PAID ADMISSIONS TO FAIR BIGGER THAN LAST YEAR

Crowd on Friday Saves Big Show Financially, Board Says.

The sun came out bright and early today. The day started with "perfect fair weather."

But the Indiana State fair was over. The business of checking up records and clearing up exhibits and shows was the only activity on the ground.

Although the weather was the worst in the history of the State fair, with rain every day, and usually all day, the paid attendance totaled 168,000 for the five days. Last year's paid attendance was 119,000. However, no admission was charged at night last year. William Jones, in charge of concessions and gate receipts for the State board of agriculture, said he believed the actual attendance for the two days was about even.

Friday Big Day
Attendance Friday, augmented by the first good weather of the week and the fact that the day unofficially was Ku-Klux Klan day, was 52,362. Last year's Friday attendance was 12,886.

Financially, the board probably will just about make expenses, according to Jones. There may be a slight deficit. The admission price this year was only 50 cents, as compared with 75 cents last year.

Crowd Gathers
In connection with Klan day, a crowd gathered in the center of the race track in the evening and sang "America." They stayed in the infield during the fireworks and then dispersed. Policemen were stationed in the field to keep the crowd from going too near the fireworks.

Klansmen were almost put to rout by a steer belonging to a show company which escaped and charged about the field.

A large crowd witnessed the horse show in the afternoon. The grandstand at the race track was filled to capacity for the fireworks display.

GARY MILLS GET HUGE JAPAN STEEL ORDERS

Expect That More Labor Will Be Called For.

By Times Special
GARY, Ind., Sept. 8.—Chicago officers of the United States Steel Corporation believe that 40 per cent of a $100,000,000 Japanese steel order will be handled through the Gary mills.

Officers say that the mills of Gary can easily produce the huge order for rebuilding in Japan by pressing production during the next few months. With the new eight-hour day it is believed that more labor will be needed.

KEEP YOUR BALANCE

OUR body balance must be preserved if life is to be lived at its best after the age of 35.

Body balance is keeping the nutritive supply of your body equalized with the energy side. It is the using and burning of cells and their replacement in the organisms of your body.

We are continually changing our bodies by work and exercise, both mental and physical. Part of the protoplasmic cells are always undergoing change, being burned up and swept away.

Surplus Vitality

These must not only be renewed and replaced, but there should also be a surplus. We call this vitality or vital life.

Vital surplus is often squandered by the time middle life is reached. Remember up to the age of 30 you have been building your body for both

Even Love Better Off for a Little Variety

John is a most devoted fiance. He's lovable, too. But he has a serious fault. There is no variety in his devotion. The touch of the cavalier that every girl wants once in a while, whether she admits it or not, is lacking.

Now, variety, being the spice of life, it is quite necessary to love, especially during a long engagement, such as John's.

Besides, as John has yet to learn, a little crossness, you know, the kind that makes you realize a person is human, makes a girl appreciate the devotion more.

Too Much Devotion

Dear Miss Lee: I have been going with one of the best young men I know of, for almost two years. I am 19 and he is 22. About six months after we began going together, we became engaged. He simply worships me. I never saw any one so devoted before. I have only to hint that I would like anything and he will do it for me.

I cannot even tell him I do not love him. But last night it seemed as if something had gone wrong. I did not feel as if I could bear his kisses. I felt as if I must free myself from his arms.

Would you advise me to return his ring or wait a week or so and see whether my feelings change, which I pray and believe they will?

It would be so very wrong to marry him and depend on him. I have seen this happen. You became engaged very young and have been engaged a long time. What you feel is a natural reaction. I believe you will get over it, especially when you realize that too much devotion is much better than too little.

Wait a while for further developments. I think you will have little trouble.

You might try seeing less of your fiance, until you are sure of your self.

Prodigal Son

My Dear Miss Lee: I am the mother of four boys and three girls. Two of my boys and two of my girls are married. One of my boys, Robert, 22 years old, has been away from home since he was 16. My only single son, John, is a traveling salesman. He was down in Texas and happened to run across Robert. John sells auto parts. He was trying to get Robert to buy some. Robert asked him his name. When John told him, Robert said, "My brother!"

John has been home two months and we have had several letters from Robert. He is talking about coming home. I should like to have some advice on how to receive him.

A SAD MOTHER FOR SIX YEARS. NOW HAPPY.

A mother does not need advice on how to welcome home her prodigal son. You will forgive him, of course, just as any other mother would do.

At the same time, don't let him drift along, if he has been drifting this far, secure in the thought that you always forgive him, no matter what he does.

Cross Aunt-in-Law

Dear Martha Lee: I am a young married woman, 18 years old. My husband is a musician and leaves me at home about every night with his two old maid aunts. One is very cross. Do you think I should stay with them, or go some place else?

A DISCONTENTED WIFE

It is hardly fair to expect you to stay home every night. You probably have girl friends with whom you could spend some evenings. When you are home with the cross aunt, refuse to let her crossness disturb you, and she will get tired being cross and top, after a time.

growth and repair. Don't continue to let your weight increase after this time. You are simply adding fat cells. In other words, you are storing up trouble for yourself later on, as the fat cells do no work.

Although the human body is most complex in its make-up and functioning qualities, if your tendencies are toward normal or right living, all that is necessary to keep this finely adjusted mechanism in complete running order is to keep your body balance.

Select Proper Food

The vitamins that build and sustain your bodily strength must be carefully selected by using the proper food. If you are not thorough in this selection, you will lose weight. Losing weight means a let-down in cell replacement, by not providing the normal stream of blood nourishment.

This invites weakness, a loss of working power, which means a let-down in initiative and lack of disease resistance.

STATE ROADS NOW IN FIRM CONDITION DESPITE WEATHER

Small Washouts, However, Are Numerous on Highways.

Persistent rains during the last week have caused a number of small washouts on some of the State roads and have necessitated a few detours. John D. Williams, director of the State highway commission, said today.

In many places, grading, maintenance and construction work have detracted traffic from the main routes. In general, the State roads are in unusually good condition, considering the weather and heavy State fair traffic, Williams said.

The weekly traffic bulletin of the commission shows the condition of roads entering Indianapolis as follows:

No. 1 (New Albany, Indianapolis, South Bend, Michigan line)—Closed from South Bend to five and one-half miles north of Indianapolis.

No. 2 (Indianapolis, Logansport, Michigan City)—Closed from one and one-half miles south of Logansport and through Royal Center because of construction between La Porte and Michigan City.

No. 3 (National Road, Terre Haute, Indianapolis, Richmond)—Detour around construction from Richmond to Ohio line, east-bound traffic detouring at Twenty-third St. east and south to Westville, Ohio. West-bound traffic detour at Westville, entering Richmond at Twenty-third St.

No. 4 (Madison, Versailles, Greensburg, Indianapolis, Lebanon, Lafayette)—Bridges under construction between Greensburg and Shelbyville. To avoid construction just out of Indianapolis take No. 15, leaving city on Northwestern Ave. At junction of Nos. 15 and 33 turn west, proceeding via Lebanon.

No. 15 (Indianapolis, Logansport, Michigan City)—Closed from one and one-half miles south of Logansport and through Royal Center because of construction between La Porte and Michigan City.

No. 22 (Bedford, Bloomington, Martinsville, Indianapolis)—Heavy grading between Martinsville and Centerton.

The permanent committee: John W. Van Natta, Lafayette; William Arnold, Kokomo; John L. Moorman, Knox; Julian J. Kiser, Indianapolis, and Henry Barr, Princeton.

The fact that Moorman was chosen as farm manager of the properties has been taken as a positive indication that the farms will be operated as soon as the taxes are paid. Van Natta was elected chairman of the committee, and Riley C. Adams of Indianapolis was elected secretary.

Although it was definitely announced Friday that the trusteeship of the $3,000,000 Fletcher American National Bank, it was understood to-day that the bank still has the matter under consideration.

Meeting Next Week

A few technicalities will have to be cleared before acceptance, a representative of the bank said. That a 6 percent interest rate will prevail in all future negotiations on the property was the decision of the committee.

The committee will meet again late next week.

RILEY FUND AIDES TO BOOST RELIEF

Campaign Suspended One Week by State Committee.

Activities in the campaign to raise funds for building the James Whitcomb Riley Children's Hospital will be suspended next week in Indiana to clear the way for the American Red Cross in its drive to raise $5,000,000 for relief of Japanese earthquake victims.

The call of the president is so urgent and the need for immediate relief in Japan so great that the State executive committee in charge of the Riley campaign deemed it a duty to ask Riley Memorial workers to cease for the next few days their activities in behalf of the hospital and to aid in every possible way the campaign of the Red Cross.

Suspension of campaign activities will not halt the visit of 100 Rotarians to the Riley hospital site here next Monday. The report of progress will be given by the Kiwanian convention at South Bend as planned, Carr announced.

R. G. HAZEN, Paperhanger,

914 Ashland Ave., says: "I know the value of Doan's Kidney Pills and gladly recommend them. I had a lame and aching back that made it hard for me to do any stooping. Mornings I felt sore and stiff and had no energy. The action of my kidneys was too free. I used Doan's Kidney Pills as directed and they helped me by strengthening my back and regulating my kidneys."

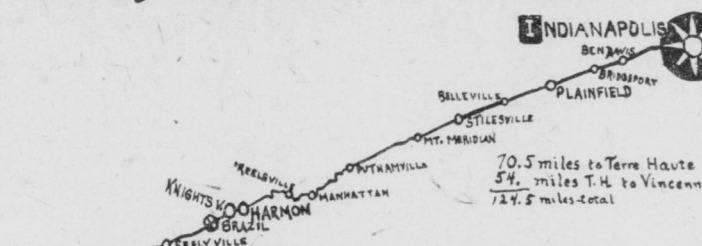

MRS. SARA M. WHITE, 222 N. Pine St., says: "I am exposed to all kinds of weather and the cold and dampness weakened my kidneys. Mornings when I got up I could hardly stand, as my back hurt so. My kidneys acted too freely. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me and I sent for some. They cured me and today my kidneys are strong."

The above statement was given Oct. 27, 1921, and on Sept. 21, 1922, Mrs. White added: "Doan's cured me of kidney trouble and I have had no return of it."

On Sept. 22, 1922, Mr. Bowers added: "My former recommendations of Doan's Kidney Pills holds good. I have had no return of kidney trouble."

History Winds 'Round "Ouabache"

The "Ouabache." The city of Vincennes was named after Monsieur de Vincennes, who was the first Frenchman who camped on the ground as he passed with French troops from Canada to Louisiana in or about the year 1737. Monsieur de Vincennes was afterward burned to a cinder by the Chickasaws.

A very dramatic short siege was waged against Ft. Sackville, located at Vincennes, by George Rogers Clark, who practically aided the Lieutenant Governor and superintendent, Henry Hamilton, into submission. This occurred during Clark's victorious expedition into the Northwest during the revolution.

Much of the best Indiana history is centered about Vincennes. It is an inspiration for any Hoosier or any historian, in fact, to visit the scenes of Indiana's beginnings.

The National road to Terre Haute was very lately opened straight through. For pleasure in riding there are now few roads in the State better than the National road. Leave Indianapolis by way of W. Washington St., about three miles from the center of the city take the left fork. Go straight through to Terre Haute.

From Terre Haute follow the Dixie Bee line into Vincennes.

EXTRACT FROM ONE OF THE MOVING PICTURE MAGAZINES.

There will be a new face on the screen in the near future. A face and a personality which the editor of this magazine predicts will take the movie fans by storm.

A few months ago, without any heralding or advertising of any sort, a little girl dropped into the Blank Moving Picture Studio. She was of French descent, and while she was vivacious and smiling, she had a trick of looking very pensive and sad when she thought no one was observing her.

Abram Einstein, with his usual perspicuity, happened to see her one day in a casting office and decided she was exactly the type for a small part in the picture, "Overweaning Pride," which he was at the time preparing.

Destiny works out in a queer fashion. The little French girl, Paula Perier by name, of course was given the small part, but during the day's work at the studio the star became temperamental and left the lot in a huff. Miss Perier was thrust into her role.

Every one who has seen the young woman work has been delighted with her and Mr. Einstein is being congratulated on every side. The young woman seems quite unconscious of the fact that she has done anything in any way out of the ordinary and of course this will only be decided when "Overweaning Pride" is released.

Miss Perier never has been on the stage, but for some years she has been a model for the smartest dress shops in a number of the larger cities, including New York. It seems that Mr. Einstein saw Miss Perier at the wholesale establishment of one of his friends and said something about her which Miss Perier overheard.

Like many young women of the present day, she was fired with the ambition to go into the moving pictures and, unlike most of them, she is going to be the find of the year. Every producer in Hollywood is watching her debut on the screen with interest.

Note From Richard Summers to Beatrice Grimshaw

DEAR BEATRICE: I sent you yesterday an article from Moving Picture Magazine, which contained the story of the little Perier. In a way it is true, although some of the details are fanciful. She is going to be the find of the year, Bee, and is altogether the most fascinating woman in all Hollywood.

Not the least of her fascination is that no one, man or woman, has been able to penetrate her shell of reserve. Possibly she has been more human with me than any one else, but I think it is because she knows that I am an engaged man and perfectly harmless.

Will write you very soon again. DICK.

NEXT: Bee Grimshaw to Leslie Prescott—Worried for Dick.

BUDGET RECEIVES FULL SUPPORT IN SPECIAL MEETING

Suspension of Rules Makes Passage Possible—Levy $1.035.

The city tax levy for 1924 will be $1.035, an increase of 8.8 cents over this year, according to statement certified to Leo K. Feeler, county auditor today.

City council in special session Friday night reconsidered its action of Monday night in which it refused to pass the budget and passed it under suspension of rules unanimously. Councilman Bernd was the only one absent. With its passage the tangled financial condition since Monday night was removed, making a new levy and budget for next year. Council passed only the levy Monday night.

Councilman Wise jeopardized passage of the budget when he voted "no" on a motion of Claycomb to suspend the rules. After considerable argument, he changed his vote.

The objection of Wise immediately opened the way for parliamentary procedure which would permit passage of the budget before today at noon, the final time for Joseph Hogan, city controller, to certify a tax levy and budget to the auditor. Councilman Buchanan led the way by moving for adjournment until 9 a. m. today, thereby complying with the law that suspension of rules is not necessary when an ordinance is introduced one day and passed another.

Claycomb immediately seconded the motion, but before a vote was taken Wise announced he would change his vote, "against his better judgment." Meanwhile Councilman Thompson moved to adjourn until 12:01 a. m., so the budget could be passed without suspension of rules. His motion was seconded.

A question raised by Wise over the legality of the 1.5 cents added to the levy by the council for the sanitary board caused Ogden to hold that any action for reduction must come from the State tax board. The State tax board, in turn, is expected to test in legal manner by the fourth Monday in September, it was said.

The council's action in certifying to the higher levy and budget was done on recommendation of the city legal department when it was found a 1919 tax law permitted until Sept. 15 to pass the levy and budget. A communication from Mayor Shank urged passage of the budget to the 1924 tax levy could be assured.

DRIVERS UNTOUCHED AS AUTOS OVERTURN

Collision Is Near-Serious as Two Machines Smash on Streets.

Two drivers of automobiles narrowly escaped serious injury Friday night when cars they were driving turned over after a collision at Forty-second and Ruckle Sts.

Harry Jones, 30, of 3214 W. Twenty-first St., was going east on Forty-second St., according to police, when the car driven by Jesse McCall, 42, of 82 N. Belle View Pl., struck the rear wheel of his machine, causing the turn over.

No arrests were made, due to the wish of each
