

FINAL TRIBUTE IS PAID MRS. BELL OF SCHOOL FAME

Came to Indiana Sixty Years Ago as Teacher—Known to Hundreds.

Just sixty years ago Ella Cannell, hardly more than a girl, came out of the East and took her place in the ranks of Indiana school teachers. Today, final tribute was paid to Mrs. Ella Cannell Bell, 83, widow of William A. Bell. At her home, 401 E. Nineteenth St., the Rev. William Caughran, pastor of the First Congregational Church, was to conduct services at 2:30 p. m., followed by burial in Crown Hill Cemetery. She died Monday after an eight weeks illness.

That the sixty years Mrs. Bell spent in Indiana left her mark on hundreds of boys and girls who came under her influence is attested to by many former pupils who continued to correspond with Mrs. Bell until her death.

Came at Close of War
She came to Indiana from her home in Westford, N. Y., at the close of the Civil War. After teaching for a year at Noblesville, she came to Indianapolis as a primary teacher. In June, 1866, she was promoted by the late A. C. Shortridge, superintendent of schools, to be first assistant at the Indianapolis High School, then located in School No. 1, Vermont and New Jersey Sts.

After marrying William A. Bell, editor of the Indiana School Journal, in July, 1871, Mrs. Bell continued to teach for a year. Later she did educational work through the Journal. When he sold the Journal in 1893, Mr. Bell paid high tribute to his wife, and revealed the fact that, although she had done the work of an associate editor, she would not permit her name to be used.

Mr. Bell was president of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, O., from 1893 to 1901.

When friends of A. C. Shortridge established a fund for him, Mrs. Bell became treasurer. Besides managing the fund, she gave a daughter's care to him.

In 1904, when School No. 60, Thirty-third and Pennsylvania Sts., was built, it was named for Mr. Bell. Mrs. Bell took great interest in it, and gave many presents to the building. This year, for the first time, she was unable to present diplomas to the graduates. She wrote them a note.

Surviving Mrs. Bell is one daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Gandy, of Indianapolis, and one brother, William Cannell, of New York.

WISE SILENT ON REPORT

Said to Have Had Trouble With Policeman in Theater

Walter W. Wise, president of the city council, today refused to comment on a report that he had trouble with a policeman in a downtown theater when he is late donning his slippers. At the same time, other patrons were not molested, it was said.

He indicated, however, that the council might investigate the way downtown theaters are complying with the safety ordinances regarding keeping exits and aisles cleared. Frequent reports have been made that many theaters have not complied with the municipal code.

Brazil Trouble May Become Real Revolution; They're Not 'Comic Opera' Wars, Writer Says

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Nea Service Writer

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The Brazilian rebellion may develop into a real revolution before it is done with, or it may be squelched for the time being. It can't be suppressed permanently.

This rebellion, in southern Brazil, has been going on three or four years now. This latest outbreak is one of its high spots. Sooner or later the rebels are going to "get away with it."

It's the fashion to refer to Latin-American wars and revolutions as "comic opera." Seen at short range they are not so operative—not so comic, either. For instance, two or three generations ago little Paraguay fought a "comic opera war" with the combined forces of Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay. Paraguay's population was a scant million, her combined enemies' population were about twenty times as great.

Paraguay Fought to Last

Paraguay provoked the war and she was beaten, but it took Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay several years to do it.

Paraguay's conscription age limits were 12 to 70. She was beaten because her males between those two ages practically were all killed from President Lopez down to little boys.

More recently Peru and Bolivia, on one side, and Chile on the other side, had a war—the one in which Peru lost Tacna and Arica, and Bolivia lost her "window on the Pacific." Chile won.

A regiment of Peruvian cavalry happened to be encamped at the top of a high cliff, overlooking the sea, at the time the news arrived of the Lima government's surrender.

"Heck!" screamed the Peruvian colonel. "They can't lick us!"

Unsheathing his sabre, put spurs to his horse, galloped straight for the edge of the cliff and jumped off, 400 or 500 feet into the Pacific ocean. Every single man in the regiment followed him. All perished.

A ridiculous stunt, of course! But not what you'd call comic.

Buenos Aires Uprising

A few months after the world war ended there was a soviet uprising in Buenos Aires, Argentine Republic. The government concentrated a force of troops in front of the houses of congress.

The rebels—men, women and little children—charged them. They kept it up, against machine gun fire, until 800 and some-odd were killed.

These were police figures. They were too small. Even after that, the fighting lasted two days more.

A revolutionist was shot during a fight in Calle Salspacha, one of the principal streets of Buenos Aires. He wasn't killed, but he fell, a freeman—they use freemen as soldiers in South America in emergencies—stepped up to him and blew his head to pieces.

I happened to see this little occurrence from my own doorstep. It simply illustrates how "comic" Latin-American revolutions are.

Republics All Jealous

South America is ripe for trouble. The South American republics are jealous of one another. No two Latin-American countries adjoin which haven't a boundary dispute.

The United States has intensified their rivalries lately. It has sent one naval mission to Brazil, to provide the Brazilians with a navy strong enough to dominate over all her neighbors. She has sent another mission to Peru, to provide the Peruvians with a navy to get back at Chile. Peru is only too anxious to get Tacna and Arica back from the Chileans.

Brazil and Argentina are traditionally at loggerheads. In connection with the present trouble in Brazil, the Rio de Janeiro government has complained that Argentine has encouraged the Brazilian rebels.

Brazil has about 30,000,000 population. Argentina has about 8,000,000. All the same, in a fight it's no cinch that Brazil would win.

Secession Possible

Southern Brazil is by nature a good deal more Argentine than it is Brazilian in makeup. And the southern Brazilian states geographically adjoin Argentina.

Southern Brazil, the garden spot of the new world, hates the half-breed government of the northern Brazilian states. It's only a question of time before it cuts loose from them. It may do it now or a little later. In the end it's sure to.

One of two things may happen: Southern Brazil may join Argentina. Or it may establish a republic of its own.

In either case it will absorb Uruguay.

'WAS BOSS ANYWAY'

Patrolman's Wife Is Made Sergeant and Outranks Him.

Patrolman Edward Moore of the boogie squads now leaves headquarters loaded with bundles and orders in general from his wife.

In fact there is nothing else to do but to do it, for she is now a sergeant on the force, and takes rank over her husband.

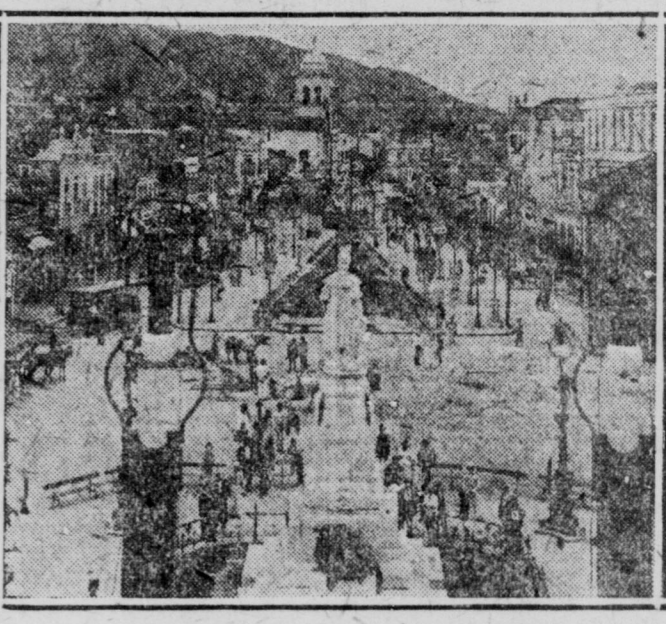

"But she was always the boss," insisted Moore when his officers began the "razz."

Mrs. Moore, formerly Chief Herman Rikhoff's secretary, was elevated to sergeant by the board of safety Tuesday, and was attached to the accident prevention bureau.

"Anyway our jobs don't conflict, and it's only for eight hours a day," said Moore in sizing up the situation.

BODIES FOUND ON TRACKS

Unknown Men Run Over by Two Trains at Princeton

By United Press
PRINCETON, Ind., July 16.—The badly mutilated bodies of two unidentified men are in the morgue here, having been picked up from the track of the Southern Railroad at Beck, four miles west of here today.

The men were believed to have been run over by a passenger train Tuesday. They were also run over by a freight train five hours later, according to the crew who picked the bodies up.

Authorities believed that the men had been walking and had laid on the tracks to sleep.

Only identification found was the name of Will M. Smith, Woodlawn, Ill., written on a slip of paper.

CHURCH AT WAR OVER PACIFISM

Younger Lutherans Denounce Peace Movement.

By United Press
ST. PAUL, Minn., July 16.—Two generations of Lutherans are at odds today over pacifism.

The Walter League, Young People's organization of the Lutheran Church, denounced pacifism and declared the movement "foetish Utopian hopes that never will be realized." A resolution was adopted advocating the lawfulness "of righteous wars."

Older Lutherans today looked askance at the resolution and some called it "radicalistic."

Speaking of the pacifist movement the resolution adopted declared it "runs counter to the experience and common sense of men, which does not accept the vagaries of modern pacifism; and because this movement imperils safety of a country, since its tendency is to undermine and sap the defensive strength of the nation, it constitutes a distinct national danger."

One of two things may happen: Southern Brazil may join Argentina. Or it may establish a republic of its own.

In either case it will absorb Uruguay.

EXPLOSIVES AS EVIDENCE BARRED

Three Men Arrested With Safe Blowing Outfit.

Refusing to allow nitro-glycerin found in a safe-blowing outfit seized from three men at the Broadway Hotel to be brought into Criminal Court, Special Judge W. W. Thornton today heard evidence in the trial of Alfred Smith, Chicago, one of the three.

Smith and two companions were arrested in bed at the hotel on a tip to Detectives McGlynn and McMurtrie. They were indicted on charges of illegal possession of explosives and carrying them on property without the owner's consent.

Detective McMurtrie said the men had police records in Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit. Smith, Roderick and Wolfe have served two terms each as safe-blowers, he said.

The third defendant gave his name as Jack Kline. All are from Chicago.

Car Is Stripped

His car was jacked up in his garage, and two tires, a timer, spark plug and coils, valued at $26, taken, Joseph Higgins, 417 Bright St., told police today.

HEADQUARTERS REMOVAL TALK INTERESTS CITY

Fifth Army Corps Offices May Be Taken Away From Columbus, O.

Chamber of Commerce officials were greatly interested today in a report that Fifth Corps Area Army headquarters is to be moved from Columbus, Ohio, and a movement to have it relocated at Indianapolis, was considered.

According to a report from Louisville, Ky., the visit of Maj. Gen. William J. Snow, chief of artillery at Washington, D. C.; Congressman Arthur Greenwood of Washington, Ind., in the second Indiana district, and several Indiana business men, to Camp Knox, Ky., scheduled for Thursday, has something to do with the proposed removal.

It is understood that the Pennsylvania Railroad desires to purchase thirty acres from the Government at the Army post, necessitating removal of the corps area headquarters.

Presence of Brig. Gen. Dwight E. Aultman, commandant of Ft. Benjamin Harrison, at Camp Knox, also was interesting to those investigating the rumor.

The corps headquarters was at Ft. Harrison before it was moved to Columbus and business men here thought the city has valid grounds for urging its return. Louisville will fight for removal of the headquarters to Camp Knox and West Virginia also is expected to enter the contest.

Those arrested Tuesday night were: Maurice Nicholson, 20, of 1612 Eugene St.; G. S. Lail, 57, of 1215 N. Holmes Ave. L. P. Morgan, 26, of Bridgeport, Ind.; F. B. Boughman, 53, of 2323 W. Michigan St.; Joe Beese, 42, of 704 S. Noble St.; Robert Gettles, 29, of 545 N. Meridian St.; Carl Moulden, 20, of 13 W. Market St.; Dan Sufree, 43, of 422 N. State St.; Don Mather, 21, of 1148 Prospect St.; George Sheely, 34, of 814 Maryland St.; Harry Taylor, 19, of 415 N. Delaware St.

WALKER ASKING SALARY INCREASE

Street Cleaning Budget $31,086 Over 1924.

The city street cleaning department, through John F. Walker, superintendent, today asked an increase of $31,086 to maintain the department in 1925. The request totals $194,170, compared to $163,084 last year.

Walker asked for an increase of $500 in his own salary, making it $3,300; $7,000 additional for labor, $2,350 for inspectors and $3,000 for teamsters.

Ray Wright, city purchasing agent, submitted a budget representing a decrease of $450 for 1925 to Joseph L. Hogue, city controller. The budget totals $16,520 for office supplies and maintenance.

The estimated expense of maintaining the park board and recreation center department is $617,000, an increase of $60,000, R. Walter Jarvis reported today. Of the amount $494,000 is for the park board and $123,000 for the recreation department.

The entire city budget will be ready for Mayor Shank's inspection Thursday.

Making 'The Fast Set'

Wilfred Buckland, supervising artist for William De Mille's Paramount productions, is at work on settings for Mr. de Mille's next picture, "The Fast Set," which is an adaptation by Clara Beranger from Frederick Lonsdale's New York stage success, "Spring Clearing."

KEEP UP DRIVE ON POOLROOMS, POLICE ARE TOLD

Mayor Shank Also Answers Councilman Ray's Attacks on Raids.

Keep up the war on poolrooms, was instructions given today at all police roll calls, despite criticism voiced at wholesale arrests made in the week-end drive.

Walter S. White, acting chief of police, today posted this notice:

"To all captains of police: "Due to the fact that large numbers of men are out of work in larger cities, many are flocking into Indianapolis. Instruct lieutenants, sergeants and district men to see that these men are kept on the move. Continue to clean up poolrooms and such places. When they are cleaned up, keep them that way."

"Let Councilman Otto Ray investigate me all he wants to, if he is such a good citizen that he doesn't know of vice conditions in many of our poolrooms."

This was Mayor Shank's answer to statements of Ray that the city council was investigating responsibility for clean-up order.

Gave Three Orders

"The truth about the matter is I gave orders to raid three poolrooms where we had frequent complaints of gambling and liquor selling," said the mayor. "The rest of the raids were in charge of the police and the board of safety, I suppose. But I'm backing all of the police in this campaign."

Ray said he believed officials directly involved in ordering the drive should be removed. He has asserted two attorneys have volunteered in handling cases of innocent persons taken in the raids.

Taylor Groninger, city corporation counsel, held the city is not liable for the acts of policemen while on duty, when told damage suits against the city were mentioned.

Breeding Place for Crimes

"Everybody knows a great many of our poolrooms are the breeding places for crimes," said the mayor. Ray admitted councilmen have talked informally of the wholesale clean-up, although no official action has been taken. Whether or not the special investigation committee of the council would take up the probe, was not stated.

"They'll never get a cent from the city to stand up for law violators if I can help it," said the mayor today when told of other probes under way. "It's a fine thing for the city council to stand in the way of law enforcement."

Ray also criticized transfer of three officers from the accident prevention bureau at Mayor Shank's direction and replacement of them by three persons whom the mayor recommended.

SPEEDERS FAIL TO HEED POLICE

Arrests Continue After Month's Drive.

Speeding continues to maintain its high standing in total number of arrests, police slates show today, and efforts of the police to suppress fast driving by arrests and raids to police headquarters in the patrol wagon seem to have no effect.

Harry Smith, in charge of the motorcycle division, said today the determination with which the motorist public continues to break the speed laws, has reached the alarming point. He said after four weeks of drive, and arrest and conviction of hundreds, the total of arrests continue to be as large as they were at the start.

Those arrested Tuesday night were: Maurice Nicholson, 20, of 1612 Eugene St.; G. S. Lail, 57, of 1215 N. Holmes Ave. L. P. Morgan, 26, of Bridgeport, Ind.; F. B. Boughman, 53, of 2323 W. Michigan St.; Joe Beese, 42, of 704 S. Noble St.; Robert Gettles, 29, of 545 N. Meridian St.; Carl Moulden, 20, of 13 W. Market St.; Dan Sufree, 43, of 422 N. State St.; Don Mather, 21, of 1148 Prospect St.; George Sheely, 34, of 814 Maryland St.; Harry Taylor, 19, of 415 N. Delaware St.

FUNNY BOOK MARKS

About Anything Flat Is Used from Chocolate Bars to Bacon.

All sorts of funny things happen about the City Library. One of the most interesting is the markers people leave in returned books, according to Miss Mary Dyer Lemon.

An insurance policy was about the most valuable find.

"We find chocolate bars, toothpicks, matches, $1 bills, hair pins, and occasionally a touching love letter," said Miss Lemon.

"One time one of the girls found a slice of fat bacon soaked in through the book," she said.

TRUCK DRIVER IS HELD

Accused of Throwing Rock and Driving on Wrong Side.

Homer Peters, 25, of 525 W. Norwood Ave., is held by police today on a charge of throwing a brick and failure to drive a slow moving vehicle on right side of street.

Peters, who was driving a gravel truck north on Brookside Ave., swerved into a truck driven by W. H. Ostermeier, 265 Park View, when he blew his horn and started to pull around him, police charge. Peters is alleged to have thrown a brick.

Parrot Talked Too Much

Polly, family parrot in the Simon Silverberg household at Baltimore, Md., became an important witness, in Mrs. Silverberg's suit for separation from her husband, Mrs. Silverberg (shown above) had been away on a visit and upon her return, found the parrot shrieking the name of "Cora"—at least, such is the allegation. Now Mrs. Silverberg's name happens to be Rose, and she became suspicious. She won her court action.

BOOTLEGGERS AT FT. WAYNE DODGE FEDERAL AGENTS

Morgan Says No Evidence Upon Higher Officials Has Been Uncovered.

Liquor raids now in progress at Ft. Wayne will not result in Federal grand jury investigation of Allen county and Ft. Wayne officials unless there are unexpected developments, Bert C. Morgan, Federal prohibition director for Indiana, who is in charge of the raids, said today over long distance telephone.

So far there is no evidence of conspiracy involving officials has been uncovered, he said, and all liquor law violations have been simply individual cases.

Wardens by nineteen arrests on Tuesday, bootleggers and blind tiger operators made themselves scarce in Ft. Wayne today. Of the eleven warrants which were to be served today not one had been served by noon. Among those arrested was Roy Grabbitt, former patrolman and police desk sergeant.

Operated Openly

Federal agents reported that Ft. Wayne had not learned its lesson of last year when more than eighty men and women received jail sentences running as high as six months at the hands of Judge Albert B. Anderson in Federal Court here, on pleas of guilty to violating prohibition laws. In some places they said bars were being operated almost as openly as in pre-prohibition days.

Among those arrested was George McCarthy, brother-in-law of William J. Hogue, mayor of Ft. Wayne, who was released from the Marion County Jail only two months ago, after serving a six months' sentence.

Winked at Law

At the time the cases were heard Judge Anderson said he could not understand why Ft. Wayne and Allen County officials were not indicted. He brought out admissions from defendants that police authorities knew about flagrant liquor law violations and winked at them.

It is not known whether the Federal grand jury will be asked to investigate conduct of city and county officials, as was done in the Gary cases two years ago.

Those arrested Tuesday were: Louis W. Gremaux, William Hall, Calice Hunter, William Walda, Ed Jaucka, Earl King, Milo Wilhelm, Bruno Redmerski, Floyd McCurdy, Edward Romagay, George Thomas, Theodore Henry, Demont Taylor, Parry Overhulser, William Fraine, John Weidman and John Kelly.

CLINE CHARGES FINALLY REACH REMY'S OFFICE

Conference on Grand Jury Investigation to Be Held by Attorneys.

Attorneys for the city council and Prosecutor William H. Remy will hold a conference in the near future relative to grand jury investigation of the council's charges that Fred Cline, ex-park board commissioner, misused his office for private gain.

Frank A. Symmes, of the law firm of Robinson, Symmes & Melson, one of the attorneys for the investigating committee of the council, today said he and Remy had set last Wednesday for the conference, but it was postponed.

"The prosecutor has had the council report on the Cline matter for some time," said Symmes. "I did not think it advisable to say anything about it until the committee had ratified my action in furnishing him a copy of the report, which they have now done."

According to report of the council's investigating committee, Cline, while serving on the park board, made profits through sale of land to the city near Long Hospital, and to oil companies for filling stations along boulevards. The sales were made through the Sunnyside Realty Company, in which Cline was interested, it is charged.

According to the report a profit of about $38,000 was made on the deal with the city, the land being bought for $40,000 and sold to the city for $78,000, the park board making the purchase.

Cline also used his position on the park board to obtain permits for filling stations on boulevards and sites purchased from his company, according to the report.
