Run is Curwood at his best—a story of the wilderness into which Curwood takes us as no other writer can—a story of red blooded men, rushing rivers, mighty forests, tang of frying bacon, and all this the background of the tenderest love story Curwood ever wrote.

IRVIN S. COBB from his experience as a "star" reporter, has written a gripping story in "The Value of a Good Name." There were only six letters in that name but they saved a woman from the electric chair.

These are three of twenty features that make August Cosmopolitan one of the most interesting ever published.

NATIONAL GUARD HAS ACTIVE LIFE AT TRAINING CAMP

Social Events Fill Leisure Hours After Intensive Drills and Study.

By DOROTHY STANHOPE
(Times Staff Correspondent)
CAMP KNOX, Ky., July 17.—The Indiana National Guard spent a busy day getting settled in camp.

They got up at 5:30 and were examined. The examination took up the majority of the day. At 5 was re-break.

The days will be filled with military duties, for which experts have been brought from many places. Field artillery officers from the big school at Ft. Sill will conduct problems. Infantry officers, trained in the big infantry school at Ft. Benning, will look after instruction in their subject; coast artillery officers from Ft. Monroe are to handle the work of big guns; officers trained at Ft. Leavenworth in tactics are here in numbers. A group of cavalry officers, versed in methods of the cavalry school at Ft. Riley, are on the ground.

The regular troops here have as their bit the instruction of the National Guard as well as the R. O. T. C., O. R. C. and the C. M. T. C. This in the form of a daily demonstration as much like actual warfare as possible.

In preparation for the problems there is a sand table lesson in the evening. The terrain is reproduced and the officer in charge outlines the problems. The demonstrations are given on the reservation, which is large enough for the big range artillery guns.

Social Events Numerous

There is little night work, but time does not drag. Chaplains, athletic officers and hostesses, of which the National Guard has two, plan recreation for the men in the Service Club and open air theater. Moving pictures, vaudeville shows, boxing matches, and an occasional dance are arranged.

The National Guard camp is only one of the four in full swing. Major Gen. Robert Tyndall will command the National Guard camp for the next two weeks.

O. R. C. Like Convention

The O. R. C. is entering its last week of training. Many will remain through August as instructors in the C. M. T. C. There are thirty-five reserve officers from Indianapolis. The work of the O. R. C. is much like that of men attending a convention. Their work consists largely in attending lectures and conferences. There is a voluntary course in equitation, for which many of the corps have enrolled. Others spend their leisure in pistol practice.

R. O. T. C. Plan Parents' Day

The O. R. C. is to have a big barbecue Thursday night when all officers in camp will be guests.

The R. O. T. C. has sent out invitations for its big event, Parents' day, the 24th. General Pershing will be here. An interesting program, including sports and military events has been arranged. It closes the 25th.

What I Was Doing at 20

—By—

Dr. M. J. Spencer,
Member Board
of Public Works

DURING the school year I was teaching at the Warfield School, near Canaan, Jefferson County, Ind. The little building was three and a half miles from my boarding place, so I walked seven miles and worked full time for $1.60 a day.

Summer times I had to eat, so I clerked in a drug store.

HEALTH MEN WILL MEET

"Inventory" Movement Will Be Discussed By Workers.

Representatives from several health and civic organizations of the State will meet Friday with members of the State board of health to prepare plans for Indiana's participation in the "health inventory" movement, as sponsored by the National Health Council. Dr. William F. King, secretary of the State board, has announced. The program calls for an organized propaganda in which every citizen of the United States is urged to have a careful health examination made of himself during the coming year.

SMOKE BILL READ AGAIN

Measure Now Goes to Chamber Legal Department.

Following a final reading of the smoke abatement ordinance by the Chamber of Commerce sub-committee of the legal affairs department Monday the ordinance today was put into the hands of the legal affairs department for approval, after which it will be passed upon by the Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

In the revised ordinance many of the technical phrases were eliminated. A public mass meeting will be held as soon as possible to present the ordinance to the public before presentation to the city council.

ROOM IS LEASED BY LABOR BANK

Old Central National Quarters to Be Occupied.

Announcement was made today of the opening within ninety days of a proposed labor bank in the American Central Life Bldg., Market St. and the Circle, in the room formerly occupied by the Commercial National Bank. The lease on the room was taken over by Harry E. Grube, South Bend, Ind., organizer. The lease expires Jan. 1, 1925. The transaction involved $15,000.

Within the next month stockholders of the proposed bank will organize and elect officers, after which a State charter will be sought.

Grube said he will establish offices in the room immediately. He said thirty-seven local labor unions have purchased stock in the bank.

After food, clothing and shelter, the most imperative need of civilized society is transportation—quick, dependable, efficient transportation of persons and products.

After the railroad, whose sphere of activities is circumscribed by the location of tracks and terminals, the most important transportation unit is the automobile, truck or other automotive conveyances. These machines know no limitations. They can go wherever the need for transportation exists.

To keep them in action; to make it possible for them to operate under all and every condition, two things are necessary—fuel and lubricating oil.

Sensing this need the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) long ago began building distribution depots and service stations, at convenient intervals, throughout ten Middle Western states, from which the car owner could secure his requirements of gasoline and lubricants in such quantities as serve him best.

To supply these outlets, enormous investments have been made enlarging the refining facilities of the Company and millions more have been spent getting the refined products to points where effective, economical distribution can be made.

Throughout the ten states where Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service is organized and in operation, the motorist will find a station every few miles in the country; every few blocks in the city.

At these stations he can secure his gasoline and lubricants of highest quality at the lowest market prices and he has at his command free air, free water, rest rooms and comfort stations.

Conveniently located throughout the territory served, these stations are practical symbols of the effort this Company is making to adequately serve a community of thirty million people.
