

SEARCH STARTED FOR SECOND MAN IN MURDER CASE

Suspect in Rehnert Death
Questioned by Police
Detectives.

City detectives, an operative of the Wells Detective Agency and constables today searched for the associate of a man charged with vagrancy, who, police said, has been identified as one of two men who participated in the murder of John Rehnert, 55, of 3879 Byram Ave., in the office of the Allied Coal and Material Company, 2112 Northwestern Ave., Monday, Jan. 28. Charles Blackwell, colored, 1135 N. Missouri St., a driver for the company, who was returning from a delivery when the murder occurred, is said to have identified the man held as the one who ran out of the office and joined the other in an automobile.

The prisoner, who is 22 years old, and lives in the south side of the city, was taken into custody by Doak L. Wells, head of the agency, 1136 N. Olney St., and C. W. Freeman, a county constable, into Monday.

Released by Police

He was questioned in the office of the prosecutor by Deputy Prosecutor Carl Humble and Investigator Claude Worley. Later, Police Detectives Barnaby, Harren, McMurty and McGinn took him into custody and sated him at the city prison.

The constable had charged the man with vagrancy at the court of W. A. Conner, 201 Baldwin block. It is understood detectives were looking for the man as a suspect in auto thefts, when they learned of his arrest.

Wells said the young man also was suspected of the robbery of several grocery stores.

History of Murder

The day of the murder two young men drove up to the coal office in a red roadster. While one stood watch, the other ran into the office and in less than two minutes Blackwell saw him leave and both sped away. Blackwell discovered Rehnert, dead, on the floor. The day's receipts were intact in the cash drawer.

The car later was found at Tenth and New Jersey Sts. It was stolen from 357 N. Illinois St., a short time before the murder. An empty .38-caliber shell was on the right running board.

Debs' Condition Not Alarming

By Times Special
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Feb. 5.—The condition of Eugene V. Debs, Socialist leader, is not alarming, Mrs. Debs said today.

Although Mr. Debs is extremely weak and under the care of a physician, he is not confined to his bed.

BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR 30 YEARS

"It Did Me Good," Says Painter,
Who Uses It for Headache,
Indigestion and Liver Trouble.

"I don't just remember how many years I have used Black-Draught," says Mr. Frank Burnett, a painter and song writer, of 200 Park St., Bowling Green, Ky., "but I've used it longer than I've known my wife—that is over thirty years—and I've found it a wonderful friend."

"When a young man," he says, "we kept Black-Draught in our home and I would take it for headache, indigestion and liver trouble. It did me good. I used it on until we married, and then my daughters grew up and they used it, and we hardly know how to get along without it."

"I am a painter and the paint affects the stomach. When I need anything for stomach trouble, I take a good dose or two of Theodor's Black-Draught and I am all right. . . . It relieves indigestion and cleanses the liver best of anything I ever used."

Theodor's Black-Draught has been a well-known, successful liver medicine for over eighty years. Made from selected medicinal roots and herbs, and containing no dangerous mineral drugs, it is nature's own remedy for a tired, worn-out liver.

Rastelli Puts Science Into Juggling; New Definition of Cave Man Is Found

By WALTER D. HICKMAN
WHEN you were in high school juggling was not listed as a science.

After you see Enrico Rastelli at Keith's this week you will agree that this man has made juggling a great science.

In vaudeville we generally feel that a juggler is a person who either opens or closes the bill. Not so with this man from Italy. He headlines the bill.

Juggling is a science. It requires brain work and a lot of steady nerve. Rastelli has mastered the trick of juggling. He elevates such entertainment to a high sphere. Even his more simple stunts reflect his wonderful power.

I have seen many jugglers but never have I ran across one who could come within a mile of this man. You will understand when you see him why he is headlined.

Pearl Regay with Lester Sheehan as a dancing partner offers an act of unusual merit, as they go in for character dance work. Their "Immigrant Rose" number is a splendid character study well done. Hal Finley is at the piano. Here is a dance act which makes you want to wait until the final drop of the curtain. One of the real reasons for visiting Keith's this week.

George McKay and Otis Ardine go in for individual and eccentric fun. They have a merry travesty on a dance act. Clara Howard sings a number of songs and changes her costume in a clever way right in full view of the audience.

Lulu McConnell, with the aid of Grant M. Simpson and William Simpson, still gather in the hearty laughs in a comedy affair called "At Home." This act is no stranger here. As it goes the act seems to reap more laughs.

Harry Norwood and Alpha Hall offer "It May Have Happened to You." Tex McLeod does a Will Rogers with ropes and conversation. H. and P. Beatz open the show with a balancing act.

Now we know what a cave man really is?

Answer: One who takes three drinks and then caves in.

That is the way Gordon and Rica permit you to make your own definition at the Lyric this week.

We dare you to keep from laughing at their "Spark Plug," a wildly cavorting beast which, upon scrutiny, is discovered to be nothing but a pocky dressed up. The challenge is flung down also with regard to that fearsome cigarette holder. And the three-story bicycle! The feminine member of this droll duo is a good dancer.

Monsieur Chabot is a "union musician," and, crotcheting after the fashion in vogue at Rotary Club luncheons, winds and sets an alarm clock before he begins his performance. Unfortunately, the accused thing breaks in on an excellent American shimmy executed by Mlle. Tortini. Chabot plays the piano while standing on his head among other tortuous ways not to be recommended for beginners and becomes violently acrobatic while playing his violin.

"In Transylvania," a rather elaborate one-act "musical comedy," is a pretty thing with some good fun mixed in. It concerns the attempts of the Duke of Transylvania to avoid matrimony. Of course, he is unsuccessful.

Stanley Chapman, laboring under the delusion that an upright piano has somehow become the Matterhorn or Mont Blanc, attempts to scale it—we are not punning! His fall from the summit and his many narrow escapes are convincing.

"Minnie and Jimmie," Bowery types, are represented by Knowles and Hurst. The "Gas Fitters' Ball" strut, especially made a hit.

We feared we were in for "Just another animal act" when the curtain disclosed Klutzing's Entertainers. The rest of the act is, but later some very unusual stunts are performed. Two cats jump from up "among the works" to the arms of the trainer. However, the spectacular part to us is when some twenty doves are released and circle about the audience only to flutter back one by one to perch on the outstretched arms of the trainer.

Mildred Melrose and company present a colorful act. Miss Melrose dances well and her two associates, a violinist and an accordion player, accompany her well.

Ben Turpin is featured in the film, "The Daredevil." (By Observer.)

Musical Cafeteria Is Now the Latest Place for Melody

The stage at the Palace for the first half of the week becomes a cafeteria during Benny Burton's Revue.

The act opens with two melody girls behind a cafeteria counter. They then dish up various melody dishes. One dish is a violin affair. One peppy dish turns out to be dancers. Then a whole musical meal is served by Benny Burton.

"SKINNY LIKE A SCARECROW"

Don't Let Folks Say This About You—It's Easy Now to Put on 10 or 20 pounds of Firm Healthy Flesh.

Since Science combined health-giving vitamins with organic iron, lime salts and other valuable nutritious elements into the simple tablets known as Mastin's Vitamin, millions have used this easy, economical way to gain weight and strength.

Mastin's Vitamin sharpens the appetite, relieves constipation, helps digest what you eat and turns food into "stay-there" flesh and rich red blood. While astonishing results are reported for nervousness, skin troubles, generally weak, run-down conditions and lack of vitality, it is chiefly recommended as a flesh-builder.

So if you want to quickly bring your weight up to normal and look and feel 100 per cent better, Mastin's Vitamin is just what you need. Recommended by Doctors, druggists, athletes, successful vigorous men, healthy attractive women and used by millions. Insist upon the name—MASTIN'S VITAMIN.

Success guaranteed or your druggist will give you back the little it costs for the trial—Advertisement

'Hunchback' Due at Circle Sunday

ton and some young men who play the popular jazz steps of the day.

Baxley is still impersonating an old man who refuses to grow old. He again has the services of Miss Porter. The singing and conversation, at times comical, is enacted in front of rather pleasing scenery.

The Ballyhoo Trio reminds one of the good old circus days with a clown, announcer and a slim man who twists himself into all kinds of shapes.

The Yankee Comedy Four just misses registering as they should because they place too much weight upon alleged comedy material instead of harmony. I believe that they have thought more of being different from other singing organizations of this class.

Nihla is announced as appearing in classic poses. This stunt was first done years ago when the movie industry was still an infant. No kick left in this act with a big city vaudeville audience.

The movie feature is "Daytime Wives," with Wyndham Standing. At 2 o'clock Monday afternoon all activities of the Palace were stopped during the funeral of Mrs. Shank. The quartette on the bill sang "Nearer My God to Thee" as the audience bowed its head for one minute.

A Different Type of Show on View at Capitol This Week

Burlesque shows of today follow no definite pattern.

Some run to the musical revue, others to musical comedy and some feature specialties and comedians.

"Talk of the Town," a Columbia wheel show now on view at the Capitol, runs to specialties. Eddie Hall is the chief comedian. He has his own brand of fun as well as funny clothes.

Under the head of specialists we first encounter Jahri and George, who play the Saxophone and the accordion. Parker and one of the comedians received the longest and shortest of it. These two men stop the show with their eccentric dancing. Texas and West are good singers because they know what they can sing best. Both are clever.

Pern La Roy has several energetic songs. Nettie Knide displays a rather stunning line of gowns. One of the best numbers of the show is comedy jazz band, in which such musical instruments as a jug, a tub and a washboard are used with melodious effect.

At the Capitol all week.

MARIE LOEFFLER IS BRIGHT SPOT OF "BITS OF HITS"

The bright individual hit of "Bits of Hits" on view at the Broadway is Marie Loeffler.

Here is one of those breezy little people who knows how to "sell" her personality over the footlights. She sings and dances well. One of her numbers is the well-known "Louisville Lou." She works with so much energy and pep that one gets the impression that her salary must have been recently raised or she runs the show.

Most of the action takes place at Atlantic City. Some of the comedy work is pointless on the part of the comedians. What we saw of the show it was clean. The chorus is only fairly trained.

SHOE STORES IN CITIES

Bulk of Specialty Shops Confined to Well Populated Areas.

Of 1,997 shoe stores in Ohio, 1,536, or 77 per cent, are located in the cities, while the remaining 461 are found in 166 rural communities, says a report of the International Magazine Company's marketing division.

The investigation has been carried on to prove to manufacturers that retail outlets specializing in one kind of merchandise can exist only in the larger cities. The small town shoe merchants also handle such merchandise as harness, hardware and clothing.

French Cars Boycotted

Portrait 'Drawn' on Typewriter

A new medium has been added to the world of art in a drawing of the late President Wilson, standing on the steps of the White House, acknowledging with smile and tipped hat the invitation of the League of Nations to act as mediator for Armenia, executed entirely upon a typewriter. It is the work of Walter C. Galbraith, 1030 St. Paul St., C. P. A., with O. C. Herdich & Co., 311 Merchants Bank Bldg. Included also are outlines of a map of the United States, the Capitol at Washington.

the Statue of Liberty, a cross and crown, and an outline of the map of Europe. The drawing is the reproduction of a dream Galbraith said he had Dec. 4, 1920.

It sums up like this:

First—the very best Burley tobacco that old Kentucky grows, then—every single bit of it thoroughly aged in wood to take out the raw strength and make it mild and mellow, and give it a fine flavor.

That's what you get when you ask for Velvet Tobacco. Remember—aged in wood.

GAINS WEIGHT AND COLOR THROUGH WONDERFUL TONIC

Mr. Harry L. Hinman, Indianapolis Man, Regains Vigorous Health Through Taking Todd's Tonic, With Its Strength-Building Qualities of Rare Old Wine.

"I suffered from stomach trouble, indigestion, bad breath and a bad taste in my mouth. In the morning when I awoke I always had this bad taste in my mouth and often had headaches, too. I was also bothered with indigestion all the time and suffered from stomach trouble for three years. Then a demonstrator induced me to take Todd's Tonic and I did and I want to say that now my breath has lost its bad smell and the disagreeable taste I had in the last six months has left me entirely. I am not troubled with headaches any more, and I no longer have that dull, tired feeling. That chalky white color has left my face and in its place I now have the bloom of health. I have gained seven pounds in weight since using Todd's Tonic. I also used the tablets and as a result I have been relieved of constipation. I recommend Todd's Tonic because it brought me great relief." HARRY L. HINMAN, 684 Arch Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Todd's Tonic, with its wine-like flavor, is most pleasant to take. Sold at Haag Drug Company's 8 stores, and other good drug stores in Indianapolis.
