ADMINISTRATION TO LAY TAX BURDEN ON LOCAL UNITS

Relief Must Come Through Reduction of State, County and City Levies.

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
Copyright, 1923, by United Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Foreseeing inability to reduce Federal taxation at the coming session of Congress, the Coolidge administration is fortifying itself with a defense and a reason.

Responsibility for the weight of the tax burden will be laid at the door of State, county and municipal authorities. The Federal Government, the country will be told, imposes far less, in proportion to the total taxation and to the services required of it, than local governments.

Figures compiled by the census bureau will be used to show how tremendously the tax spending of local governments has increased during a period when the Federal Government was doing its utmost to keep expenditures down.

Some high administration expect it will be possible to reduce Federal taxes, but with a bonus bill almost certain to be passed, many other officials do not see how any appreciable tax cut can come.

Even if taxes are reduced, the country will be told, real relief from taxation must come, if at all, through reduction of local levies.

President Sets Out Policies on International Affairs and Farmer Relief in Speech Before Red Cross Convention.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—In his first public speech since becoming President, Coolidge today revealed his position upon two important policies—international affairs and farmer relief.

Speaking at the opening session of the American Red Cross convention, the President said:

"That America will remain unencumbered by spoils, independent, unattached and unbought."

That the need of civilization is for an idealism that "does not seek to reform merely by an act of legislation thinking that it can unload its burden on the Government and be relieved from further efforts."

Mr. Coolidge declared the world is coming more and more to rely on moral force and less on physical. "But ideals of human brotherhood and service are idle dreams unless they can be translated to practical action," he said. "It is necessary on the one hand to avoid the illusions of the visionaries and on the other hand, the indifference of the selfish."

"Each individual and each nation owe their first duty to themselves." His reference to those who would remedy conditions by an act of legislation and thus escape further personal responsibility, was taken as a reference to those who are urging him to turn over to Congress the farmers' problem for settlement.

SUPERVISION OF COAL INDUSTRY IS URGED IN REPORT

Commission Submits Recommendations to Coolidge for Legislation.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Congress probably will be given new recommendations on the coal industry, as a result of the recent strike and of a final report submitted to President Coolidge by the retiring United States coal commission.

Whether it will be possible to enact coal legislation at the December session is considered doubtful by Administration leaders, but they intend to initiate at that time a committee inquiry that will pave the way for legislation later.

Supervision of the coal industry by the Interstate Commerce Commission just as the railroads are supervised was the keynote of the commission's plan for insuring a constant supply of fuel at a fair price.
