COX INTENTION TO ENTER RACE PUTS OHIO IN LIMELIGHT

What Former Governor Does in Primary Watched by National Leaders.

By United Press
CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 21.—Ohio today became a political battle ground following announcement last night that James M. Cox, former Ohio Governor and defeated presidential candidate in the election, definitely had entered the lists as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President.

The battle is between Cox supporters and backers of William Gibbs McAdoo, California Democratic presidential aspirant, who is admittedly popular in the State.

What the former Ohio Governor does in the April primaries will have much weight with national leaders, local Democrats believed.

M'Adoo Quarters Silent

McAdoo headquarters, in charge of former Judge David Rockwell was silent today.

Supporters of Cox believe McAdoo adherents will not come out in an open, primary fight, but will name Cox in their delegate petitions.

This was seen in the filing Wednesday at Columbus of a declaration of candidacy as delegate of Harry H. Weiss, Canton. Weiss named Cox as first choice and James E. Campbell, former Ohio Governor second.

Cox's friends believe Weiss is a McAdoo supporter in disguise.

Cox Is in Miami

Cox is in Miami, Fla. His definite announcement to enter the race came, it is said, after he was assured in a letter from Campbell at Columbus that the Democrats of Ohio "were united in their desire to present Cox's name to the national convention as their choice for President."

NEW INVESTIGATION INTO ACTIVITIES OF BONDSMEN STARTED

City Judge and County Prosecutor Act to Stop Practice of Signing Bail With Property of Smaller Value
Than Amount of Surety.

Another investigation into activities of professional bondsmen in city and criminal courts was being conducted today by City Judge Delbert O. Wilmet and William H. Remy, Marion County prosecutor.

Remy said he is checking up on the amount of property owned by bondsmen as compared with the amount of bonds they have signed. Bondsmen are supposed to be required to own unencumbered property of twice the value of bonds signed.

The prosecutor said his investigation was prompted by discovery that a bondsman owning $600 worth of property had signed bonds totaling $21,800.

Old Question

The bondsman question has been before the city court for years. Judges,

JUDGE DECLARES WAR ON BATTLE OF TAXI DRIVERS

Chauffeur in Mixup With Policeman Says He Will Appeal Convictions.

"We are not going to have any taxicab war in Indianapolis," Judge Delbert O. Wilmet declared as he heard details of such a "war" in city court today.

Of eight taxi drivers who faced the judge, one was given a double fine, and cases against the others were dismissed or judgment was withheld. Wilmet warned that conviction on assault and battery charges might bring prison sentences.

Don Ewing, 21, driver of 133 W. Vermont St., was fined $1 and cost each on two separate charges of parking in a safety zone. He was arrested Wednesday at Illinois road Washington St. by Trafficman Daily and later was rearrested by Trafficman Willis.

A charge of profanity was dismissed, judgment was withheld on a charge of having no chauffeur's license, and Ewing was discharged on a charge of resisting an officer.

Ewing alleged he had been mistreated by Willis and displayed a torn overcoat. Walther Lieber, his attorney, said the incident "a disgrace to the police department" and declared he would take the case before the board of safety. Both convictions were appealed.

"We are not going to have the rights of citizens and traffic invaded by order that certain cab companies may do business," Wilmet asserted.

'SHANK TOO BUSY TO SEE JOB LACK'

Councilman Ray Answers
Mayor on Unemployment.

Mayor Shank "has been so busy attending fairs and horse races and making political speeches outside Indianapolis that he, personally, cannot know how serious unemployment conditions are in this city," declared Councilman Otto Ray today.

The mayor had opposed Ray's proposal that an ordinance appropriating $20,000 for extra city work to provide temporary jobs for hundreds of men be passed.

"In answer to the mayor's statement that I may have proposed the ordinance for political reasons because of my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for sheriff, the mayor will remember that when a similar ordinance was advocated by him two years ago there was no one stronger for it than I was. I fought for 40 cents an hour and the mayor for 25. He won. I was not a candidate then."

RIEDEL TO ORDER GENERAL INQUIRY ON FIRE ESCAPES

Safety Devices to Be Ordered in All Cases Where Law Is Violated.

Jacob Riedel, chief of fire prevention, announced today he would ask engineers in the city building department to investigate the fire escape situation in Indianapolis on buildings where there are fire escapes.

If inspectors find floor space and lack of stairway facilities demand additional fire escapes, they will be ordered installed, Riedel said. In some cases, buildings are adequately protected, Riedel said. The State law provides every building of more than two stories shall have fire escapes unless the fire chief shall issue a written permit that adequate provisions have been made.

Through an agreement, the State has given fire escape regulation to the city officials. Riedel has seven aides. His department ordered sixty-nine fire escapes installed in 1923.

Attention has been called to the fact that the Odd Fellow and National City Bank buildings do not have fire escapes. Although both buildings are fire-proof, danger of panic from smoke might result in casualties, Chief O'Brien said.

The auditorium of the Odd Fellow building might put that structure in the class of theaters accommodating over 300 persons, it was said. The State law requires certain number of exits depending on seating capacity.

Riedel today called attention to lack of inspectors both in his department and in State fire marshal and industrial board offices.

Officials of the city building department said safety measures and fire escapes are now receiving special attention in building permit applications.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promise of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicine preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation that I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Advertisement.
