

BULLET FRACTURES SKULL OF SENATOR GREENE, VERMONT

Stray Shot From Dry Agent's
Revolver Believed to Have Struck Solon.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—An X-ray photograph was taken today to locate a bullet which struck Senator Frank

Greene of Vermont last night as he was returning to his hotel with Mrs. Greene. The bullet, believed to have been fired by a prohibition agent pursuing bootleggers, struck Greene over the left eye.

At Emergency hospital, where Greene was taken, it was stated he had spent a restful night and that his condition "is very good."

The seriousness of his injury will not be known until the X-ray photograph is studied.

Greene and Mrs. Greene were approaching the hotel where they live and had just passed an alley when several shots were fired.

"I'm hurt," Senator Greene said, and collapsed.

Pedestrians ran to Mrs. Greene's assistance and the Senator was hurried to the hospital. The bullet, a hasty examination showed, seemed to have fractured the frontal bone of the skull.

Police arrested Prohibition Agent Otis Fisher, who was in the alley near the Greene home when the shooting took place.

Fisher and several Washington police had gone into the alley to locate a hidden store of bootleg liquor. Fisher saw bootleggers loading a still on a truck and ran toward them to intercept them. They fired at him, he said, and he fired four shots in return. One of these shots, whether fired by Fisher or the bootleggers, struck Greene.

All available detectives are hunting the bootleggers, who escaped in the confusion.

McADOO BOOSTERS RALLY TO SUPPORT IN CHICAGO PARLEY

Pre-Convention Conference
Sets Precedence in American Political History.

By United Press
CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Spurred on by a fervor likened to a holy crusade, supporters of William G. McAdoo for President are gathering for a reaffirmation of faith.

Primarily, McAdoo's followers were asked to attend the conference Monday to determine whether he still is available as a candidate in spite of his connection with the Teapot Dome investigation. The conference was called at the suggestion of McAdoo.

Telegrams of acceptance, accompanied by messages of encouragement, are pouring in from all parts of the country. They indicate the conference will:

1. Give McAdoo a clean bill of health.

2. Give him a vote of complete confidence.

3. Announce his availability is unimpaired.

4. Strive to show his name was dragged in the scandal by the Republicans in an effort to remove what the delegates claim is the strongest Democratic candidate.

McAdoo has made a sudden switch in plans and will not come to Chicago until Monday afternoon after the conference has adopted its report. McAdoo wants the conference to be a free, frank and open discussion of his merits and availability and does not want to embarrass the delegates by taking part or being in the vicinity of the deliberations.

Politicians hold the conference is without parallel in American political history. It is the first time on record a candidate has called what amounts to a pre-convention of his followers and placed his fate unreservedly in their hands.

Republicans and non-McAdoo Democrats scoff at the whole affair as being a piece of theatricalism. Judge Rockwell, McAdoo's campaign manager, holds McAdoo is in earnest and will step out of the race if his followers say so.

More than 300 delegates are expected. Thirty States already have been heard from. Farm and labor leaders and women prominent in politics are expected.

'DARE YUH T' CROSS THIS LINE!—WHAM!

Consensus of Opinion Seems to Favor 'Safety First' Attitude in Regard to Fisticuffs.

"Dare yuh to cross this line!" "You cross—double dare yuh!" Wham!

Remember the days when, with clenched fists, and head throbbing with anger, you dared Johnny across a line drawn with your toe, because you couldn't agree on whether or not he "hugged" in a marble game? Remember your black eyes?

What about your boy now—is that the way you want him to settle his difficulties? Local citizens aren't agreed whether this is the best way or not.

"Pugnacious Man"

"I believe the boy who is eternally going around with a chip on his shoulder will develop into a pugnacious, ill-tempered man," said the Rev. Allan B. Philpott, pastor of the Central Christian Church. "A boy should scrap, however, when other fellows try to trample his rights. That develops reliance and aggressiveness. The boy should fight when necessary—not otherwise."

Arbitration was advocated by Edward S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League. "I believe that boys' difficulties should be taken to a person older than themselves. Let each of them state his case, and abide by the decision. Fighting does not settle a question fairly, because the boy with the right principle is not always the strongest."

"Great American Way"

But—"Fists are the great American way of settling differences," said Adjutant General Harry B. Smith. "Boys carry a grudge about with them which may result in underhand methods, unless they fight it out. However, I don't believe in promiscuous scrapping. Fighting develops self-reliance, and also promotes health."

"I would advocate a Christian forbearance at all times among boys," said the Rev. Francis H. Gavis, rector of St. John's Catholic Church. "But when provocation is great enough, and when rights are being trampled on, I would recommend that boys take their own part. There is no reason for boys being cowardly. Cowardly boys make cowardly men."

Mrs. Charles H. Smith, 1025 S. Randolph St., president of the Parent-Teacher Association, advocates fighting only when absolutely necessary. "Pugnacious boys develop into pugnacious men," she said. "But I do think boys ought to be taught to take care of themselves."

Fight for Principle

"Boys ought not fight except when absolutely necessary. Presently they have to fight for a principle. Then it is justified. They shouldn't be allowed to go around with a chip on their shoulder." That is the opinion of Mrs. W. W. Reedy, 1332 E. Lafayette St., president of the W. C. T. U.

"Fighting never did settle a difficulty. The settlement always comes after the fight," said E. U. Graf, superintendent of the Indianapolis public schools. "In our schools we have ways in which boys may show aggressiveness, without fighting. School activities are the place to develop leadership—not with fists."
