

VANDERLIP SEVERS HIS CONNECTIONS IN WALL STREET

Financier Will Give All Time to 'Dry Cleaning' Government at Washington.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 3.—Frank A. Vanderlip has cut loose from Wall Street.

With one stroke of his pen he severed all the ties that have bound him in company of the nation's mightiest money men and voicing regret his former colleagues were blind to conditions, bade them farewell.

He has resigned from all boards of directors on which he was a member.

Announced in Letter

His cutting adrift from Wall Street, to go on, unannounced by the criticisms of business associates with his "dry cleaning" of the government, was announced in a letter to E. P. Swenson, president of the Freeport Textile Company, New York. Swenson had asked Vanderlip to retire from that company's board because of his activities. Complaining Vanderlip said:

"I am quite willing to comply with your request. My one regret is that men with whom I have long been associated in business now are so blind to the present situation in the government at Washington.

Leaves Thought to Ponder

"I would leave with you and my other business friends one simple thought to ponder:

"If this country were suddenly to be faced by a great crisis in which there was need for brave, vigorous and honest action to protect our national life, would you be satisfied to face the emergency under governmental conditions such as have been the rule for the last three years?"

Vanderlip is director in the following concerns:

International Mercantile Marine, Union Pacific, Oregon Short Line Railroad, U. S. Rubber Company, U. S. Realty Oregon & Washington Railroad, Los Angeles & San Pedro Railroad.

SENATE INQUIRES ALL ABOUT STONE

Attorney General's Former Connections Questioned.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—With its eyes sharpened to pin points as a result of the scandals investigations, the Senate today began to take a long look at Harlan Fiske Stone, the new attorney general.

Stone's nomination followed by the discovery that he was for years connected with the law firm of Canfield Satterlee and Stone, Satterlee being the son-in-law of the late J. P. Morgan.

That circumstance was enough to cause general progressive Senators to today a careful inquiry into Stone's qualifications and connections would be made.

DEMOCRAT FIGHT FOR COUNTY WHIP GETTING WARMER

Brightwood Support Switches to Spiegel as Colored Men File Declarations.

Fight for control of the Democratic county organization between supporters of Russell J. Ryan, present county chairman seeking re-election, and John Spiegel, who has opened headquarters at the Denison Hotel to oppose him, reached fever heat today.

Former adherents of Ryan in the First ward, Brightwood, announced they had joined the Spiegel ranks when two colored men filed their intention to seek election as committeemen of the Eighth and Ninth precincts in the ward.

The two candidates are Ryan men, his opponents said, and filed at the suggestion of Louis Larsh, custodian of Technical High School, and Beverly Howard, colored politician of the First ward.

Howard Now G. O. P.

Although Howard worked as a Democrat in the 1920 election in the interests of Shank, Democrats said today, he has filed as Republican candidate for delegate to the State convention from the First ward in the interest of Shank.

The workers openly charged Shank interests with an attempt to obtain control of Democratic organization as well as Republican in the ward through the maneuvers of Howard. The plan is, they said, to leave Ryan in the cold after the precinct committeemen have been elected.

Ryan Incurs Wrath

A considerable faction of the party is disgruntled with Ryan because of his appointment of Humphrey Harrington as election commissioner, who is said to be opposed by the Klan. Other Democrats, especially in the west and southwest parts of the county, are "sore," they said, because the Democratic commissioners, John Kitley and John McCloskey, signed a contract to build the Delaware bridge over Fall Creek with out waiting until the city started on the Kentucky St. bridge over White River, according to a previous agreement.

Members of the board and representatives of the Troy Trailer Company, the board today postponed awarding contract for twenty-one trailers until April 22.

The Troy company submitted a bid of $1,145 each for the trailers, compared with a bid of $1,435 each by the Highway Trailer Company. John L. Elliott, city engineer and president of the board, said it appeared to him that the Troy company was trying to "skim through" and experiment at the expense of the city. Troy trailers have not proved satisfactory, Elliott said.

Russell MacFall, a member of the board, moved that the board buy sixteen highway trailers and five Troy trailers. The motion was seconded by Jay A. Craven, third member of the board, who then reversed his decision and voted with Elliott to kill the motion.

MacFall said he believed the city was experimenting when it purchased Troy trailers, but wanted to give the company "another chance." The city has had a Troy, a Highway and a Warner trailer under test for sixty days. Truly Nolen, superintendent of garbage and ash collection, said the Troy trailers had not proved satisfactory in dumping or in whipping into line when towed by trucks.

The board set May 5 as a time to receive bids for a $600,000 bond issue to finance construction of interceptor sewers along Fall Creek. The bonds failed to attract a bidder a month ago.

Bids were ordered received for four additional trucks costing approximately $5,000 each, on April 23.
