

WHITE HOUSE NEW YEAR'S RECEPTION IS BRILLIANT AFFAIR

DOORS OF UNITED LABOR BANK OPEN FORMALLY TODAY

Ceremony Attends Depositing of First Money in New Company.

The United Labor Bank and Trust Company, Monument Circle and E. Market St., a banking institution sponsored by labor organizations of Indiana, opened its doors for business today.

The bank rooms, formerly occupied by the Commercial National Bank, were decorated with flowers, many of them sent by local banks. One floral piece was sent by the Bank of Italy, San Francisco, Cal.

Harvey W. Brown, Indianapolis, vice president of the International Association of Machinists, was first to open a checking account. The first savings account was taken out in the name of Carrie R. and William Newburg, R. R. P. box 63, Indianapolis.

They have books Nos. 1 and 2. Book No. 13, savings account, fell to Jesse Clark, colored, of 539 W. Michigan St. Deposits from Cleveland, Ohio, Benton Harbor, Mich.; Bellefontaine, Ohio; Greenfield, Ind.; Zionsville, Ind., and Louisville, Ky., were received early in the day.

Deposits in the Christmas Savings Club also were made.

The United Labor Bank and Trust Company began business with capital stock of $350,000. Many large labor organizations transferred their accounts to the bank. Unlike most labor banks, the Indianapolis institution sponsored by the United labor movement, not by one union. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, is president.

CRAVEN EXPECTED TO REMAIN HEAD OF SANITARY BOARD

Sanitary Board Election Set for Thursday.

Members of the sanitary board will reorganize Thursday morning in the regular weekly meeting. The re-election of Jay A. Craven as president appeared likely today.

John Elliott, city engineer, and Russell T. MacFall, who succeeded Lucius B. Swift as a member of the board, are the other two members.

After assuring Mayor Shank that he "had no connection with any company which might supply material for the sanitary board," MacFall qualified for the position today for a term of four years.

Contrary to rumors, John Elliott said there would be no reorganization among employees of the sanitary department until MacFall became acquainted with the situation. Current reports indicated that certain employees opposed to the Shank administration would be dismissed.

TROTZY LIKES MOST CRITICISM

Red Army to Have Points Shown.

Jan. 2.—Leon Trotsky, according to his own physician, is recovering from a slight chronic inflammation of the throat and the chest, and is not the deadly man advertised abroad, has campaign to obtain "sunder" of the red army.

Trotsky complains there has been tendency to paint the army in glowing colors, and urges that criticism would be of greater benefit. He points out that most of the Russian articles written about soviet military life refer to the "victorious army," without admitting that the army has ever been defeated and without pointing out the difficulties of many victories.

The leaders maintain that frank criticism would have a better effect on the military machine than sugar coated praise.

FRANCE SEEKING DEFINITE PEACE

President's Address Sees Dawn of Reconciliation.

By United Press
PARIS, Jan. 2.—France's message for 1924 came in President Millerand's address to members of the diplomatic corps at New Year's day reception.

Replying to Papi Nuncio Ceretti's speech, the President said: "It seems permissible to salute the dawn of reconciliation, and the definite peace that France, whose spirit is from hate and discord, desires with all her heart. She ardently hopes no new incident will delay her aspirations, which include the establishment of universal economic order, coupled with her own individual prosperity."

WASHINGTON HAS AUSPICIOUS START

Crime Wave in Nation's Capital Worst in History.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The new year was ushered in here with one of the worst crime waves in the history of the city. Two hold-ups and five burglaries were reported. Three persons were shot, one man jumped from a second-story window and another was stabbed.

To add to the bedlam, celebrators turned in twenty-one false fire alarms in various parts of the district, forcing fire companies to split up so as to answer all calls. Several automobile accidents occurred.

Judge Schmidt in the police court started the new year by releasing twenty-six persons charged with intoxication, on their personal bonds, with the warning that if they were brought in again on the same charge their sentences would be doubled.

FUNERAL THURSDAY FOR T. W. LANAHAM, 90

Veteran Stock Dealer Dies at Grandson's Home.

Funeral services for Tyrus Washington Lanahan, 90, livestock dealer, who died Tuesday at the home of his grandson, T. Ernest Maholin, 3502 E. Tenth St., will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday at the grandson's residence. The Rev. Charles E. Martin, pastor Brookside United Brethren Church, will officiate. Burial will be at Oaklawn, Ind.

When the United stock yards were opened in Indianapolis over forty years ago, Mr. Lanahan came here from Greensburg, Ind., and became associated with the James McKee & Co., in the stock commission business. For the past twenty years Mr. Lanahan has actively engaged in farming in Lawrence township. He was a member of the Christian Church of Nicholasville, Ky. The grandson is the only survivor.

SANITARY BOARD SHAKE-UP IS DUE

Rumor Says Only Shank Supporters to Remain.

With the appointment of Russell T. MacFall, engineer and attorney, on the sanitary board reorganization of the sanitary department is expected. According to rumors, only strong Shank supporters will remain in the department. The Shank forces have been unable for two years to rout employees held over from the Jewett administration in this department.

MacFall was appointed for a four-year term starting Jan. 1, and will assume his duties Thursday morning at the first meeting of the new board. He succeeds Lucius B. Swift, who had been the target of opposition from Jay A. Craven, president of the board, and John Elliott, city engineer. The appointment of the third member of the commission was up to Elliott and Craven. Mayor Shank and the Seelbach Club recommended MacFall to the position.

MacFall is a member of the Scientific Club and the Indianapolis Bar Association.

DETECTIVE MAKES GOOD HIS THREAT

Mullin Reports Robbery of Home After Capture.

The home of John Mullin, inspector of detectives, at 119 W. Twenty-Eighth St., was robbed of a strand of pearls and pearl earrings Dec. 11. Police knew nothing of the theft until today, when they said, Lottie Bowman, alias McElroy, 37, colored, 335 Camp St., confessed.

"I wanted to get the thief before I made a report," Mullin explained. He said a $300 fur coat was overlooked. The woman was charged with grand larceny and burglary. She was arrested with Frank Irwin, 348 Camp St., who was charged with burglary and receiving stolen goods, in a series of burglaries in the east section of the city.

President and Mrs. Coolidge Shake Hands With 4,000 Visitors Who Trail Into Famous Blue Room—Stand Strain Well.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The Coolidges had their "first house warming" on New Year's Day. Standing for two hours to shake hands with the "folks" who trailed into the beautiful blue room at the White House for a personal greeting.

The diplomats were received, too, in their gay, colorful costumes, and members of the Cabinet and their wives, and other Government officials and high officers of the Army and Navy. They came first. But it was, primarily, the day of Main St., and every type was represented, fathers and mothers, some with small babies in their arms, tourists here for a few days, young people, old people, both black and white.

There were not as many as filed through year before last on a bitterly cold day to shake hands with President Harding. Only about 4,000 were received Tuesday, including the diplomats and Government officials. But there has been a good deal of talk about the strain that continuous hand-shaking imposes. This kept many away this year.

Apparently No Strain

The reception apparently was no strain on either the President or his wife, as had been feared. The President took a long walk afterward, and remarked he felt no ill effects from the long stand, adding with a smile, he and Mrs. Coolidge had frequently received 5,000 people or more when he was Governor of Massachusetts. He looked particularly fit and fresh and cheerfully pulled on a long cigar as he strolled through the fashionable residential section of the city after the reception.

Mrs. Coolidge's hand was noticeably red as the last person departed. It is true, but this was due to her good nature in giving her guests a real handshake.

First Lady Jovial

She was particularly jovial, and many in the line stopped for a moment to chat with her. Several visitors commented on her appearance. She was very attractive in a gorgeous dress of broadened chiffon, with its bright red background and navy blue pattern.

Both the President and his wife seemed to enjoy the reception. The President reached down to speak to the children in the line. His two boys, Calvin, Jr., and John, walked about among the crowd, watching their father and mother and talking with the younger members of the diplomatic group, who lingered about.

Some 400 people came very near missing the reception. The line had apparently all passed through the blue room. The President and his wife went upstairs. A few minutes later others began to gather in the front walks. Soon quite a crowd had assembled. Word was sent up to the President, and though it was after the scheduled time for the reception to end, he and Mrs. Coolidge came back downstairs and received the late arrivals.

People Come Early

The people began to come early. A number stood in line outside of the White House for a long time in the cold. Because of his 87 years, one visitor, Maj. Carl Loeffler, formerly an attendant at the White House, was given a place at the front of the line.

The reception to the diplomats and high Government officials was very formal, but less so for the common people. A few minutes later the members of the diplomatic corps clicked their heels smartly as they bowed to the President and Mrs. Coolidge. All were brilliantly dressed.

President Coolidge did not let the holiday interfere with his work. After an early breakfast, he stood about the White House grounds, he went to his office and cleared his desk, signing several papers.

TWO MEN STAY UP FOR COLD

Remy May Seek Appointment for Engleke.

Juvenile Court still had two more jobs today.

Commissioners insisted they put Albert E. Schmollinger on duty as investigator in the court. Engleke, reappointed by Prosecutor William H. Remy, was at his desk prosecutor in the court.

Schmollinger presented his credentials to Judge Frank J. Lahr, who had not decided whether he would accept Schmollinger's services.

Commissioners have provided $1,200 as salary for the job, whether called investigator or prosecutor. Democrats control commission. Remy and Engleke are Republicans. Schmollinger is a Democrat.

If one or the other does not give up Remy may seek an appropriation of $1,200 from county council so Engleke may be paid.

America's Cold Remedy

Firm, Plump, Fresh!

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed healthy girl no matter where she may be on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all are preoccupied with the desire to be so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and alert—the girl with buoyancy and swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-date girl. Just a girl with ever increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S., since 1826, has stood increased blood cells. S. S. S. means extra vigor—increased vitality—added energy.

S. S. S. and watch the blood youth return to your cheeks. Watch that flabby, ill nourished flesh away before fresh that is firm plump.
