LOCAL ORGANIST TO GIVE RECITAL IN CHICAGO

On next Wednesday night Charles F. Hansen, organist, will give a recital in the Bethany M. E. Church, Ashland and Winnemac Aves., Chicago.

In his recital Hansen will be assisted by the Arion Male Chorus of professional musicians, one of the noted organizations of the kind in Chicago.

INDIANAPOLIS MAENNERCHOR TO PRESENT ETHEL HAYDEN

Ethyl Hayden, soprano, will appear in recital Monday night at the Academy of Music under auspices of the Indianapolis Maennerchor.

In her short two seasons before the public Ethyl Hayden has already graduated from the overpopulated field of the "rising young artist" and gained a distinctive place in the ranks of recital and oratorio artists.

Analytical comparison of the critical comments on her singing reveals a unanimous appreciation of the marked personality of her art. The crystalline beauty of the voice has its share of praise, too. But as every one knows, beauty of voice alone is not enough to speed the singer toward the shining goal of his ambition. That indefinable quality which differentiates the great from the mediocre—and which for a better name some call a musical sixth sense—is the determining factor. This quality Miss Hayden possesses, as is instance, in the remarkable success which she has achieved in the short time since her professional debut.

STUDENTS TO GIVE RECITAL AND PLAY AT THE ODEON

Students of the Metropolitan School of Music will give a recital and play next Saturday afternoon, March 8 at 2 o'clock in the Odeon. The public is invited.
