$1,000,000 Raised to Assure
Project—Mass Meeting in Celebration.

By Times Special
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 18.—Citizens seemed assured of completion of the Griffy Creek water works project today.

Business was practically stopped here Monday while more than 10,000 citizens gathered in a great mass meeting at the courthouse and celebrated the subscribing of nearly a million dollars by business men of the town to finance the proposed water works, the solving of a water supply question of the town twenty-five years standing.

Every business house was closed and the town was decorated with flags. Citizens said the meeting the largest and most remarkable ever held in the city, not excepting political gatherings.

Short addresses were made by prominent citizens, including President William Lowe Bryan, Roy O. Pile, local banker; Judge Robert Miers, Edwin R. Fletcher, Judge Irvin L. T. Louden, president of the Local Council of Women, spoke. Mrs. Louden circulated a petition last week asking the mayor's sanction of the water works project. Mayor Harris has opposed the proposal.

College Professor Has Nerve Enough to Place Walt Whitman in Proper Place

What are you raving about now? And, believe me, I have the right to howl with joy.

But times do change. Here is a university professor who is brave and honest enough to give Whitman a definite place in American poetry.

TRYING TO START ON A SHOESTRING

Bridegroom-to-Be Lacks Sufficient Money for License.

For half an hour the couple labored filling out a marriage license application. Then the man, who gave his occupation as a dancing master, threw a $2 bill on the county clerk's counter.

"It'll be 50 cents more," he was informed by Deputy Clerk Ray Buenavage.

Frantic search of pockets unearthed some small change.

"Two dollars and thirty-five cents is all I got," the almost bridegroom said in a small voice, after an eloquent silence.

"Have you got 15 cents?" he asked, turning to his future cook.

"Haven't got a cent," she replied, and out they marched. They have not returned.

"Goodnight, Ray! Why didn't you loan me 15 cents?" indignantly inquired a woman deputy who is thinking of getting married.

"Yes, and about the first fight they would be holding me responsible for their marriage," explained Buenavage.

Fireman's Convention Arranged

By United Press

FT. WAYNE, Ind., March 18.—Plans for entertainment of delegates to the nineteenth annual convention of the Northern Indiana Firemen's Association to be held here June 18 and 19, will be formulated at a general meeting of committees here to-night.

The result has been that the paving outside the tracks has suffered, because water seeped under it from the unpaved track section, and because heavy vehicles broke chunks of paving from the unprotected edges next to the car tracks. Notable instances, according to Elliott, are the unpaved sections of tracks in the improved sections of Boulevard Pl. and E. Michigan St.

Under the franchise which the street railway company "got out from under" by surrendering to the public service commission in 1921, the utility agreed to pave its tracks at the same time the rest of the street was improved.

The administration of the late Mayor Joseph E. Bell had considerable trouble getting the company to abide by this agreement. The Charles W. Jewett administration carried on the fight with equal lack of success, and the Shank administration likewise has been unable to get the company to lay a single brick in such situations.

"Gentlemen's Agreement"

After the company surrendered its franchise, controversy raged for months as to whether or not it still was required to pave tracks or even keep track paving in repair. Finally the public service commission ruled the company should repair paving but need not pay for original paving.

The city was not satisfied with this and maintained its original position.

Cravens Says Republicans Owe It to Indiana to Get Governor Out.

By Times Special

LEBANON, Ind., March 18.—Senator Joseph M. Cravens of Madison, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, told party workers here Monday that honesty in government is more important now than new legislation.

Cravens said it was time for a house-cleaning at the Statehouse. He said there is much talk of calling a special session of the Legislature to impeach the Governor in case of his conviction. "The Republicans owe it to Indiana to get Governor McCray out of office without the use of legislative action," Cravens said.
