marc Sagnier and former Minister Violette—were leaving their homes late last night, they were stopped. The attacks aimed to prevent the three from attending anti-Fascist meetings.

The new Parisian "black shirts" announced Communists and other promoting anti-nationalist demonstrations are liable to similar treatment.

KIRK TAKES UP DUTIES

J. D. Forrest Retires as Manager of Citizens Gas Company.

J. D. Forrest, for sixteen years general manager and secretary of the Citizens Gas Company, today retired from active management. He is succeeded by Charles L. Kirk, for several years general manager of the Indianapolis Water Company.

Directors of the gas company have adopted resolutions commending Forrest's work. Carlton E. Davis of Philadelphia succeeded Kirk as general manager of the water company. A dinner will be given for Davis at 6:30 this evening in the Riley room of the Claypool.

DR. GUEDEL REAPPOINTED

Democrat Gets Post Again on Board of Health.

Dr. A. E. Guedel, Democratic member of the board of health, whose term expires today, has been reappointed by Mayor Shank. An effort to have Dr. William P. Best, 5906 N. New Jersey St., appointed in Guedel's place was abandoned when it was learned Best is a Republican and the vacancy had to be filled by a Democrat.

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers!

Truly! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. Advertisment.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO HER FRIEND, SALLY ATHERTON.

DEAR SALLY: I hope you will not think that I do not sympathize with you over the disaster that has come to Sam, but, Sally dear, I did not know what to say. Mere words seem almost insultingly futile.

Beatrice wrote me that you were being forced to shoulder the entire burden of financing your marital menage. I do not forget, dear, how good you were to me when you were a big girl in an upper grade in our boarding school and I was a little kiddie, and I know that my mother also has a great and tender feeling toward you for your kindness to me then.

I looked upon you as a regular princess, for your mother and father were alive and you were known as the richest girl in the school. Little did I think that I would ever be writing this letter, but, Sally, will you take this just as I offer it? Will you let mother, who is coming here next week, send you a check until you can see your way clear?

Under the same circumstances I know you would do it and surely you do not love me any better than I do you, although we both have been very poor correspondents. Lovingly, LESLIE.

Letter from Sally Atherton to Leslie Prescott.

I cannot tell you, dear Leslie, how your letter touched me. I thought all my friends had forgotten me, except Bee, and I had grown hard and somewhat wicked. But with your letter there also came one from Vera Stokley. She had heard of my trouble and she sent me her entire allowance for the next three months—at least it was the amount of her allowance when she was in college. Maybe she has more now.

I just sat down and cried, Leslie, and poor old Sam, who was lying on the sofa, cried too.

"I've only been a disgrace and grief to you, Sally," he said. "Why don't you turn me out in the cold?" And then I thought of some words that Bee wrote me and something broke up in the ice that had surrounded my heart. I knew that I did love Sam and would always love him and would work for him and care for him. I went over to him and pressed my lips upon his sightless eyes and whispered, "For better or for worse."

Oh, Leslie, this being married is a very solemn business, isn't it? No matter how saddened you are, how grieved you are, how angry you are or how tortured you are with it, there is a kind of band—iron band, perhaps, I would call it—that keeps drawing you and your husband tighter together. And each day something is always driving in another rivet to make the band stronger. Although the band chafes and hurts you, when you try to break it, all at once you realize that your husband and yourself are one.

Now Leslie, I have some news which is perhaps not quite hopeless. I took some of Vera's money to pay for the opinion of one of the most noted eye specialists in the country and he tells me that there is a great probability that Sam will regain his sight. Thank God for me, Leslie! Your grateful SALLY.
