

BUST TO BE ERECTED

City Employees Arrange for Bronze Likeness of Mrs. Shank.

City employees will honor the memory of Mrs. Sarah Shank by placing a bronze bust of her in the main corridor of the city hall, according to plans under way today.

A committee consisting of Charles A. Bookwalter, park board president; R. Walter Jarvis, park superintendent; John J. O'Brien, fire chief; Herman Rikhoft, police chief; John Elliott, city engineer; and Mrs. Mary Riddle, weights and measures inspector, will arrange a subscription among city employees. The cost is estimated at $5,000.

Myra Reynolds Richards, sculptor-ess, will design the bust. Mrs. Shank was the first woman connected with the city administration.

PENNSY MEN TEST HIGH

Examinations Show Many Employees 99 Per Cent Efficient.

How train accidents caused by "man failure" are prevented on the Pennsylvania Railroad System is shown in a report just compiled by the chief of transportation, according to word received by local Pennsy officials. The report covers "efficiency" tests to determine whether employees engaged in train movement are properly observing signals, operating rules and other safety precautions. Results of these tests show as high as 99.9 per cent efficiency on the part of employees.

Under the plan in effect on the Pennsylvania, thousands of these tests are made every month. During the month of December, the latest for which figures are available, more than 62,000 individual tests were conducted in the four operating regions of the system. In November, 66,000 were made. The purpose of these tests is to insure as far as possible the actual observance of safety rules and devices by the men in charge of trains while they are out on the road.
