WEDDINGS BETROTHALS

MISS HELEN BRATTAIN, whose marriage to Clifford Ferguson will take place Wednesday at the Broad Ripple Methodist Church, was the honor guest this afternoon at a prettily appointed bridge of four tables given by Miss Katherine Cavins, 1222 N. Alabama St. The bride's colors, rose, gold and blue, were used in the decorations. Candles in those colors lighted the table during the tea hour.

The guests: Mrs. E. J. Brattain, Mrs. L. Duncan Lloyd of Chicago and Misses Dorothy and Mary Black, Gwendolyn Dorey, Marie George, Elizabeth Kolmer, Irma Dykes, Florence Lupton, Gertrude Schmidt, Mildred Stitz, Mary Louise Wright, Mildred and Louise Stockdale and Louise Strickland.

The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Alexander G. Cavins. Mrs. Lloyd, who was Miss Olivia Schad of Indianapolis before her marriage, will entertain Saturday afternoon at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Emma Vonn, 1736 N. Capitol Ave., with a bridge and miscellaneous shower for the bride-elect. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brattain, parents of the bride-elect, will entertain with a bridal dinner Tuesday night.

Mrs. A. R. Dewey, 3204 N. Illinois St., entertained the Friday Bridge Club at luncheon today. Clever appointments were used in observance of ground hog day. Tiny metal pins were tied to the place cards with red ribbons. Baskets of red roses decorated the rooms. Mrs. Dewey was assisted by Mrs. W. D. Long and Mrs. Harry Stormont.

Mrs. Ralph K. Smith, 1921 N. Alabama St., entertained today with six tables for luncheon bridge.

Mrs. Leo K. Fessler entertained her health class at luncheon today at the Woman's Department Club, Seventeenth and Meridian Sts. Covers were laid for ten. At 2 o'clock Mrs. Fessler conducted instructions in physical culture and at 2:30 Dr. Jane Ketcham addressed the class on "Woman's Special Hygiene."

McGabe, secretary-treasurer; Will Robbins and C. G. Marlow were appointed to the executive committee. Dean J. H. Skinner of Purdue was the principal speaker.

Mother of 'Only Child' Is Center of Protest

A storm of protest has been aroused by a letter to me from "A Devoted Mother," which followed one from "Poor But Happy."

The mother of ten children is "Poor But Happy." She wrote to suggest that large families are one remedy of the divorce evil. "A Devoted Mother," who has one child, protested that large families made it impossible for each child to be educated as he should.

Now members of both large and small families are coming to the defense of "Poor But Happy." Most of them contend that an only child loses more than he gains, even though he does receive a better education and does have more luxuries than the child of a large family.

Here's what some of the champions of the large-family cause have to say:

Life's Lessons Learned

Miss Martha Lee—I noticed the letter from "A Devoted Mother." I think "Poor But Happy" is right.

I am one of a family of ten children. While we did not get as good an education as I want my children to have, being one of so large a family is an education in itself. We learned love, sacrifice and unselfishness. Lessons greatly needed to meet the problems of life. We learned to "give and take," so to share what we have.

I have traveled far and have been thrown with people of all classes and find that ninety-nine times out of 100, the really happy men and women are the parents of large families. I am now the mother of six children, ranging from two months to 12 years, and I will say that if they were as busy as my husband and every woman as busy as I, there would be much less "love in love" with other wives and husbands.

Oh yes, it means many sleepless nights, many days of hard work, many hours of sacrifice, to raise a family; but "a life of service is a life worth while," and in serving God by doing the best I can for the little ones He sends me, I am

ALWAYS HAPPY.

From an Only Child

Dear Martha Lee—Having been brought up without brother or sister, I should like to tell "A Devoted Mother" and "A West Side Mother" that I certainly feel sorry for the only child. Mothers, supposing your one child would be taken from you, after you were too old to have another. It is true my three could be taken, also, but after all, I would only be losing my all, the same as you I think and for my three healthy children. That is all we feel we are able to care for and fit for the future.

HAPPY MEDIUM.

Another Defense

Dear Miss Lee—I have just read the letter from "A West Side Mother," and I will agree she has not much education, at least, not in the finer things of life. I do not agree, though, that "no sensible person would want ten children." I think it takes a mighty sensible woman to raise ten children; any one could raise one child. What would become of this world if we all had only one child? God does not send us any more than he wants us to have, and "He will provide."

I am the mother of four; and if the Lord sends four more, or even enough for a family of ten, I will be thankful for each one and do my best for him.

Oh yes, children do hold couples together; not always, but very often. Many couples are happy together now, who had not been for a child, would have been separated during the first few years of marriage, when it is so hard to get adjusted.

I can understand a selfish woman not wanting any children, but I can not understand how the mother of one child can say she does not want another. Does she not know we get the same joy, love and comfort from each one?

Also, she is depriving her child of the finest thing on earth—the love and companionship of a brother or sister.

A LOVER OF CHILDREN.

With the Legion Auxiliary

Requests have come in from a number of Indiana units of the American Legion Auxiliary for information concerning accomplishments of other departments. While State organizations, as a rule, follow the uniform plan outlined by national chairman, organizations occasionally some distinctive quality enters into the system.

In Ft. Bayard, N. M., where one of the largest tubercular hospitals in the country is located, an auxiliary unit has been organized by Mrs. Belle Nye, national committeewoman from Albuquerque. The unit is composed of disabled World War nurses.

The New York department is assisting the legion in raising an endowment fund of $2,500,000 for the Veterans Mountain Camp, in the Adirondack mountains. The camp is a home and hospital for veterans of all wars. Special consideration is given ex-service men not eligible to compensation. A non-sectarian chapel will be erected, at a cost of $10,000.

Last year, the department of North Carolina, with only sixty-two units, donated $250 to the national welfare fund. The quota to the grave endowment fund was exceeded by $88. The auxiliary provided furniture for the library and legion club rooms at the Olsen (N. C.) hospital. The department has contributed approximately $5,000 to welfare work.

Oklahoma stands second in the United States in percentage of gain in membership. This State more than doubled her membership during the year. Five hundred domiciled in the two Government hospitals in Oklahoma are cared for by the auxiliary. Fifteen new units have been organized.

Pennsylvania has a paid-up membership of 15,385. Several night schools have been established for foreign born.

Jam closets and cookie jars in hospitals in Oregon are kept filled by the units in this department. Assisting in community service work has been a special feature of auxiliary work.

WOMEN BEST IN CITIZENSHIP WORK

Judge Givan Speaks Before Republican Club.

"Women will do more good training persons in Americanization than men have," said Judge Clinton H. Givan, in a talk on "The Possibilities of Women in Politics," before the Indiana Women's Republican Club Thursday afternoon at the Claypool. He declared that women may help legislate against child labor, and in the interest of juvenile delinquents and assist in bettering public schools.

Mrs. Julia Belle Tutewiler, president, appointed these committees: Revision of constitution, Mrs. Melville Moon, Mrs. David H. Holsted, Miss Viola Baxter; educational, Dr. Marie Hasler, Mrs. Kate Milner Rabb, Mrs. E. M. Gardner, Mrs. Harriett Sharpe, Mrs. Stephen White. The educational committee is to have charge of a new $100 prize song contest.

In the speakers' bureau are Mesdames William H. Elizabeth Springer, Frank Lahr, O. C. Lukenbill, Charles Shaw, Harry Orloff.

'SMOKE POSTER' PRIZES Artists in Abatement Campaign.

The smoke abatement committee of the Women's Department Club is offering prizes for the best posters illustrating ill effects of smoke in Indianapolis. The contest is open to all. Rules may be obtained from Mrs. Guy L. Stayman, apartment 20, The Blachere.

Prizes are $25, $15 and $10. Judges: Miss Blanche Stiller, Randolph Leach, Charles Coates and Ralph Elvin. The work must be submitted to Mrs. Stayman before March 1.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO WALTER BURKE, CARE OF AMERICAN EXPRESS, CAIRO, EGYPT.

MY DEAR BURKE:

At your bank today they told me you could be reached at the above address. I am exceedingly anxious to know if you have any information as to the whereabouts of Harry Ellington. I have a hunch he is writing to some one in this city. If this is so, I want to know it, because if I can find that scoundrel I intend to bring him back to America, if possible, with some of his ill-gotten gains. You would be doing me a great favor if you know anything about his present place of residence if you would let me know.

Sincerely yours,
JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT.

PERSONAL APPEARANCE OF PAULA PERIER

Every one in town will want to see the famous moving picture star at the Criterion Theater Friday and Saturday of this week.

GET YOUR SEATS NOW!

From the Monday Evening Express

The Criterion Theater management at great expense has persuaded Paula Perier, who has made such a phenomenal success in pictures, to visit the theater on Friday and Saturday nights of this week. Miss Perier, who is well known in this city, having been model for the Acme Advertising Company for two years, will be remembered as being called the prettiest girl in town. She has many friends and acquaintances here, and nearly every one knows her at sight.

It is said that Miss Perier is more beautiful than ever, and it is more than probable her friends will entertain her much while she is here.

From the Tuesday Morning Times

The Acme Advertising Company petitioned the city council to remove the billboard in front of the Ward Park apartment. Mr. Prescott, who represented the Acme Company in the matter, insists that the advertisements displayed upon this board are garish and ugly, and are a source of nuisance to himself and his friends. Mr.

Prescott's apartment opens directly upon this billboard.

Telephone Conversation Between Mrs. Carlton Smith and Ruth Ellington.

"That you, Ruth?"
"Yes."
"Have you seen the morning papers?"

"I have no time for reading nowadays, you know, Mrs. Smith."
"Well, I just wanted to ask you if you had seen Jack Prescott's petition to have a billboard taken down from his apartment. Strange, it never bothered him until he found that Paula Perier's personal appearance was advertised on it. Isn't it a joke?"

"I don't know what you mean, Mrs. Smith."

"Well, I'm coming down to look over those negligees you are selling and then will tell you all about it." (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)
