GOVERNOR M'CRAE SUED BY WIDOWS

made Sept. 15. It consists of 640 acres of land in Newton County; lots 1 and 2 in McCray and Ade's addition to Kentland, and lot 26 in the original plot of Kentland. The property is transferred "subject to all existing liens."

Bitter Fight Expected

That the McCray trust agreement, entered into in Indianapolis and supposed to be signed by 75 per cent of the creditors, will be bitterly fought by persons who are suing for their money is believed evident here. A mass of evidence is being collected.

This includes correspondence between McCray and various State banks and at least one note given by a McCray partnership to McCray and then sold to a bank by McCray.

The pressure under which McCray labored is indicated by a copy of a letter written by a southern Indiana bank to the Governor. The letter declares that a national bank examiner had classed a loan to McCray as "past due" and was demanding that the bank collect the money immediately.

Some letters in handwriting conducted by McCray with banks is on the stationery of the Orchard Lake Stock Farm here. Some of it is on stationery of the Governor's office.
Some of the latter is written with a pen in McCray's handwriting.

Here is a typical letter written by McCray to an Indiana bank:

"I have a large amount of cattle paper and would like to place $25,000 or $30,000 of it at this time. These notes run all the way from $2,500 to $10,000 in six months to a year.

"The notes are all made by responsible parties as has been proved to my satisfaction. In addition to this, they have my endorsement or guarantee. The most of the notes draw 7 per cent and 8 per cent interest. If you can handle any part of this, I will appreciate the favor."

Facts Concerning New Comedy Due at English's

George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly wrote "The Deep Tangled Wildwood," a comedy that is to be the hit at English's the week of Monday, Sept. 24. They are the same men who wrote "Dulcy," which Booth Tarkington declared was the gayest comedy he ever saw—also "To the Ladies," in which Helen Hays appeared in at the Liberty Theater, New York, for more than 200 performances, and which George Ade had said he would be glad to have come from his pen.

"The Deep Tangled Wildwood" is probably something of the same sort.
No one actually knows, because it is to be presented at English's for the first time on Monday night.

Apparently they have decided that certain business methods in vogue in this country call loudly for correction and they believe that exposing the funny side of these methods and getting everybody to laughing at them is the "jokest and surest way of bringing about some needed reform

SO'S CALL PIERCES HEAVY COAST FOG

Vessel, Believed Occidental, In Distress Off New Haven.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—"S O S," the wireless call that strikes a chill in the heart of mariners, was flashed from a vessel in distress ten miles east of New Haven, Conn., during the night.

Naval communications were ordered silenced, broadcasting programs and news transmission were stopped and the call came repeatedly from the sea. The name of the vessel in distress was garbled. It is believed it was the tanker Occidental, out of Boston.

Efforts to communicate with the signaling vessel were unsuccessful and the affair remained a mystery, of the fog this morning.

The steamer Concord proceeded slowly through a dense bank of fog toward the spot indicated by the calls.

WALTON ORDERS CROSSES RAZED

people of our State may know the truth, which alone can make them free."

Action Is Answer

The action of the Governor in ordering all fiery crosses taken down was believed to be in answer to the address "to the people of the United States" adopted at the Tulsa editors' meeting. In directing sheriffs and other county officers to remove Klan emblems from public view throughout the State, the Governor said:

"The fiery cross is now high aloft in many public places, evidencing its encroachment upon the civil government of the State.

"The issue is clearly drawn by our government under the Stars and Stripes or the invisible empire under the fiery cross.

"Therefore all civil and military authorities are hereby ordered to dismantle the emblems of the Ku Klux Klan wherever they may appear in public places."

Discusses Meeting

The Governor also discussed the proposed special meeting of the Legislature in his proclamation.

He said: "Some Klan members or the House of Representatives, inspired by the invisible empire and aided by the Klan press, are threatening to assemble themselves unlawfully in a despicable attempt to stop, in some manner, no matter what the cost, this fight upon the invisible empire. I say to those who are agitating such a meeting that if they have any respect for the law and safety of their State, they will desist therefrom. I call upon all good citizens and the constituents of these Representatives in particular to repudiate such acts on their part."

obedience to Governor Walton's order that all K. K. K. crosses be hauled down, or by enemies of the organization.
