S. Lesh to Fred Henke, sheriff of Vanderburgh County.

Lesh said the concealing of liquor on the person was evidence of a motive to transport, which is illegal under Indiana laws. He also said sheriffs had authority to stop and search automobiles which they think are transporting intoxicants.

INDUSTRY TALKS CODE OF TAXATION TO U. S. FARMERS

Fundamental Principles Are Discussed at Washington Conference.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—Formulation of a code of fundamental principles of taxation has been undertaken in conferences between representatives of the National Association of Manufacturers and conservative agricultural leaders.

The tentative statement of these principles, as announced in the Washington service bulletin of the manufacturers' association, includes the repeal of all present excise taxes and urges that the form and amount of taxes should be such as not to discourage individual initiative or establishment of new enterprises. No reference is made to the proposed sales tax, which is favored by some manufacturing interests as a substitute for present excise taxes.

Here's the Taxing Code

The tentative statement of fundamental principles follows:

1. All cost of government must be paid by its citizens and ought not to exceed the smallest sum necessary to essential government activities.

2. The Federal Government should appropriate no new sources of taxation. The fullest cooperation should be developed between Federal and

ADMIRAL BENSON RAPS 'FLAPPERS'

Sea Veteran Says Streets Hold More Dangers Than Ocean for Young Men—He re for Two Speeches.

Dangers of life for a young man are fewer on a man-of-war than among scantily-clad flappers on the streets, according to Admiral W. S. Benson, U. S. N., retired. Admiral Benson is in the city to address the Rotary Club at noon and Cathedral High School graduates tonight.

"A cruise before the mast is one of the best experiences a young man can have," Admiral Benson said. "Despite the popular idea, I believe the morals of our boys in the Navy are far above the average. There is less temptation on a man-of-war than on the streets."

"If a young man goes wrong in the Navy, it is a certainty he would have done the same had he never set foot on a vessel."

Ships in Good Shape

Admiral Benson is a member of the United States shipping board and was chairman of that body from March, 1920, to June, 1921.

The board now has more than 1,200 steel ships under its control, he said. A few of them are unfit for competitive service due to the hurry with which they were constructed during the war, faulty design, and improper power neither individual initiative in the operation of existing production nor establishment of new enterprises.

3. Every person should be taxed in just proportion to his ability to pay.

4. The form and amount of taxes should be definite and discourage

Work of re-conditioning the Leviathan, largest vessel in the world, which will make its maiden trip this month, was done under Admiral Benson's supervision.

"It was the first time work of this magnitude was undertaken by an American shipyard, and the result proved the ability of our yards to handle any work, no matter how large," he said.

"Fully 80 per cent of the Leviathan's personnel will be American citizens."

Expensive Trip "Test"

Severe criticism has been directed against the Government for making the first trip a "joy ride" with a long list of invited guests who will bear no expense.

Admiral Benson declined to comment on this other than to say the trip will be a test of the ability of all departments of the ship to operate under normal passenger-carrying conditions.

A K. of C. delegation met Admiral Benson at the Union Station at 6 a. m.

growing out of war emergencies should be repealed.

7. Taxes should be definitely assessed in advance of collections.

8. Means for tax adjustment should be provided in each collection district subject to final appeal.

9. The collection of taxes should conform to establish business practice and organize the taxpayers' convenience."

Leading members of the National Association of Manufacturers have cooperated in various movements with officers of the American Farm Bureau Federation. It is understood that the conferences on taxation were with members of that organization.

CLEVELAND'S FIRE CHIEF ON JOB FOR FIFTY-FOUR YEARS

Veteran Leader, 75, Says Staying in One Place Fits Man for Work.

CLEVELAND, June 11.—Cleveland's fire chief, George Alexander Wallace, had been on the job for fifty-four years.

Chief Wallace is "full of years" seventy-five of them. He is the oldest active fire-fighter in the country, and probably in the world. And he has never once been reprimanded.

Chief Wallace is so modest about his remarkable life of service that he doesn't like to have his picture taken, or talk about his exploits.

"I would rather face a fire than any camera," he says. "But if you must use a picture, use an old one that makes me look younger."

The chief is as strong and rugged as any man in the department. That's because he likes to play handball and baseball as well as ever—and does.

"When you do a thing for fifty-four years, you naturally learn all about it," he said. "That's why a man can never stay too long on one job. The longer he stays, the more knowledge he accumulates, the more useful he becomes."

"A man is never too old to fill a job as long as he is in the physical or mental shape to hold the job."

TOO FEW PEOPLE HEED DANGER SIGN

Observations of an Illinois Woman, Who Says Her Family's Good Health Is Due to Prompt Use of Black-Draught.

Saint Joseph, Ill.—In speaking of the good health record of her family, Mrs. Asa G. Ollis, of this place, says that for symptoms of torpid liver "the first thing we do is to take Black-Draught."

"It is the best liver tonic I have ever known," declares Mrs. Ollis, "and the rest of the family seem to feel the same way. They take it for sour stomach, indigestion and constipation."

"Too few people pay enough attention to constipation, which is the beginning of most ills, but I have used Black-Draught for constipation and it regulated me, and I can recommend it for that."

As Mrs. Ollis so truthfully says, constipation leads to a great deal of sickness among those who do not understand its dangers, and who neglect prompt treatment. The poisons which constipation forces your blood to reabsorb may cause much suffering, and greatly endanger your general health.

Thedford's Black-Draught (purely vegetable) has been found to relieve constipation, and by stimulating the action of the liver, when it is torpid, helps to drive many poisons out of your system. Biliousness, indigestion, headache, and similar troubles are often relieved in this way. It is the natural way. Be natural! Try Black-Draught.
