

'DANCING GIRL' OPENS NEW SEASON AT MURAT MONDAY

Lena Daley in 'Brevities of 1923' Will Be Fair Week Bill at Capitol.

"THE DANCING GIRL," coming here direct from the Colonial Theater, Chicago, will begin a week's engagement at the Shubert-Murat commencing Monday matinee, as the State Fair Week attraction, with popular matinee Wednesday and Saturday also.

Among the 150 people employed are Trini, Kitty Doner, Bard and Pearl, Lou Holtz, Lora Hoffman, Rose and Ted Doner, Marie Stoddard, Arthur Margotson, Frank Byron, Frank Corbett, Suzanne Bennett, Ebba Sparre, Charles Mac, Allie Mack and a chorus of seventy-five beautiful Winter Garden girls.

Harold Atteridge wrote the book and lyrics of this musical extravaganza, while Sigmund Romberg composed the score. It has been called the best work in collaboration of these men, who together have written and composed almost all of the famous Winter Garden extravaganzas in the past.

With well-defined plot, characters and situations, it tells the story of an immigrant who becomes a famous dancer after a series of struggles that would have discouraged most newcomers to America. The production was staged by J. C. Huffman, under the personal supervision of J. J. Shubert. So large is the company and production that a special train is necessary to transport it.

Lena Daley's New Revue Due at Capitol

"The Brevities of 1923," a survival, it is said of the Broadway Brevities of Winter Garden fame a few seasons back, is to be the offering for the second week of Columbia burlesque at the Capitol. Lena Daley, another of "our own Indianapolis girls," is the featured member of the cast.

Advance notices state that Ed. E. Daley, producer of the "Brevities"

has faithfully lived up to the new standards laid down by the powers that be in the Columbia circuit. There are two acts and twenty-one scenes in "Brevities."

Other cities know Lena Daley as "smiling Lena." Assisting her as principal comedian is Walter Brown, also well known burlesque entertainer. The cast also includes Harry Peterson, Jack Gray, Thelma Carlton, Billy Gray, Alma Arliss and Victory Kaplan.

Great Soloist Sings at Symphony Concert

EMMY KRUEGER
One E. Talbot announced today that Emy Krueger, one of Europe's greatest Wagnerian sopranos, will be soloist at a Wagner concert to be played by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra at the Murat on March 24. Mme. Krueger will include "Love, Death" and "Tristan and Isolde."

For five years she was leading soprano of the Munich opera, for one season at the Vienna opera, a season at Madrid and for one year appearing as star-guest at the great European opera houses. She served her unexcelled Isolde as principal artist of the all-star company in Germany last January under the baton of Max von Schillings, director general of the Berlin State opera.

One of the greatest honors conferred upon this remarkable singer has been the "call" from Siegfried Wagner (son of Richard Wagner) to sing the roles of Isolde, Kundry and Sieglinde at the famous Wagner Festivals at Bayreuth, which are being planned by the great musician for the fall of 1925. Her concert season in America must necessarily be short, as she cannot leave Europe until after the first of the year, and must be back for the Bayreuth rehearsals by May 1.

As announced the soloist for the orchestra concert on Nov. 12 is Willy Burmeister, noted violinist. The soloist for the second orchestra concert in January will be announced later.

Intoxicants Cause Death

By Times Special
FT. WAYNE, Ind., Sept. 1.—Samuel Francis, 42, proprietor of the Lake Shore Hotel, was found dead in a room at the Mack Hotel. The coroner said death was due to a heart attack induced by use of intoxicants. A diamond ring and several thousand dollars in bank certificates were found on Francis.

Candle Causes Fire Alarm

All of the downtown fire apparatus and the police detail were sent out to locate the cause of an alarm from Wabash and Delaware Sts., Friday night. After the doors to the Bash Seed store, 141 N. Delaware St., were forced open, a sulphur candle was found burning.
