

BANANA, NOT AN APPLE, WAS ADAM'S DOWNFALL IN EDEN

If First Parents Had Only Learned Popular Song of Today.

By Times Special
WASHINGTON, July 25.—"Yes, we have no bananas!"

If Adam and Eve had only learned to sing this during their big snake-charming act in the Eden summer garden, instead of waiting several thousand years for somebody to sing it in the New York Winter Garden, the world might have been spared a lot of trouble.

For it was a banana and not an apple that tempted Eve, the National Geographic Society reported today, whether you believe it or not.

"A legend among eastern Christians asserts that it (the banana) had a prominent place in the Garden of Eden," says the magazine bulletin. "And that it was a banana and not an apple that Eve ate in her search for knowledge. Botanists were perhaps unconsciously influenced by this legend, for they named the two important species of the fruit Musca paradisica and Musca sapientum—Fruit of Paradise and Fruit of Knowledge."

If Eve, when the brazen serpent tempted her toward the fruit diet, had only looked him squarely in the eye and sung:

"Yes, we have no bananas,
We have no Musca paradisica today!"

Just imagine all the evils from which we would have been saved to-day in such a paradise—no crime, no income tax, no heavy clay, no Atty. Gen. Daugherty, no wood alcohol, no one-piece bathing suits and no crowded street cars.

But it would be mighty hard on the clothing stores, wouldn't it?

"PETER IBBETSON"—At the MURAT

The Greatest Hit in Seven Years

HERE'S WHAT THEY SAY

"Peter Ibbetson" is a fine performance—an outstanding hit of seven Walker seasons. McKay Morris, returning to Indianapolis after an absence of two years, achieved the greatest triumph of his career.—Robert G. Tucker in Star.

"Walker seems to have outdone himself in this production. He seems to have reached the heights, and my only hope is that, beginning tonight, 'Peter Ibbetson' will not play to a vacant seat for the remainder of the week. Walker has done his best. Now it is up to Indianapolis to do her best."—Hickman in Times.

"Mr. Morris gave one of the finest performances this reviewer has ever seen—in one of the finest productions of Mr. Walker's numerous seasons in Indianapolis."—Walter Whitworth in News.

The greatest dramatic achievement of the age—seven picturesque scenes, countless costly and beautiful costumes, and McKay Morris, Julia Hoyt, George Somnes, Julia McMahon and forty others in the most wonderful love story ever unfolded on any stage.

Matinees today and tomorrow—usual prices.

Men Leave Home for Army Food; Camp Knox Sets No Mean Table

Listen, brother! That little shavetail Napoleon once told his staff that an army marches on its stomach. From the looks of the daily bill of fare at the citizens' military training camp at Camp Knox, Ky., the time-honored admonition of the "Little Corporal" is being wholesomely adhered to.

With cantaloupes, stewed figs, all varieties of eggs and breakfast food, potatoes and plenty of bread, butter, jam and milk for one's breakfast, who indeed wouldn't join the Army?

Day's Bill of Fare

Taking a day's bill of fare at random, say the one for Aug. 8, for breakfast we have: stewed figs, oatmeal, fried ham, coffee, French fried potatoes, bread, butter, jelly and half a pint of milk. For dinner we'll have some chicken fricassee for a back-ground and taper off with creamed peas and carrots, biscuits, mashed potatoes, cookies, chocolate ice cream, bread, butter, jelly and iced tea.

And for supper

When you get that trampled down a little you can have veal cutlets, potato cakes, lima beans, sliced tomatoes, cookies, bread, butter, jelly and iced tea for supper.

A special train bearing recruits for the one month at camp will leave Indianapolis at 7:30 a. m., Friday, July 27. The Indiana contingent will return Aug. 25. Applications are still being received at the Chamber of Commerce by Col. J. B. Reynolds.
