

Four Americans Strive for Honors in Annual All-England Net Tournament

WARM COMPETITION IS PROMISED AT WIMBLEDON

Johnston, Richards, Hunter and Mallory Carry Hopes of Yankees in British Tennis Event.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 25.—Drizzling rain, which made the trim green courts of Wimbledon soggy and threatened racquet strings, delayed the start of the all-England tennis championships here today. At 2 p. m. a steady fall of rain continued. Leading tennis stars of nearly a dozen nations were here to start the long fight for the championship.

Bill Johnston, Vincent Richards, Francis Hunter and Molla Mallory are representing the United States and any one of them is considered a possible finalist.

Crowd Gathers Early

Before 10 a. m. long lines of spectators formed in front of the grandstands, which seats 20,000. The matches have aroused extraordinary interest throughout England despite the fact that the world title is not in jeopardy. The field as a whole seems superior to former years.

In the women's singles, Suzanne Lenglen of France is a strong favorite over her ancient rival, Molla Mallory. The British entries are headed by Miss Kane and Mrs. Beamish. The chief contenders for the men's title among the British are Randolph Lycett, Max Woosman and the boy star, B. C. Norton.

Hunter Plays Spaniard

The Americans on the card today included Richards vs. Joser, the veteran southpaw; Johnston vs. Higgs, an Englishman, and Hunter vs. Flaque, member of the Spanish Davis cup team.

The famous center court was levelled inch by inch during the winter and the turf especially prepared for the championships.

Two additional courts outside the new stadium are being used for the preliminary matches. When the semifinals are reached the play will be restricted to the center court.

F. D. Richardson, agent for the Fairbanks-Morse Company of Indianapolis in the Hawaiian Islands, played in the national amateur golf tournament here Saturday and Sunday. He lives in Honolulu and it was "so hot" here, he said, that he was off his game. He explained that the temperature there seldom goes higher than 85 degrees.

"Mosquitoes here are bad, too," he asserted. "In Honolulu they are more so. They feel around a while before they take a bite, but here they come on the run."

Richardson said he never had seen snow until he visited in Wisconsin the past winter.

FANS GET RARE TREAT AS TRIBE KEEPS SPEEDING

Burwell Individual Hero Over Week-end as Columbus Is Beaten Three Times.

A man charged with syncope and gin could not have danced better than Tribe fans did Sunday when the Indians pulled the first game of the double-header with the Senators out of the fire by scoring three runs in the ninth and winning, 7 to 6.

The rooters were ready for the padded cell, following that one, coming as it did right after a similar victory Saturday when the Tribesmen came from behind in the last frame and won, 6 to 5.

To top the week-end off in fancy fashion, the Hendrickses grabbed the honors in the bob-tailed second fracas of the Sunday twin bill, 3 to 0, in six innings, rain forcing a halt.

Now Fifth, Going on Fourth.

The Tribesmen pushed their winning streak to nine games and were riding in fifth position today, much to the consternation of a few rival A. A.

CLYDE SEIB RELEASED

Owner Smith of the Indians today granted Pitcher Clyde Seib his release. Seib is the youngster from Decatur, Ill., who twirled great ball last season and was touted as a future big leaguer. Unfortunately, the youth hurt his throwing arm during the winter and despite treatment by the club physicians he failed to get his strength back. He said he probably would remain out of baseball until next year.

Smith announced today women and children will be admitted free to the games at Washington Park Tuesday and Friday, this week.

club owners and a number of home town grandstand managers who had consigned the Hoosiers to remain in the league cellar.

Bill Burwell was twice a hero over the week-end. In the Saturday skirmish he acted as pinch hitter in the ninth and started the game-winning rally. In the ninth of the first fray Sunday he delivered the blow that scored Krueger with the winning run. He also gained a pitching victory over Palmero, heretofore a puzzle to the Indians.

With two out in the frantic finish Sunday, Whelan walked and Campbell doubled him to third. Jake Northrop relieved Palmero on the Columbus mound and his first two offerings were strikes.

Ernie Wise to Jake

Krueger kicked about the ball Northrop was using and Umpire Dady examined the pellet and threw it out of the game. He tossed another ball to Northrop and DONT PERMIT CATCHER ELLIOTT TO CARRY IT FIRST. Apparently this move threw Northrop out of gear. At any rate Krueger leaned against the left field fence for a double, scoring Whelan and Campbell. Weaver hurried to the relief of Northrop and Burwell picked on his first one and sent it to deep right field, counting Krueger with the winning marler.

In the wind-up affair Sunday Carmen Hill gave up only three hits in six innings and he had the Senators cowed. Sanders and Weaver worked on the Columbus mound. The Indians scored one marker in the second and one in the third. The showers came when the Indians were batting in the sixth.

Close Series Tuesday

This was an off-day at Washington Park. Tuesday the Indians will battle the Senators in the series wind-up. Toledo comes Wednesday and will be here through Saturday. Following the Hen visit the Tribesmen will depart on a long trip.

Walter Rehg had an attack of cramps in the early afternoon Sunday and had to remain out of the first game. Attention of a physician pulled him out of it and he was back playing in the second contest. Janvyn was out of both games because of illness.

EVANS SHOWS WAY IN MEET WITH GREAT GOLF

Chick Far Under Par With Total Score of 282—Read of Riverside Club Is Runnerup With 310.

Chick Evans was the whole show in the amateur invitational golf tourney concluded Sunday at the Riverside course. There wasn't much doubt that Chick was the class of the field before the start and anyone who had a notion that some of this State's aspiring hopefuls could keep pace with the noted expert of the links know now just how far wrong they were.

In the first place Chick was at the very top of his form and showed this city some golf of extraordinary excellence. His great performance of 282 total for seventy-two holes undoubtedly will stand for some time around this city.

At Top of His Game

He played almost perfect golf at all times and if par is supposed to be all that is expected of any golfer, then Chick exceeded expectations to a remarkable degree.

Way Below Par

Saturday he went around the Coffin course as carefree as you please in 72 and 69. Par for that course is 72. Then on Sunday he simply out-did himself and breezed around the Riverside links, with rain pelting down on his trip, for rounds of 71 and 70. Par for Riverside is 75. Figure it out yourself and if you are a golfer meditate upon those 80s and 90s you have turned in rather proudly.

Evans' Sunday's scores were as follows:

—Morning Round—
Out..... 4 4 5 5 4 4 2 5—36
In..... 4 4 4 4 5 3 4 3—31
—Afternoon Round—
Out..... 4 4 3 3 4 5 5 4—35
In..... 4 4 4 4 3 5 5 4—30

Read Is Runner-Up

Bill Reed, the local Riverside golfer, was second with a score of 310. The difference between 282 and 310 shows how great was the gap between the super golf of one of the greatest in the game and ordinarily good golf. A round of 82 Sunday morning spoiled Reed's performance. For most of the time he played very good golf, and although at times in difficulty, he went along steadily most of the way.

Johnny Simpson and Bill Vanlandingham were tied for third with 317. Simpson had a good chance for the runner-up position, but fell down on the last round. He had three 77s on his first round and then took a bad 86 on his final eighteen.

Jack Tuitt wound up in fourth place with a 321. Paul Shaffer started out at a good clip on Coffin, but could not do so well Sunday at Riverside and turned in an 83 and 81, which brought his total to 322 for fifth place.

Sweetser Has Trouble

Ted Sweetser was way off on the Riverside course and dropped to a total of 324 and finished sixth. The field, which was not as large as expected on Saturday, was less than even on Sunday, and even some of the golfers who had done well on the first day dropped out Sunday. Still more decided they were hopeless out of it and did not go out, while others who were hesitating were decided by the rain.

Alexander held Cincinnati to three hits Sunday, broke Luque's winning streak, which had reached seven straight and won for the Cubs.

Washington staged a bat fest, getting fourteen hits and two home runs and blanked Philadelphia.

The Giants made a clean sweep of the series when they defeated Boston. It was New York's sixth straight win
