

College Gridiron Sport Starts Off to Record Season With Huge Attendance

CROWDS AT EARLY TILTS FORECAST BANNER YEAR

Average of 40,000 Spectators at Five Games Last Saturday—Seating Capacity Only Limit From Now On.

By HENRY FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Attendance records for early season football games were established last Saturday when five big games on the schedule averaged almost 40,000 spectators each. This is a manifestation of unusual interest in the popular college game for such early season games and it is due to the fact that games which in the past have been reserved for November features of the schedule are being billed earlier.

New records will be made for the 1923 season and the attendance at the big games will include just as much as the facilities are enlarged for the accommodation of the crowds.

As Season Advances
Last Saturday's mark will be passed for a certainty next Saturday and on each succeeding week through the schedule.

Harvard and Dartmouth will draw 60,000 at Cambridge and Boston will have enough surplus to contribute at least 25,000 to the Marquette-Boston College game that will bring the Marquette team to the East for the first time.

Centre and Pennsylvania will fill the new stadium at Franklin field to its capacity of 50,000. Brown and Yale should draw at least 35,000 to the Yale bowl, which is only half its capacity.

At Yankee Stadium
Penn. State and West Virginia, two undefeated teams in line for the eastern championship, may play before 25,000 or 40,000 in the Yankee stadium.

Princeton and the Navy play in Baltimore and the crowd may go beyond 40,000, as it is the first time these two teams have played there.

Georgia Tech and Notre Dame, furnishing one of the feature games of the Middle West, are sure to draw a great throng and Iowa and Ohio State are almost sure to pack the new Columbus stadium, which has a capacity of about 50,000.

SOME OF THESE DAYS THAT SERIES WILL END

Rainy Weather Forces Another Postponement in Balto-K. C. Battle.

By United Press
BALTIMORE, Oct. 24.—The eighth game of the little world series between the Baltimore Orioles and the Kansas City Blues, scheduled to be played here Tuesday, was postponed on account of rain.

The weather was threatening again today. Pitcher Chief Bender and Catcher Styes of Baltimore were suspended by Manager Dunn because of their actions at a banquet Monday night.

Muncie Leader

"COONEY" CHECKAYE

When the Fernandes and the Muncie Congregationalists clash Sunday at Pennyc Park, local pro grid fans, will be watching "Cooney" Checkaye, "master mind" of the Muncie out fit. Checkaye is captain and quarter of the Congregationalists, and his aggressive leadership has always kept the Delaware County pros right up in the running for the State title.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Many exceptionally fine performances have been returned in the trap-shooting tournaments during the 1923 season upon which the curtain is now being dropped.

When the averages are compiled it is believed that they will show a high water mark for professional shooters in the figures made by John R. Taylor of Newark, Ohio. According to figures at hand for 2,000 targets Taylor has an average of 9,854. This is unofficial, but it is pretty close to being correct. Taylor did not have one bad day during the season and in his last 700 targets he only missed two.

Boyd Duncan of Lucy, Tenn., is close to a world's mark on his average for the targets shot at. Duncan shot at about 7,500 targets from the sixteen-yard line and has averaged about 8725.

R. H. Arvin, a professional of Indianapolis, has a run of 501, of which number 401 are registered. He broke the last 149 in a shoot at Logansport on June 27, 100 straight at Indianapolis on July 4, 100 straight at Indianapolis on July 9 and fifty-two straight at Indianapolis on July 10.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—A "golden tornado" sweeps north into the lair of the "Micks" Saturday and for the third successive week Notre Dame will combat a team of admitted strength, when they meet Georgia Tech at South Bend, Ind.

The fighting Irish show no partiality in picking their opponents. After conquering the Army and Princeton in successive Saturdays they are now preparing to face one of the strongest southern eleven.

Probably at no other time of the season will Notre Dame be so vulnerable as this week. The strain of two long eastern trips and two hard games is about to tell in some respects. Whether the "golden tornado" can produce the drive to win is uncertain.

Notre Dame ranks a heavy favorite, despite its hard early season games and fans rely on Coach Rockne to produce baffling screen plays that will strike unexpectedly at the Tech team.

Coach Knute Rockne said today that Elmer Layden, star Notre Dame back, will be unable to appear in the lineup Saturday.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Admitting the failure of the suspension and title removing plan of dealing with inactive champions, the New York boxing commission has summoned the boxing writers of New York papers to discuss means of handling Joe Lynch and other suspended champions who refuse to defend their titles.

The commission announced it believed Lynch when he said he had dislocated his shoulder and could not fight Joe Burman last week, but that he was suspended and his title was vacated until he would be in condition to fight.

The commission told Lynch that it would consider him as the logical contender for the championship and the first in line to meet Abe Goldstein, the new "champion."

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The 2-year-old and 3-year-old championships of the American turf, which might otherwise have remained unsettled, will be determined beyond any question within the next two weeks, provided all four horses stand up under continued training and go to the post in the two races.

But for the acceptance of a match race for a $15,000 purse at Laurel, Md., on Friday, both Sarazen and Happy Thoughts might have been regarded as equal shareholders in the 2-year-old championship.

The Latonia stakes may be won by an outsider, but even so, if both Zev and My Own go to the post, as the owners now intend that they shall, the one that comes in ahead will be accepted as the American champion at three years and the Anglo-American champion as well.

If Sarazen wins from Happy Thoughts, the gelding probably will be sent to England for some of the big 3-year-old races next year.

It is not thought likely that Zev ever will go to England, although Harry Sinclair, his owner, in a moment of enthusiasm, told Basil Jarvis and Steve Donoghue, trainer and jockey of the defeated Papyrus, that he would send his horse to the other side some time.

TOLEDO BOYS OFFER GENERAL CHALLENGE

Scott High School Has Two Open Dates.

By Times Special
TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 24.—Any high school in the United States has a chance to buck against the Scott High School's eleven, national 1922 high champions. The team issued a general challenge for games on Scott field here Nov. 3 and 17.

The challenge came as a result of cancellation of games with Crosby High School, Waterbury, Conn., and Bellingham, Conn.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Snapper Garrison, wizard jockey in his day, hero of countless "Garrison finishes"—thundering drives down the back stretch that brought thrilling last moment victories—watched a spindly-legged little blond chap leap briskly from his mount and walk with mincing steps to the judges' stand.

"Son," commented the old turf hero, "whenever anyone asks you to name the greatest jockey in the world don't ever hesitate. Just answer Earl Sande and you won't be far wrong."

Not a Flaw
The Snapper watched Sande with unstinted admiration. "Not a flaw in his style," resumed the veteran. "Geta his mount away from the post quicker and in better shape than any rider I ever saw. As fine a judge of pace as the turf has ever known, a great little thinker, game as a pebble, and 'easy' on his horse."

By his superb horsemanship in the international match race at Belmont last week, Sande clearly established his right to be known as the premier rider of the world.

Old-timers of the turf were not tremendously impressed by the style or skill of Steve Donoghue, celebrated star from overseas, who was up on the defeated thoroughbred. His manner of sitting stiffly erect in the saddle, as if on review, came in for general criticism.

Sande started riding in the county fairs around Salt Lake City. Eventually he drifted to New Orleans, and in the fall of 1913 rode his first "real race," having the mount on Liberator. Sande was beaten by a head.

Finally he struck up a winning gait, and in due time his obvious genius as a rider attracted the attention of Commander J. K. L. Ross, Canadian sportsman, who bought his contract for $18,000.

This made him a big leaguer and he has been a big leaguer—a heavy hitting one, too—ever since.

PAT PAGE HUNTS FOR MORE DRIVING POWER

Punch in Pinch Is Butler's Slogan as Game With Wabash Nears—Irwin Field Capacity May Be Taxed.

That final punch that is essential to every successful football machine has been a worry to Coach Page and his proteges all season. In almost every game the Bulldogs have not had quite enough of the "old pepper" to carry the ball over the white line after it has been laboriously worked down the field to a vantage point.

If these champ horses were permitted to handle the colts they win, they could take the allies out galloping and show 'em a good time with plenty of kick in it.

Well, the Eng-lish horse was the lead one, and that's more than you ever get to say of an English heavyweight.

The big race was lacking in one important detail, that's more than you ever get to say of an English heavyweight.

THE American victory was due to the fact Zev made fine use of the forward pass, was steadier on the green, and hit when hits meant runs.
