

NO TRACE FOUND OF GIRL MISSING FOR THIRD TIME

Mary Montgomery, Kidnaped
12 Years Ago by Father,
Disappears Again.

No trace of Mary Elsie Montgomery, 16, convent-bred daughter of Mrs. Ethel Crum, 2101 Park Ave., had been found today by mother or juvenile court authorities.

The girl, twelve years the innocent cause of a bitter family struggle between her mother and her father and his family, started for summer school at Sherridge Tuesday morning. She had planned to visit friends near Martinsville over the Fourth. She never arrived.

Mrs. Crum learned her daughter drew $21.75 from the Bankers Trust Company at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

Girl Disappears

Twelve years ago Mrs. Crum was awarded custody of her daughter in a divorce from T. Wilbur Montgomery, member of a well-to-do Posey County farming family whom she had met at De Pauw University. The child was stolen and for ten years the mother searched in vain. Montgomery was sentenced to the State reformatory for kidnaping, but his lips were kept sealed.

In 1915 he escaped. He was pardoned on a promise to return Mary Elsie to the United States from a Cuban convent. After the pardon he disappeared with his daughter.

Allegation Suit Pending

In 1921, Mary Elsie reappeared at the Montgomery home. Her mother was given her custody by the Gibson Circuit Court and brought her to Indianapolis. As she left the courtroom the child pleaded to stay with her father's people. A suit for $100,000 damages for alienation of affections, filed by Mrs. Crum, will be tried at Evansville, Sept. 4.

The father is supposed to be in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where an aunt, Estelle Montgomery, lives. Mrs. Crum said she fears relatives have induced the girl to leave her.

HOOSIER FARMERS THREATEN 'STRIKE'

Many Have Left Ill-Paying Fields for City Work.

By United Press
ERAVILLE, Ind., July 7.—More than 2,000 acres of tillable land in Jackson township, Clay county, are lying idle this summer, according to a survey completed today by the Clay county farm bureau.

The farmers who own these lands are going to the city to work in factories, where they can get good wages. Many have taken up mining, the report shows.

The situation will become even more grave next year, if the threats of farmers who are now harvesting wheat, with a price of 85 cents a bushel and prospects of a still lower price, come true.

Many farmers have openly said they will sow only enough wheat for their own family needs this fall. They will not raise wheat until the price gets to a point where they can make a profit for their work, they said.

WIFE KILLS WOMAN ON CHICAGO STREET

Slayer Declares Victim Alienated Affections of Her Husband.

By United Press
CHICAGO, July 7.—Mrs. Anna Andrews, 42, was shot to death on the street today by Mrs. Anna Bernatowicz, 38, who, according to police, declared her victim alienated her husband's affections.

Both women are mothers of four children. Mrs. Bernatowicz, after firing shots into Mrs. Andrews' body, fled. Police looked on, surrendered to police and confessed to the slaying.

JOY RIDE ENDS IN JAIL

Three Held on Liquor Charges, When Found Near Speedway.

Two men and a woman were under arrest today following an automobile ride ending at Speedway road and Concord St., late Friday.

George Neville, 34, of 621 N. Alabama St., was arrested on the charge of drunkenness and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. Harry Clifford, alias Corrigan, 49, of 1009 E. Pratt St., was charged with drunkenness and assault and battery.

Grace Chapman, 30, of 1006 E. Pratt St., was charged with drunkenness. Arrests were made by Captain Fletcher and a squad.

CASES SHOW BIG INCREASE

Number of Suits Filed in Superior Court Grows Steadily.

Records in the office of the Marion County clerk show that the number of new cases filed in each of the five Superior Courts each year beginning July 1 has, in the past five years, steadily increased, in aggregate 66 per cent. In 1918-19 there were filed 553 cases in each court. In 1922-23, 934 new cases went into each court.

Irene Refuses to Talk Divorce but Scores American Dancing

IRENE CASTLE AND ROBERT TREMAN.

By United Press
PARIS, July 7.—Irene Castle, whose charm and beauty brought Robert Treman, her millionaire husband, chasing across the ocean to attempt reconciliation, refuses to discuss the report of her projected divorce.

She spoke freely and forcefully, however, on the question of American dancing which, despite tiffs and reconciliations with friend husband, holds a big share of her heart. The brazenness of Yankee dancing made an extremely bad impression on Irene when she was in America last month. In fact, she says it's so bad Paris dancing looks like a small marriage in comparison.

Dancing Is Scandalous

"In New York, Chicago and many other American cities much of the dancing is scandalous—positively indecent," said Miss Castle. "I've been at hotels and cabarets and couples have actually stopped near my table and subject us to a regular hootchie kootchie while dancing the Chicago or something just as bad."

"And they are so brazen about it. Some of the actions should not be allowed in public at all and, certainly, the people who do not care for that variety of entertainment should not be forced to witness it while out for an evening."

"Those who participate in such performances do not seem to mind at all when a dance inspector comes up and warns them in public."

Miss Castle thinks the fox trot has come to stay.

"It's an easy dance to do gracefully and that's the reason that every one here is doing it," she explained.

Second Baker Epic

Irene's hectic "second honeymoon," with Robert Treman, promises to become a second Mary Landor Baker epic.

The "second honeymoon" broke off when after going to Deauville, France, most exclusive bathing beach, with Irene, Treman returned to Paris alone Friday.

The mystery surrounding the Castle romance has deepened. Captain Treman had declared he was going to spend "two or three days" with Irene. He spent less than twenty-four hours before wiring for a room at Claridge's.

It was said Treman is sailing for America on July 23, but it is not known whether Irene is going with him.

Many Churches Discard Sunday Night Service

By THE VISITOR
MANY INDIANAPOLIS CHURCHES has dispensed with the services on Sunday night during the months of July and August.

All churches have the regular Sunday morning services, but many have given up the Sunday night preaching service. There are some churches holding to the regular schedule of both morning and night preaching services on Sunday.

The All Souls Unitarian Church is closed during the summer months, as is the regular rule of the church. In this week's edition of the Indianapolis Unitarian Bulletin the following idea is printed:

"We would urge our people to go to our sister church next Sunday morning and hear Mr. Cunningham of the Universalist Church. Dr. Wicks attended last Sunday and heard an excellent sermon on 'Men Like Gods.'"

"We especially commend to our people as preachers of power, and who have shown a liberal and fraternal spirit toward our church, Dr. Fifer of the Central Avenue Methodist Church and Dr. Philpott of the Central Christian Church. In all the churches he has attended Dr. Wicks has received a cordial welcome from pastor and people."

"We commend you to represent our church, and after the service, introduce yourself to the minister and extend to him our good wishes."

The masses of the Catholic churches of the city are held in the morning, as usual.

ROSS D. DAVIS will speak on "The Disease of the Christian" at the morning service Sunday at the Brightwood Church of Christ, which meets in a tent on Station St. near Third St. The night subject will be: "The Marathon Race." On Tuesday night preceding the evangelistic sermon by B. L. Allen the Central Indiana Christian Institute will convene in regular session. B. W. Bass, president, will preside.

"THE WAY OF BLESSEDNESS" will be the Sunday morning subject of the Rev. L. C. Fackler at St. Matthews Evangelical Lutheran Church. There will be no night service. On Tuesday night the Brotherhood will meet at the home of Virgil McClain, 247 Eastern Ave.

"MUSIC AND RELIGION" will be the Sunday night theme of the Rev. Charles H. Gunsolus at the Brightwood Congregational Church.

THE REV. PAUL W. EDDINGFIELD, pastor of the Broad Ripple Christian Church, announces his Sunday subjects as "A New Business Opening" and "The Writing on the Wall."

"VACATION DAYS" will be the Sunday morning subject of Rev. W. W. Clouse, pastor of the King Ave. M. E. Church. At night, "Uncle America Sees Straight Through," an illustrated sermon. On Wednesday night William P. Evans, prosecuting attorney, will address a mass meeting on "Law Enforcement."

At the Hall Place Methodist Episcop

Miss Helen Jahne will sing. In the evening, the subject will be "According to Measure" and Miss Estella Ungerer will sing.

AT ST. PAUL'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH, Dr. Lewis Brown will preach Sunday morning on "The Circle of the Earth." Holy communion will be observed at 7:30 a. m. There will be no night service.

IN THE ABSENCE of Dr. Hyde, the pulpit of the Grace M. E. Church will be supplied by Dr. Williams. Morning theme will be "Joyous Drudgery" and "Self Appraisalment."

AT TRINITY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, the Rev. W. G. Proctor will preach Sunday morning on "A Call to Worship." At night "A Call for Christ."

"THE PROBLEM OF OUR CITIES" will be Dr. Edward Haines Kistler's theme Sunday at 11 a. m. in the Fourth Presbyterian Church.

"FOLLOWING A PAR OFF" will be the theme of the morning sermon of Homer Bale, pastor of Hillside Christian Church, Sunday. The evening services will be discontinued through July and August.

AT ST. CATHERINE'S CATHOLIC CHURCH Sunday the following masses will be observed: 5:30, 7:30 and 9:30 a. m.

"GOLDEN RULE RELIGION" will be the Sunday morning theme of Dr. E. A. Robertson at the East Park M. E. Church. At night "Three Great Things."

THE REV. E. P. JEWETT, pastor of the Morris Street Methodist Church, will preach Sunday morning on "A Progressive Church" and at night on "Renewing a Right Spirit."

MASSSES at St. Peter and Paul Cathedral Sunday morning will be as follows: 5, 8, 7:30, 9 and 10:30 a. m.

A series of Gospel text meetings is now being conducted in Brightwood on Station St. near Third St. by B. L. Allen. On next Sunday, Ross S. Davis of Greenfield will have charge of the meetings forenoon and night. At 8 p. m. Judge Franklin McCray will speak on "The Literature of the Bible." The meetings will continue all next week except Saturday. The general subject for next week will be "Conversion," and B. L. Allen will do the preaching.

Mother Love

By United Press
MANGUM, Okla., July 7.—Jail doors today swung open for Gladys West, 24, because of her mother's heroism.

Hearing her daughter was held at Hester, Okla., accused of having two husbands and was without funds, the mother, Mrs. Mary Ashley, trudged fifty miles under a July sun, from Childress, Tex., to Hester, carrying money to the girl.

MORE SUGGESTIONS IN TRAFFIC CONTEST

Readers Favor Car Line Changes to Keep Pedestrians Off
Certain Downtown Streets.

You may win $50 and by so doing you may save lives. Does that interest you?

All you have to do is THINK.

Traffic has cost twenty-two lives in Marion County this year, not to mention more than eight hundred accidents in which motorists and pedestrians have been injured.

The Indianapolis Times is seeking a solution of the traffic problem. For the suggestion declared to be the best and most practical a prize of $50 will be awarded. If one or more readers offer the same remedy the first suggestion wins. The contest closes next Thursday night.

Get busy. Address your contribution to the Traffic Problem Editor, Indianapolis Times.

Here are a few of the additional suggestions received:

Elevated Crossings for Use of Pedestrians

Elevated crossings for pedestrian traffic at congested street intersections would solve much of the traffic trouble. Besides eliminating all danger to pedestrians, this would tend to speed up vehicle traffic. There should be a gentle slope with no steps to climb, reaching the peak with barely clearance at street car tracks; the width of sidewalks and with arms down into street car loading platform.

Bowlers Mourn Loss of Local Star Player

J. FRED McCULLOUGH

Bowlers all over the country are mourning the loss of J. Fred McCullough, prominent local bowler and member of the American Bowling Congress, who died at his home, 2539 Park Ave., Thursday.

In a letter to McCullough's father, F. C. McCullough, A. L. Langtry, executive of the American Bowling Congress, says: "The congress and officials will miss him greatly as he was one always willing to advance interests of the common bowler."

MORAL OBLIGATION SEEN IN CITY DEBT

Park Board Attorney Says Interest Must Be Paid.

The city council has full power to appropriate $7,500 to the park department to pay interest on park funds July 2, according to Newton J. McGuire, park board attorney. The council also is under a moral obligation to do so. McGuire said in a prepared statement.

He took issue with J. Clyde Hoffman, attorney for the city plan commission who said that "the city's general fund does not stand behind the treasuries of separate taxing units of the city."

Last Monday night the council refused to appropriate $7,500 for interest paying purposes.

LOCAL MAN IS WANTED

Columbus, Ohio, Police Seek Alleged Writer of Bad Checks.

Columbus, Ohio, police today asked local police for custody of Kenneth Roberts, 28, Occidental Hotel, arrested Friday night by Detectives Houlihan and E. Englebright.

Mullin said he is charged with issuing fraudulent checks here and Columbus authorities will have to wait. The Banner Furniture Company alleges Roberts passed a $500 check on them for furniture and received $144 in cash in change.

The D. Sommers Company reports a like deal in which $300 was received. Roberts was arrested after he tried to cash a check for $315 at the Indiana National Bank.

LEAVES NOTE; DISAPPEARS

Mrs. Anna Cook Said She Was Going to Country for Health.

Leaving a note that she was going to the country for her health, Mrs. Anna Cook, 48, of 2017 Hoyt Ave., left home Friday night, according to George Cook, her husband, who asked police today to search for her.

Mrs. Cook was described as being 5 feet 8 inches in height and weighing 125 pounds. She has dark hair.

FIRE DAMAGES MINE

Seventy-Five Men Are Out of Work as Result of Blaze.

LINTON, Ind., July 7.—Seventy-five men are out of work today as the result of a fire which destroyed machinery and two coal cars at the mine of the Sherwood Coal Company of Illinois, ten miles west of here Friday.

forms, these elevations would handle a constant stream of people with no more physical effort and less mental strain on their part.

One traffic policeman would be needed. This plan could be placed in operation at small cost and would prove a saving to the city. Separate the two great branches of traffic and the minor problems will care for themselves. JOHN P. COOK, 2902 E. Twenty-Second St.

Tunnels for Foot Passengers Favored

Construct tunnels for people only under Illinois and Washington Sts., Meridian and Washington Sts., Pennsylvania and Washington Sts., Illinois and Market Sts., Illinois and Ohio Sts., Meridian and Ohio, Pennsylvania and Ohio Sts. as well as any other crossings where the police may think necessary.

Have each and every tunnel well supplied with "ads" of the firms close to each tunnel, which will attract the people and make business good, and in return have these firms pay certain rent for signs, which will help pay for constructing tunnels. If not paid for altogether in that way. This tunnel idea would keep the people out of the dangerous parts of the city.

Consider Ohio St., Delaware, Maryland or Georgia and Capitol Ave. as a belt line and have each and every car that enters the belt line and goes around the belt line and back to the point where it entered said belt line and there return to its individual line and go out and back again to the city.

This would cause each and every car to travel over the belt line and let the public have full service. Then take up all tracks inside this belt line and use the space as parking space for autos in center of each street and leave the rest of the street for traffic. With the people walking out of the way in the tunnels and cars off these streets you would save many a life.

If you think the ads in the tunnels are impracticable, I refer you to the New York subway stations.

Street Cars to Turn As Traffic Moves

Have all traffic move north and south at the same time and then all move east and west at the same time, and all street cars turning in or off Washington street should turn with the traffic north and south.

No automobiles should turn left or right on Washington St., between Alabama and Capitol Ave. All autos should stop at least twenty feet behind street cars.

Pedestrians should move with the traffic. This, I think, would give all a chance to cross safely.

Take Away Licenses, Is Suggested Remedy

My suggestion is to take the license away from drivers instead of giving them a fine. It would be a better lesson for them to be careful. I have heard them say, "What do we care for a little fine as long as we have the money to pay it?"

Those kind of drivers are not fit to drive a car and are endangering other people's lives. We have been hurt by one also.

MRS. EMILY HYNES.

Five Miles An Hour At All Intersections

Traffic speed should not exceed five miles per hour at all street intersections.

Prohibit autos and trucks from passing each other when by so doing they are compelled to use southbound side of street when passing northbound traffic, and westbound traffic when passing eastbound traffic. Violations of these can be daily observed at Kentucky Ave., Missouri St. and Senate Ave.; also at Kentucky and Capitol Ave. and Maryland St. from 5 p. m. to 5:20 p. m. Gunpoint on the wheel is right.

W. W. WOLF, 450 N. Walcott St.

Railing Is Urged in Center of Street.

In the center of the street, running parallel with the same, construct a railing, which would be opened at every street intersection. This would prevent the pedestrians, or so-called jack-walkers, from crossing in the center of the street.

Between 10 and 11:30 a. m. on Washington St., between Illinois and Pennsylvania, 104 persons crossed in the middle of the block. This means these people were unprotected and exposed to the mercies of the motorists. Shall this continue?

DAVID AUGUSTUS, 2170 N. Pennsylvania St.

Brain Test for All Drivers Suggested.

I would suggest that drivers of street cars and interurbans be compelled to drive at all intersections so that they could stop within four feet if necessary in all parts of the city and also in the country. Every driver should know and does not know that pedestrians have the right-of-way at all times.

When we had nothing but horse-drawn vehicles there was no such thing as accidents.

Approach all standing cars and street cars with caution. Compel all drivers and chauffeurs to answer fifty questions as to tests, as there is no doubt that one-third of the people now driving should be in an asylum.

Motorists Find Brown County Worth Journey Over Fair Roads

BROWN COUNTY, the home of Otto Stark's studio, the famed Indiana artist, the Hoosier rolling country, the spot of natural beauty, is just right for a one-day automobile trip from Indianapolis. Remember, Brown County in planning your week-end excursions.

The Hoosier who never has seen Brown County has missed much of his natural environment. The rolling hills remind one of Blue Ridge beauty. It is necessary to see the place to understand why Hoosierland is proud of it.

True, Brown County is noted for poor roads, but the trail to Nashville, the county seat, is excellent, according to late reports. Leave Indianapolis by Madison Ave. Follow State Rd. No. 1 to Columbus and No. 26 to Nashville.
