

DETECTIVES SAY ARREST CLEARS GROGER'S MURDER

Man Held in Seattle, Wash.,
Wanted Here in Abner
Peek Case.

Detective Inspector Jerry E. Kinney today wired Seattle (Wash.) police that Ralph H. Lee, 26, who is under arrest there as an escaped convict from the Reformatory at Pendleton, Ind., is wanted here for the murder of Abner A. Peek, 49, of 2340 Speedway road. Peek was shot fatally when he resisted a hold-up at his grocery at Tibbs ave. and Speedway road, on the night of July 3. In making the fact known that Lee is wanted Kinney also disclosed evidence he says his department holds on Lee.

The wire that was received here disclosed that Lee's wife, who is also held there, gave the Seattle police information on what Lee was wanted for, and caused the query to be sent here asking if he was wanted.

Kinney said that the investigation of the murder of Peek gave them a description that tallied with Lee. Lee was being sought here after his second escape within a week from Indiana State Reformatory at Pendleton, where he was serving a sentence on a burglary charge. After his first escape, April 24, he was arrested the next night at the home of his mother, Mrs. May Lee McIlvaine, 4059 Cornelius ave., by Sergeant Brennan and squad.

Learn of Marriage

Detectives McMurry and McGinnis learned that about the first of June, Lee had married a girl named Dorothy Vagley of 1102 Tibbs ave., about four blocks from the scene of the shooting.

On the night of the shooting the bandit entered the store and, pointing a gun at Peek, his brother, Fred, and his father, J. W. Peek, said: "I am going to hold up this place." Abner Peek reached for his gun and the bandit fired, striking Peek in the head. Fred Peek then took the gun and ran after the fleeing bandit, who turned in the middle of the street and fired back.

McMurry said he learned that on July 4, Lee and his bride were to go to a picnic, but that he was nervous and insisted that she accompany him and that they left town early in the morning.

Habeas Corpus Proceedings

Judge T. J. Moll of Superior Court, Room Five, was to hold a habeas corpus hearing this afternoon, asked in proceedings brought by Mrs. Ethel F. Denny, Stop 4, east of Indianapolis on the National road, who declares her husband, Edward L. Denny, was arrested Monday on charges of insanity. Sheriff George Snider was named defendant.

Denny is held at the county jail waiting commitment to the insane asylum. According to the proceedings an insanity inquest was held by Justice of the Peace John B. Mullane of Warren Township, who declared him insane.

Mrs. Denny claimed her husband was sane and that her husband never knew of the inquest until he was declared insane. Insanity statutes were declared unconstitutional by Mrs. Denny.

King Jazz Is Dead, Declares Local Dancing Master

MR. AND MRS. R. L. SULLIVAN SHOWING INCORRECT DANCING POSITION (LEFT) AND CORRECT POSITION AT RIGHT.

King Jazz is dead. Earmarks of the more stately and modest dance of yesterday are to return, according to predictions of dancing teachers.

"All dances are slower this year, and the tango is taking the place of fox trots," said R. L. Sullivan, dancing teacher, 1512 W. Washington St. A few fast dances remain.

The picture shows Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan demonstrating the proper and improper positions. By standing in the proper position, any step can be taken.

"Jazz music is being eliminated. It is more of a noise than it is music, because there is no rhythm thereto. It causes dancers to make many improper steps. That is why dancing masters disapprove of it," said Sullivan, who warns students against imitating freak movements.

United Professional Dancing

Masters Association of America, allied with United Kingdom of London, of which Sullivan is vice president, asked New York Music Association last year to compose better music. It also went on record this year favoring elimination of jazz. Sullivan is also a member of International Association of Masters of Dancing.

Some new dances this year: Paragon fox trot, club fox trot, oboe, modern waltz, Nuro fox trot and Raggedy Ann fox trot.

Pastors Here Favor 'Just Penalty' for Rev. Hight

INDIANAPOLIS ministers are of the opinion that the Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, former jockey and circuit rider, "I am going to hold up this place," Abner Peek reached for his gun and the bandit fired, striking Peek in the head. Fred Peek then took the gun and ran after the fleeing bandit, who turned in the middle of the street and fired back.

MATTHEW F. SMITH, pastor, First Presbyterian Church, 2009 N. New Jersey St.: "I was brought up on the old-fashioned doctrine that a man is responsible for his own acts. We all agree that the man who deliberately commits murder is a menace to society, and until pardons and paroles are abolished, I believe the death penalty must be favored in such cases as have occurred in Illinois recently. I would include the Lee-Peek case among them. We have sown the winds in a lot of foolish teaching in our new science and psychology to the effect that a man is not always responsible when he goes wrong. Society will reap the whirlwind unless we find methods sufficiently drastic to defend ourselves.

O. A. TRINKLE, pastor Englewood Christian Church, 19 N. Rutland St.: "This pastor must have been over-persuaded by his infatuation."

VIRGIL E. RORER, pastor Meridian Street Methodist Church, 1916 N. Meridian St.: "I would want to hear the evidence first. I know nothing of this case except the press reports."

E. W. DUNLAVY, Pastor Robert Park M. E. Church—Hight should be treated like any other man. I don't know the facts in the case, but, if he is guilty, he should suffer the same as any other person. He should not be given consideration just because he is a pastor.

DR. M. E. HYDE, 347 Layman Ave., Pastor of the Grace M. E. Church—If proven guilty Hight should be treated like any other individual, regardless of the position he has held in the church. Personally, I am not in favor of capital punishment, but justice should be given him like any other individual.

DR. J. E. SHARP, 429 Buckingham Dr., was elected moderator of Central Baptist Association today, succeeding the Rev. F. E. Webb, pastor of College Avenue Baptist Church, at a meeting at Woodruff Place Baptist Church. The Rev. H. B. McChesnan, pastor Emmanuel Baptist Church, was chosen clerk and treasurer, succeeding Dr. Sharp.

About 150 attended representing twenty-two churches in Indianapolis and Marion County.

"The External Circumstance" was the theme of the annual sermon by the Rev. C. H. Sheick, pastor of Lyndhurst Baptist Church.

Rev. Sheick pleaded for greater flexibility in methods of gospel work. He said the church should not be identified with degrading forms of life, but after and adopt a program to increase the number of souls saved.

"Modesty is the biggest line for morality and can be used for impressing the virtues of Christ," he said.

"Greater development of Baptist conscience is needed," said the Rev. E. A. Hayward, executive secretary Baptist Federated Churches, who spoke on "Our City Work."

Rev. Hayward said "we must find a common ground and work, play, and pray together."

Report Made

State of religion report made by the Rev. P. J. Morris, pastor Emerson Avenue Church, showed 318 baptisms and 509 admitted by letter in Indianapolis churches this year. Expended for missions, $73,000. Eighteen daily vacation Bible schools were conducted, and four week day schools are now in progress.

Selection of next meeting place and other routine business was considered this afternoon.

Principal speeches this afternoon were: "Americanization Work," by Miss Gay Harris; "Practical and Missionary Work in the Sunday School," Dr. O. R. McKay, and "Religious Literature," by the Rev. C. E. Parsons.

Talks by E. S. Schumaker, superintendent Anti-Saloon League, and Miss May Phillips, who will speak on "Burma," are scheduled for tonight.

His first hearing of importance will be Friday at 10 a. m., when a petition will be presented by Solon J. Carter and Charles Martin, Indiana attorneys, asking an injunction filed by the Hawkins Mortgage Company, July 26, be stricken from the files. The Hawkins petition termed several prominent Indianapolis attorneys "conspirators" in an alleged scheme to dissipate the assets of the company.

MERCHANTS HEAT AND LIGHT PAYS HONOR TO PERRY

Offices to Be Closed During Funeral—President Accords Tribute.

L. B. Andrus, president Merchants Heat and Light Company today paid tribute to the late C. C. Perry, president of the Indianapolis Light and Heat Company.

M. K. Foxworthy, vice president and general manager of the Merchants announced the Merchants office would be closed from 2 to 4 p. m. Thursday, during the Perry funeral.

His Tribute

To me, who has had the opportunity and pleasure of a close acquaintance with Charles C. Perry, and often referring in the nature of utility business relations, the opportunity of intimate and close association, the news of his death comes as quite a shock.

Our acquaintance in the utility field of operation is one of long standing, and in recent years when representing the interest of the Merchants Heat and Light Company, in the many difficult problems arising in common in the utility field Mr. Perry's appreciation of the other fellow's position, his attitude in the matter of human relationship between men and his good and strong character always made it a pleasure to counsel with and seek his advice on larger problems arising in the business of conducting utility operations in Indianapolis.

Student of Men

I know that Mr. Perry was a great student of the men who were working with him in his company. I know from personal contact with him that he would observe characters of the men who were working for him and the influence of their experience, also their temperament and their general views on related questions.

In utility matters he would observe those things that make for efficiency and also the things that were impediments to the conduct of the business. He would do this without malice or hard feelings, but rather with a sincere desire to find out the best way of conducting the business as a whole.

I know that Mr. Perry's ambition was to have his company perform its work in the most ideal way, as he was firmly of the belief that it was the activities of today which would shape the future.

Mr. Perry was a power in the Indianapolis utility field, yet he had the faculty of exercising such power, in respect of authority, and in his death the utilities of the State have suffered a real loss.

It was said Roper had obtained orders for coal for a deposit of fifty cents to be delivered any time. When the Bethel Coal Company didn't produce the coal, citizens notified Kaplan. It was alleged, Kaplan declared Roper was not employed by the company, but Roper produced a contract that had been signed by an employee.

Campaign DAY BY DAY

John W. Davis' reply to former Attorney General Daugherty's letter criticizing the Democratic candidate's remarks about him, furnished the overnight political sensation. Democrats saw in it an opportunity to keep alive their standard bearers' "honesty in Government program."

Davis was expected to use the Daugherty letter as ammunition in his coming speeches in West Virginia and Delaware.

The independents also seized on the Daugherty letter in which Clayton B. Means was quoted as repudiating his tests for the Senate committee investigating the Department of Justice. Senator Wheeler, vice presidential candidate, issued a statement en route to St. Paul for a political speech, declaring the investigating committee must respect its hearings immediately.

Republicans were irritated by a speech of Senator Caraway of Arkansas before a Democratic Club in which the Senator read a speech he said Secretary of the Navy Willbur had intended to deliver in Denver in support of the League of Nations. President Coolidge took no official notice of the incident.

G. O. P., politicians were watching the New York State situation closely as the national campaign probably will be affected clearly by developments at the party State convention in Rochester, where Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt seems to be the best bet for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. The Democratic State convention opens in Syracuse Thursday and probably will nominate Governor Al Smith for reelection by acclamation.

Results of New Jersey primaries in which United States Senator Edge was re-nominated over Republican National Committeeman Keen, were not considered of great importance in the national campaign.

Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans denied any political expediency was followed in calling the konklave. But he did go so far as to say the Klan was "dead against" Senator Robert M. La Follette as a presidential candidate.

"The Klan always will strike directly at movements of intrigue such as La Follette and Wheeler are now making. La Follette is un-American," was the imperial wizard's verdict.
