ENTERTAINMENTS
WEDDINGS BETROTHALS

MRS. ELMER A. KIEFER, 2226 N. Illinois St., will entertain the members of the Phi Gamma Rho sorority tonight at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Helen Lantz, 2926 Talbott St., whose marriage to Eugene P. Saltmarsh will take place this month. The bridal colors, burnt orange and amber will be used in the decorations. Clusters of bittersweet will decorate the rooms.

The guests: Mesdames C. G. Berry, Robert Bragg, Harry Henkle, Paul Koebler, Frederick Busch, Don Smith, Harry Maley, Edward West, and Misses Helen Bade, Grady Theone Hays, Marie Jones, Katherine Myers, Vivian McDaniels, Esther Unversaw, Jessie Yount and Ruth Simmons.

Mrs. Kiefer, before her recent marriage, was Miss Pauline Vogel. She will be assisted by Mrs. C. G. Berry, Mrs. A. C. Lantz, mother of the bride-elect, and Miss Bernice Lantz, her sister, will entertain for her next week.

Mrs. J. C. Moore, 1821 N. Pennsylvania St., has returned from a visit in Colorado. Miss Elizabeth Moore, who has been attending camp in Rhineland, Wis., has returned and is visiting Miss Hope Pfafflin at Walloon Lake.

Miss Mary Folsom, 1714 Talbott St., entertained this afternoon with several tables of bridge.

Miss Jeanette Wales, 1236 N. Pennsylvania St., is visiting in Philadelphia and New York.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dwiggins, 529 Central Ave., have returned from a motor trip to Valparaiso, Ind.

Mrs. Sarah Russell, 5269 Central Ave., has returned from a month's visit in St. Louis, Mo.

Miss Margaret Clough and Miss Irma Ulrich entertained Thursday afternoon at Miss Ulrich's home, 3519 Winthrop Ave., with a luncheon bridge and glassware shower in honor of Miss Ruth Phyllis, whose marriage to Merrill Harter Smith will take place Sept. 21. A color scheme of lavender and green was used in the decorations at the table, at which covers were laid for twenty. Thistle blossoms and ageratum in crystal baskets tied with green tulle were used and the favors, little blue and lavender crepe paper parasols, were attached to the place cards. The shower gifts were presented to the bride-elect in a large sprinkling can tied with lavender and green ribbons. The hostesses were assisted by their mothers, Mrs. John C. Clough and Mrs. Paul S. Ulrich and Mrs. Robert L. Phyllis.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Greenwald, 3237 Central Ave., accompanied by Miss Lena Glick, of Chicago, have returned home from a motor trip to Brooklyn, N. Y. Miss Glick has returned to Chicago.

Another college romance resulted in the marriage Wednesday of Miss Esther Wacknitz to Percy Doyle Snipes, both of the College of Missions. The ceremony was performed at the Graham chapel of the college, the Rev. L. C. Wacknitz officiating. Lyman Hoover was best man. Miss Cora Wacknitz of Medaryville, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids: Misses Edith Noffinger of South English, Iowa; Miss Margaret Howe of Detroit; Miss Lois Overstreet of Linton and Miss Corinne Stephenson of Indianapolis.

The ushers: Max Flech and J. A. Walker of Los Angeles, Calif; Roger Clark of Edinburgh and Rex Hopper of Indianapolis.

Little Miss Ida Wacknitz of Logansport and Alice Wacknitz of Medaryville, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. Little Juanita English of Logansport, Ind., was train bearer.

A reception was held after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Snipes have gone on a tour of northern Indiana and will return in time to take up their work in the college. They are both preparing to do work in the missionary fields of Africa.

A pretty, surprise, linen shower was given for Miss Mabel Harris, whose marriage to Erwin C. Fisher of Detroit, Mich., will take place Sept. 26. The party was given at the home of the bride-elect, 1562 Brookside Ave.

Mrs. W. T. Diggs, 1024 Churchman Ave., announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Mary Mackey to Frank Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, 1411 Ringgold Ave., which took place Saturday at Cincinnati, Ohio. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Summers of Indianapolis. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will make their home at 1423 Prospect St.

Boy Escapes From School
The Glenwood School for Boys, Glenwood, Ill., notified police today to watch the city for Richard Joestings, 13, who escaped from the school Thursday. His mother, Mrs. Irene Joestings, Normal, Ill., told school authorities he might come to the home of relatives here.

Protects Aluminum
Aluminum should never be put to soak in soda water. Any dilute acid, rhubarb, lemon, tomato, will make it bright as new.

Hand Mirrors
In washing hand mirrors care should be taken that no water gets behind the glass, as the mirror will be spoiled.

Know Thyself

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

The Bath.
BATHING is the one wet agent not liable to prosecution at present. It is the best preventive medicine, with sunlight and pure air close seconds.

The primary value of exercise is not to build muscle, to become a Samson or a Sullivan. Its value lies in the fact that it produces a healthy sweat that opens the pores and ducts, cleanses the covering of our body of dust and possible germs and gives the glow of health, prior to the bath.

Don't think that bathing every day is a summer affair. It should be a part of your daily program the year round. In fact, the bath does more good during the winter months than any other season. Severe cold and cause irritations and rashes of the skin. Daily baths and simple lotion applications will make your skin be have under these trying conditions. A cold spray or shower, alternating with hot water, is an excellent tonic to provide what are called gymnastics of the skin.

For those who have strong constitutions and vigorous health, the morning cold plunge is advocated. In taking a very hot bath, to relieve fatigue, do not have it last for more than two or three minutes. Hot foot baths also afford great relief to tired feet after a hard day. Relaxation that comes with the neutral bath has a good sleep-producing effect. This neutral bath should be about 97 or 98 degrees in temperature, about body heat. Do not remain in the bath longer than ten or fifteen

Man Is Younger

Dear Miss Lee: I am a girl 21 years old. I have had a number of dates with a boy of 19. The other night he asked me to go with him steady. Do you think I should, owing to the difference in our ages? He acts older and looks to be about 22.

BRIGHT EYES.
In the first place, I do not think a girl should "go steady" with any man, until she is engaged to him. It is especially inadvisable in such an instance as this. A boy of 19, no matter how old he looks or acts, has not formed his character and may change a great deal within the next few years.

Business and Social Life

Dear Miss Lee: I have been working for my present employer for several years. His son, who also is in the office, got married a few days ago and received an announcement of the wedding, which took place in another city. Do you think I should give them a present upon their return to Indianapolis, where they are going to live?

Although it is not necessary to send a present, it is quite correct.

LOVER OF HOME. I. Yes, love could develop during the years of separation, while you corresponded. But, before you become engaged you should see each other enough to be sure.

2. People discover they are in love in innumerable ways. When you feel that life—life, remember, not just a few months or a few years—would be incomplete without a certain person; when you would be willing to make almost any sacrifice for that person; when it seems to you that he is the embodiment of all that seems best in life—then you can be pretty sure.

3. Usually the engagement ring is not worn out the engagement is announced.

On Introduction

Dear Miss Lee: Is it correct for a woman to extend her hand to a gentleman, married or single, when she is given an introduction?

COUNTRY JANE.
It is an act which, although not essential, gives an air of cordiality. It is omitted at formal affairs or in a large group, where it would be awkward.

Renewed Love

Dear Madam: I am hoping you can help me as you have helped before. Some few months ago I went with a fellow I loved better than my life. I went with him for some time. Then we had a falling-out. I never saw him any more until this week. When I did see him I knew I loved him more than ever. He seemed very glad to see me and promised to call. Is there no way to make him love me? BABY.

Steer a straight course from now on and you should come out all right. You seem to be headed in the right direction.

Goodness, Ebenezer!

Miss Lee: I wrote you a letter about a month and a half ago. Did you throw it into the waste basket?

How do you know your advice is correct? How about gum chewing in the presence of ladies, or any other place? Should a boy give a girl gum? EBENEZER FRYE.

Shouldn't be surprised if it did go into the waste basket. More probably it is among letters not to be answered until question with a slight degree of importance are answered.

I don't know that my advice is "correct," Ebenezer. I merely give opinions, and try to make them good ones.

The only place I can think of when gum chewing might not be objectionable would be on a motor trip. It serves a purpose then, absorbing some of the dust.

WIRE FROM BEATRICE GRIMSHAW TO RICHARD SUMMERS

What is the matter? Are you ill? It has been three weeks since I heard from you. Wire me. BEE.

Wire From Richard Summers to Beatrice Grimshaw

Am perfectly all right except I am so busy that I think I have been somewhat neglectful. Letter in mail. DICK.

Letter From Richard Summers to Beatrice Grimshaw

MY DEAR BEE:

I had no idea that the time had passed so quickly until I got your wire. The truth of the matter is, that I am away from early morning until late at night with this work.

I have seen so many places where I could apply business methods to moving pictures since I have been out here that I tell you it has kept me jumping. First, to get the "powers" that be, to see my methods and second, to put them into practice in a way that will insure their success.

Bee, this business in which I am now engaged is the most fascinating in all the world, perhaps because it is the greatest gamble. You stand to win or lose millions on a big picture and no one seems to be able to guess with any degree of surety whether a picture will be a success or not until it has been passed upon by the great amusement-loving public.

Everybody works upon their nerves, holding them so taut that they are ready to snap at any moment. It is here you hear the wildest stories; see the meanest as well as the most generous acts. It is here where gossip flows like a Niagara, where jealousy stalks; where people offer you friendship and stab you in the back. And yet it is here where willing and kindly hands are extended to help you on your way; where the most generous speeches are made as to your ability; where you make friends in an hour that will last a lifetime.

In short, this Hollywood that they talk about, is a reality of greater and more dramatic contrasts than ever have been placed upon the screen.

I have gotten into the very spirit of it, Bee, which is very far from the everyday monotony of my life as it was back home. You will forgive me, won't you dear, if I say that at times even you seem rather remote, vague and unreal.

I would not write you this, dear Bee, if I did not know of your understanding. Yet all the while I am wondering what you will think of this bustling, hard-working, hard-playing, maelstrom of nerves and emotionalism.

I don't believe you will like it and yet I cannot tell, for since I have come here those whom I liked best have been most unkind and those whom I thought brusque and unkind, have proved the truest friends.

I did not intend to write you such a letter as this, dear, but your wire this morning caught me unawares and my thoughts have been just surging through my pen. In a day or two I'll sit down and write you a new letter.

Just remember, however, that financially and commercially everything is going on splendidly. Personally though, I am rather up in the air. DICK.

NEXT: A letter from Dick to Bee—with an enclosure—Paula Perier a movie star.

Visitor Sleeps in Wrong House

Ed Cartwright, colored, 338 California St., came home Thursday night to find James Robinson, Ft. Wayne, asleep in his house. Police said Robinson was just sobering up and allowed him to return to Ft. Wayne on the ticket he had purchased. He said he had been to the fair and got into the wrong house on his return.

Household Suggestions

Restores Nowness

Voiles and dummies will appear much more like new material if rinsed in borax water instead of starch water.

Save Energy

If you have a large kitchen, divide it by an imaginary line into a work part and a rest part. In the work part group stove, kitchen sink. In the rest part, put the steaming machine, an easy chair and a small table.

For All Complexion Ills

If the skin be colorless, sallow, muddy, over-red, blotchy or freckled, nothing will so surely overcome the condition as ordinary mercolized wax. It literally takes off a bad complexion—absorbs the dead and near-dead particles of surface skin, gently, gradually causing no inconvenience at all. A new complexion is then in evidence, clear, spotless, delicately soft and beautiful. One use of this wax, procurable at any drugstore, will rejuvenate even the worst complexion. It is used like cold cream, at bedtime.—Advertisement.
