EXCLUSION POLICY IS FINAL, HUGHES TELLS JAPANESE

Secretary of State Replies to Pröte—Says Law Will Not Stand.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The American Government has decided that the law excluding Japanese immigrants from the United States, beginning July 1, is final, and no attempt will be made by the executive branch of the Government to supersede it.

This is the "keynote" of the reply of Secretary of State Hughes to the recent Japanese protest against the exclusion law.

The United States believes that to hold out hope of mitigating the exclusion law would only keep alive this satisfaction and antagonism between the two countries. It takes the attitude that all exchanges between the United States and Japan over the immigration controversy have been conducted in a spirit of friendship and understanding.

Hughes in his reply to Ambassador Hanabara said: "I take pleasure in noting your reference to the friendliness and candor in which your communication has been made and you may be assured of the readiness of this Government to consider in the same spirit the views you have set forth."

Hughes made it plain this Government desires to dispel all suppositions that in enacting the exclusion law the United States has violated the commercial treaty with Japan, the expiring gentlemen's agreement or the principles of international comity.

This Government holds the exclusion is no violation of the gentlemen's agreement as that pact is an undertaking entered into voluntarily by Japan which is to continue so long as conditions warranted. With the new immigration law, however, conditions have changed and the agreement is no longer necessary.

Hughes released Japan from all further obligation under the gentlemen's agreement after July 1.

GROOM HARRISON AS 'DARK HORSE' FOR DEMOCRATS

Mississippi Senator Boosted as Possible Compromise Candidate.

By FRAZER EDWARDS.

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 19.—Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi today took a practice gallop with the "Democratic dark horse" being groomed as compromise candidates in event of a deadlock between William G. McAdoo and Governor Al Smith.

Harrison held a conference with George E. Brennan, Democratic boss of Illinois and leader of the anti-McAdoo forces and Governor Smith.

Democratic leaders and delegates everywhere have only kind words for Harrison in the event of a deadlock was his far southern residence, his ability and all-around fitness were conceded generally.

He is a dry of Protestant faith, an orator of great ability and well known to voters. He will virtually write his own platform in his "key-note" speech.

Harrison sprang into national prominence at the San Francisco convention in 1920 when he was floor leader for James M. Cox.

With McAdoo and Smith in a hopeless deadlock, the Harrison boomers believe a combination of the Smith-Cox Underwood forces and a large draft on the favorite son vote could put the Mississippian over.

ST. PAUL CONFAB FAILS TO NAME OWN CANDIDATES

Communists Score La Follette—Say He Wants to Dominate Workers.

By United Press

CONVENTION HALL, ST. PAUL, Minn., June 19.—The national Farmer-Labor third party convention in its closing session today avoided endorsement of Senator Robert M. La Follette for President.

A majority report from the national committee leaving the question of a President and Vice President to the national committee was adopted by an overwhelming majority after a brief but spirited fight.

Farmer delegates joined with the communists for adoption of that plan.

"We can swing behind La Follette later if he runs," William Mahoney, Farmer-Labor leader, who previously had fought for endorsement of La Follette, declared. "Why should we invite him to slap us in the face again?"

"He doesn't want our endorsement and he should not have it," Delegate Morris Fromme of Wisconsin, representing the communist sentiment, told the convention.

A minority report was presented by Delegate DeLoach of Kansas, declaring "we favor La Follette for the presidency." This was greeted with silence and Taylor said: "I suppose you will rip me up the back."

When Taylor read the report a delegate from Kansas jumped to his feet and shouted: "Who do you consult the worker delegates in the Kansas delegation before you make a report like that?"

"I consulted the farmers in the delegation and I don't take orders from you," Taylor hurled back.

La Follette was ripped up and down the back by communists. Ben Gitlow, a New York representative of the Farmer Labor party, a communist organization—declared during the debate that "La Follette is not interested in the workers of this country—he is interested only in Senator La Follette."
