

TURKEY DAY IN INDIANAPOLIS TO BE REAL EVENT

Tables Will Shake and Churches Resound With Thanksgiving Cheer.

Mother went to market today and returned carrying a basket laden with "trimmings" for Thursday's turkey dinner.

She will be up bright and early Thursday morning. In her immaculate kitchen she will work with tempting concoctions. If she can slip away she will leave her kitchen long enough to go to church. If not, she will get other members of her family ready to attend services.

Union services will be held in a number of churches.

There will be plenty on Indianapolis programs to keep the whole family entertained all day. The little brother will go to Monument Circle, where the Y. M. C. A. will stage foot and bicycle races for boys at 10 a. m.

At the same time, at E. Washington St. and Audubon Rd., a ten-mile race, under the auspices of the Indiana-Kentucky Amateur Athletic Union, will start. The racers will go west in Washington St. to the Central Indiana Hospital for the Insane, then north to the community house at the Speedway.

Then, the Dinner

After the church services and the athletic events, will come the big event of the day—the dinner, with its turkey and dressing, cranberries and spicy pies.

In the afternoon, if the family seeks diversion outside the home, it may have its choice of the motion picture shows, and two road show matinees. "Good Morning, Dearly," at the English Theater, will have a matinee at 2:45 p. m. "The Splice of 1922," at the Murat Theater, will begin at 2:30. The sportsman will find entertainment at night at Tomlinson Hall, where Roy Wallace, Brightwood mid-dleweight, will meet Anthony Downey of Columbus, Ohio, in a ten-round boxing match, starting at 8:30.

The Columbia Club, and the Hoosier Athletic Club will hold Thanksgiving dances Thursday night.

BODY OF MUNCIE GIRL TO BE TAKEN BACK HOME TODAY

Miss Dearth Found in Ohio River, Ending Mystery of Disappearance Nov. 1.

By United Press
MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 28.—The body of Miss Marguerite Dearth, 22, daughter of Judge Clarence Dearth, found yesterday in the Ohio River near Louisville, where it evidently had been floating for the last three weeks, will be returned to Muncie late this afternoon. Because of the condition of Mrs. Dearth, who was prostrated by the news, the judge remained here, sending friends to claim the body. The funeral will likely be held Friday.

Both county courts will remain closed until after the services and business generally will suspend at the hour of the funeral.
Miss Dearth, who had been suffering from ill health, disappeared from her home here Nov. 1 and a nation-wide search for her was conducted by the judge, assisted by several Muncie civic clubs.

Photographs of the missing girl were sent to every hospital, Y. W. C. A., and police station in the United States and Canada and a number of false clues were received here and followed up until disproved.

Last summer the Dearth family spent two weeks camping along the Ohio River near Louisville and it is believed that when the girl, her mind unbalanced by ill-health, determined to end her life, she went direct from Muncie to the former camp site where she leaped into the river. The care she had taken to remove identification marks from her clothing and the absence of any suicide note, indicates she wished her disappearance to be complete.

TURKEYS DROP IN PRICE; THAT'S ALL

Prices of 1922 as High as Those of Today.

That prices on Thanksgiving dinner delicacies have not decreased materially in the past year except on turkeys, cranberries, and a few minor articles is shown by a comparison of prices today with those of 1922.

Turkeys selling at 60 and 70 cents a pound a year ago were 45 and 50 cents a pound today. Dressed turkeys were available at 50 and 55 cents a pound. Cranberries were 20 and 25 cents a pound in 1922 but were 10 and 15 cents a pound today.

Chickens, however, were 25 cents a pound dressed in 1922, the same price today. Live chickens were higher at 28 cents a pound than a year ago, when they were 23 and 25 cents a pound. Oysters selling at from 60 to 90 cents a quart last year were from 70 cents to $1 a quart today.

Butter is higher at 60 cents a pound, as against 55 cents a pound last year. Celery was 7 1/2 cents a bunch in 1922 and 10 cents a bunch today.

PRESS OF STATE FAVORS TAX CUT, NEW BODY STATES

Association Statement Is Issued Quoting Newspapers.

Press comment from Indiana dailies reveals the growing public interest in questions of governmental economy and tax levies, a statement issued today by the Indiana Taxpayers' Association says.

"Its purposes are warmly commended, and taxpayers are urged to give their wholehearted support to the association's program," the statement says.

"The taxpayers of Indiana are taking an orderly method of bringing a halt to the rising tide of taxes," the statement quotes the Frankfort Crescent-News as saying. "A taxpayers association has been formed, with former Governor W. T. Durbin at the head of it. He foresees what must happen if some effective remedy is not furnished against growing taxes."

Public Interest Is Heeded

The Lafayette Courier, speaking of the organization of the association, points out that "The purpose is to spread information on taxation and to inform those who pay taxes as to the need for blocking and preventing needless extravagance and the evils of waste in the disbursement of public moneys by those in office."

An association such as that now formed in Indiana may be made useful in many ways. In the name of education and constructive economy."

The Seymour Tribune observes, the statement says, that the biggest step in the solution of the taxation question will be taken when the public interests itself in the methods of expenditures rather than in the total amount expended each year.

"Too many people do not give close enough attention to the operation of governmental affairs, but focus their attention upon the cost as it is measured by what they have to pay."

"There is admittedly much inefficiency in our government. Such inefficiency results in confusion and adds to the tax burden of the people."

"If the taxpayers association can point out these inefficiencies and eliminate them, it will make rapid strides toward lowering taxes."

The association has undertaken a big work, and it can be of valuable service."

Non-Partisan in Scope

The association is wholly non-partisan and all the State officers serve without remuneration, the statement pointed out.

The officers are: Winfield T. Durbin, Anderson, former Governor of Indiana, president; Daniel W. Sims, Lafayette, attorney, vice president; Fred C. Gardner, Indianapolis, manufacturer, treasurer; and Harry Miesse, Indianapolis, secretary.

LETTERS CROSS, DELAYING ACTION

Local Council Explains to Jewish Women.

Letters written by the board of the Local Council of Women and the board of the Local Council of Jewish Women, regarding the resignation of the Jewish Women from the local Council, evidently crossed in the mails, delaying action. Both boards met Tuesday.

The Jewish Council presented its resignation several weeks ago, when Mrs. Nathan Kahn, president, said her organization had been "discriminated against" when the Local Council gave a dinner for Dame Margaret and Miss Megan Lloyd George, in October. A letter of explanation was received by Miss Frances Mazze, secretary of the Jewish Council, after the meeting Tuesday.

A letter in response to an earlier one asking the Jewish Council to reconsider its action, was mailed to Mrs. C. L. Stubbs, of the local council, Tuesday.

The sudden wealth went to Siki's head and he started on a genial rampage.
