Sense of Humor Helps
'Perfect Friendship'

A "perfect friendship," as the writer calls it, between a boy and girl, is described in a letter I have just received from the boy. Truly, this couple seems to have struck the right balance. The object of the letter is simply to let my readers and me know that such a friendship exists, in contrast to the "silly sentimentalisms," the boys says, I receive daily.

Read it, boys and girls, and mothers and fathers.

True Pals

Dear Miss Lee: This letter is to let you know there are a few sensible boys and girls in Indianapolis. You will admit that usually but more so after I have given you a summary of my friendship with a girl.

Four years ago I formed a friendship with a fellow girl student at high school, by introducing myself. We have gone together ever since and never had a quarrel. We yield to the other's wishes. We agreed that our going together should not mean anything beyond friendship until we grew old enough to know and understand. We are not jealous, for we inform each other just what our dates are and where, and give each other advice about the people we go out with. We recognize the other's right to lead his own life.

We kiss and make love occasionally, but we stop before we have gone very far. We cannot take such things seriously, for we see the ridiculous side of sentimentality. We both are 18. The girl graduated from high school this June, and I have just finished my second year at college. We have planned to finish our college education if possible.

I intend to marry this girl some day. But at present we are only friends. We even break dates in order to go with some one else sometimes. But we notify each other in ample time. The girl and I try to do the right thing, and both of us have our own code that we do not violate, and convention is a minor thing to us, for convention is sometimes wrong.

The main purpose of this letter is to let you see a real friendship, instead of some of these silly sentimentalisms that we read every day. Now, do not think me as serious as I am in this letter. But be glad to see a cameo of a perfect friendship.

Your letter was a joy. I knew you had a sense of humor, without your telling me. For that and tolerance are essential to a true friendship.

Starting Young

Dear Miss Lee: I am a girl of 14 and in love with a boy of 10. I meet this boy every night, but my parents do not know it. I know he goes around with bad company, but I love him just the same. Do you think it would be wrong to let him be one in a while? I call him my "cave man," because he is one. Don't call this "puppy love," because it is not. Please advise me how to win his love more. Should I give him a letter? I am afraid I cannot. TROUBLED JANE.

You can stop this affair, and you must, Jane, unless you wish to endanger your reputation and your happiness at home. You think you are really in love. But some day you will know what real love is, and then you will realize that this was not as serious as you thought.

If you can influence the boy to give up his "bad company," do so and continue his friendship—without the occasional kiss, Jane. But stop deceiving your parents, in any event.

WORRIED BUBBLES: Avoid this man as much as possible, as I am sure you wish to do. Ignore his attentions, or laugh at them. Do not accept even the least of them.

Jealousy Troubles Here
Dear Miss Lee: I am a girl 15 years old, and in high school. I am going with a young man 17 years old. I like him very well, but I have a girl friend of whom I

Baronesses Turn Farmerettes

BARONESS FRANCISCA HAMMERSTEIN (LEFT) AND BARONESS SCHRENCKNOTZING, GERMAN FARMERETTES, GOING TO WORK

By NEA Service
BERLIN, June 28.—The "man with the hoe" in Germany is a woman.

And she is, in many cases, a member of the old aristocracy, whose high-born leaders have been forced by circumstances to earn their own living.

It was hard at first. But gradually they learned how to do it at the government schools.

Now they can be seen throughout the land pitching and baling hay, running tractors, handling plows and harrows, and attending to all the chores.

It has become a fad for these social belles to turn farmerettes. Among the latest recruits are Baroness Francisca Hammerstein and Baroness Schrencknotzing, members of noted German families. They take their changed positions as a joke; but they do their work very seriously.

There really are many "nice" men in Indianapolis. You must have met some, and you will meet others.

Stick It Out

Dear Miss Lee: I am a girl 15 years old. All the boys I know say they like me very much. There is one I like especially, but he says he loves me and he is angry because I said I was not old enough to think of love yet. Tell me how to get his friendship, but to make him think I am right.

Let him stay angry for a while, and stick to your original view. He'll come around when he sees that you mean what you say.

Envelope Purses
Very flat envelope purses, sometimes a foot long, and nearly half as wide, are carried under the arm by the smart Parisienne.

Tapestry Coat Frock
A novelty in Paris is the coat dress made of tapestry. It is a wrap-around model, showing a lining of green that harmonizes with the green in the dress fabric.

Fancy Sweaters
White wool sweaters are adorned with bands of cross-stitching in the gayest of colors, that decorate the cuffs and hems and sometimes the belts.

During the Vacation Days
—nothing seems more welcoming than an inviting sandy beach where one may idle in the sand or swim, as she desires.

The Gus Habich Company, 142 E. Washington St., is offering a splendid assortment of bathing suits for wear by all members of the family. The predominant color may be accented in the cap and bathing slippers one chooses, designed for the glorification of Milady in the water.

Cool, colorful fruit-ades served with plenty of tinkling ice in crackle glass, are as pretty as they are refreshing.

It Certainly Is the Test of good grooming to appear at one's best these days when the weather is so hot that everything is an effort. If one is very busy the only thing she can do is to make regular appointments with some reliable beauty shop.

The Jane Halcomb Shoppe, 508 Kahn Building, is such a satisfaction, for the experienced operators are most efficient in their work. This Shoppe uses rainwater for shampooing and hand dries the hair if the customer desires; they are also doing expert permanent waving—so you can swim and everything and still have a lovely curl—pretty fine?

Never Before Has Costume
—jewelry assumed the proportions that it takes today—probably an outgrowth of the desire to have things that harmonize. The Jewel Shop Beautiful, second floor of the Guaranty building, has some costume jewelry that is delightfully different. All the displays in this shop bear a certain air of distinction that is entirely in keeping with the general high character of this extraordinarily beautiful shop.

Very small wrapped turbans are a comfort when motoring.

Whether you feel the call of the long dusty road or the lure of the blue lakeside, remember the purpose of your vacation is to have a rested mind in a tired body.

Infinite variety exists in summer frocks, both in style and materials.

Candy-stripe wash silk dresses are really the best looking clothes that one sees on the street these hot days.

RESIGNATION CONSIDERED

Memorial Presbyterian Church Acts as Pastor Quits.

A congregational meeting of the Memorial Presbyterian Church, 1120 Ashland Ave., will be held at the church at 7:30 p. m. this evening to act upon the resignation of the Rev. James M. Eakin, pastor.

The Rev. Eakin submitted his resignation two weeks ago to take effect Sept. 1. He said today he was not yet ready to announce his plans.

GIRLS!-LEMONS BLEACH FRECKLES

Make this Lemon Cream and just see Tan, Freckles Disappear
Mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful freckle and tan cream, and complexion beautifier.

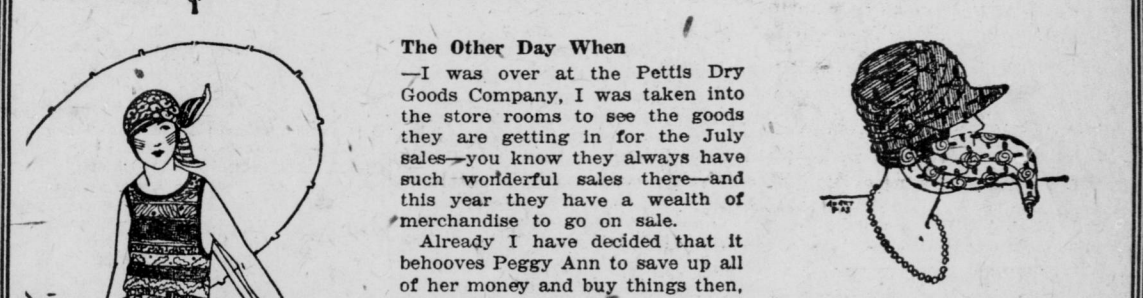

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon cream into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes naturally bleach right out and how youthfully clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes.—Advertisement.

Proper Thing Now Is to Peel Off Soiled Skin

Those who abhor sticky, greasy, shiny, streaked complexions should use creams and rouges sparingly during the heated days. Better to use ordinary mercurized wax instead. No amount of perspiration will produce any evidence that you've been using the wax. As it is applied at bedtime and washed off in the morning, the complexion never looks like a makeup. Mercurized wax gradually peels off a bad complexion, instead of adding anything to make it worse. It accomplishes much more than cosmetics in keeping the complexion beautifully white, satiny and youthful, free from freckles, pimples, blotches and other blemishes. Just get an ounce of it at your druggist's and see what a few days' treatment will do. Use like cold cream.—Advertisement.

Peggy Ann a Shopping Goes

There is nothing lovelier about summer than the pretty clothes she brings forth—they seem to furnish a charming setting for feminine grace and beauty. Watch Peggy Ann's column from week to week for suggestions, you will find them a help.

The Other Day When —I was over at the Pettis Dry Goods Company, I was taken into the store rooms to see the goods they are getting in for the July sales—you know they always have such wonderful sales there—and this year they have a wealth of merchandise to go on sale.

Already I have decided that it behooves Peggy Ann to save up all of her money and buy things then, for really everything is so much cheaper—suits, coats, white goods, house furnishings—everything you need will be on sale at a great saving.

It will certainly pay you to visit this store often during the next month—a lot of things you can buy in quantities to supply your needs for months to come.

There Is the Most Delightful
—tea room that you ever could imagine over in the Hotel Lincoln—it is perfect in the detail of its appointments, and the food they serve there is deliciously prepared. Lovely Japanese colors are used in the decoration of the room and Japanese motifs are carried out in various ways. Exquisite imported Japanese china with dragons, goshas, girls, and other Oriental figures, adds much to the effectiveness of the room.

The fountain service is unexcelled and most refreshing are the fruit drinks that are served here. I found my favorite kind of chewy nougats here—all kinds of candy—all made in their own kitchens.

Refreshing and Nourishing
—milk furnishes all the elements that are essential in a healthful drink; it is as appetizing to the older people as to the kiddies.

To be sure that you are getting pure milk order from Polk's—it comes from a sanitary, sunlight plant that is open for inspection at all times.

Sometimes When Everything
—is a bit hard and a certain nervous tenseness envelopes one, may Peggy Ann suggest that you sit or lie down and listen to some really beautiful music. There is such a lot of comfort and inspiration in listening to the art of really great composers; their artistry seems to make our little worries very trivial indeed.

When you are ready to buy a phonograph, which after all is the musical reproducing instrument that is possible to all of us, visit the Baldwin Piano Company, 18 North Pennsylvania Street, and ask to see their Brunswick models—there is a model that is adaptable to every person's pocketbook. Some of the periodically designed cabinets have no rival in any kind of furniture and they are indeed worthy exteriors for the mechanically perfect interiors of these instruments.
