

HOPE FOR REFUND OF AUTO LICENSE EXCESS STRONGER

Attorney General's Opinion in Fee Tangle to Be Ready
Soon.

Hope for immediate refund of excess motor vehicle license fees, as a result of a decision of Supreme Court holding the 1923 law unconstitutional, appeared stronger today.

Officials at the office of Attorney General U. S. Lesh, unwinding yards of legal red tape, said they believe a possible way exists for prompt return of approximately $1,000,000 to Hoosier automobile and truck owners.

"The opinion may be ready by Friday or Saturday," Edward White, assistant attorney general, said today. Lesh was ill at his home with a severe cold.

A technical point of whether money deposited at the office of the Treasurer of State and placed by him in a State depository is legally in the State treasury is the question involved.

The money, if legally in the State treasury, cannot be withdrawn, it is agreed, unless by legislative authority. The State ended its fight in defense

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE IS GIVEN

Speaker Declares Theological Thought Is in Error.

The most grievous error of scholastic theology is that of ascribing the power of Jesus over evil and sickness to the realm of miracles, said John Randall Dunn, Boston, Mass., member of the board of lectureship of the Church of Christ Scientist in a lecture at the Church edifice, 3348 Washington Blvd., Tuesday.

"Nineteen centuries ago the Great Teacher of Nazareth pointed the way out of human discords. But have mortals ever really accepted Jesus as the greatest healer of disease ever known? Have they realized that on the shores of Galilee were given scientific rules which will solve knotty problems of existence, of labor and capital, of supply and demand, of men and nations?"

The lecturer described the childhood and later experiences of Mary Baker Eddy in developing her belief. Mrs. Eddy healed herself of sickness and was able to heal others with the might and glory of the Word of God, he said.

NEAR EAST STILL CALLS

Relief Worker Says Wilson Would Have Prevented Suffering.

If Woodrow Wilson's ideals had been respected, the Near East situation would not be the black page in history it is today, Dr. John R. Voris of New York told a group of citizens representing relief interests, at the Columbia Club.

Thousands of children will die if America slackens relief measures, Dr. Voris said. Sixty thousand children now are under American protection. Relief work will be necessary five years longer, Dr. Voris said.

Thomas C. Day, treasurer of Near East Relief Funds, presided.

The War on Waste

WASTE is the result of misdirected energy.
It is like dirt—matter out of place.

The history of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) success may be summed up in two words "Industrial Husbandry" which is another way of saying "Eliminating Waste."

In a big organization such as the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) there are innumerable opportunities to waste time, effort and material.

By intensified organization, by providing proper facilities, abundant raw materials, pleasant working conditions, and by encouraging initiative—the Company makes it possible for every man in its employ to develop the best there is in him and to conclusively prove his worth by his achievements.

Through intensive study and extensive research and experiments, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has found ways to recover more than a score of useful products from waste—products that fill a definite place in the commercial or domestic affairs of mankind.

Time was when gasoline was waste in the petroleum industry. Today, it is the major product.

Perhaps the outstanding example of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) achievements, in eliminating waste, is in the increased yield of gasoline per barrel of crude made possible by processes discovered and developed in its laboratories.

This achievement is the greater because of the imperative urge for more gasoline.

In 1918 there were 6,146,617 cars and trucks registered in the United States. In 1922 there were 12,239,114—or an increase of nearly 100%.

In 1918 the industry produced 326 million barrels of crude, as against 501 million barrels in 1922—an increase of only 53% plus.

Statistics show that while less than 10 gallons of gasoline were recovered per barrel of crude in 1918 that the industry increased the yield to more than 12 gallons per barrel in 1922.

This increased yield was due largely to the process as developed by this Company, and without such an increased yield the price of gasoline unquestionably would be higher.

Thus does the war on waste, waged so intensively by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), redound to the lasting benefit of mankind and also enable the Management of this Company to give a satisfactory accounting of its stewardship to the stockholders now numbering 45,286, more than 11,000 of whom are employees.
