CHINESE BATTLE FOR SHANGHAI

Bombardment Shakes City
as Fierce Struggle Rages.

By United Press
SHANGHAI, Sept. 29.—The fiercest battle of modern China history raged along the Shanghai front today. Apparently it is the final phase of the conflict.

Chi Hsieh Yang's troops attacked first, hurling back Chinese forces who made gains in a surprise attack Saturday, but the battle assumed such intensity it seemed both sides were on the offensive.

Artillery, bombing planes and machine gun fire kept up a terrific bombardment that shook Shanghai. Casualties were large and stench of unburied dead twelve miles from Shanghai drifted over the city. A plague was threatened.

'MA' FERGUSON HELD ELIGIBLE

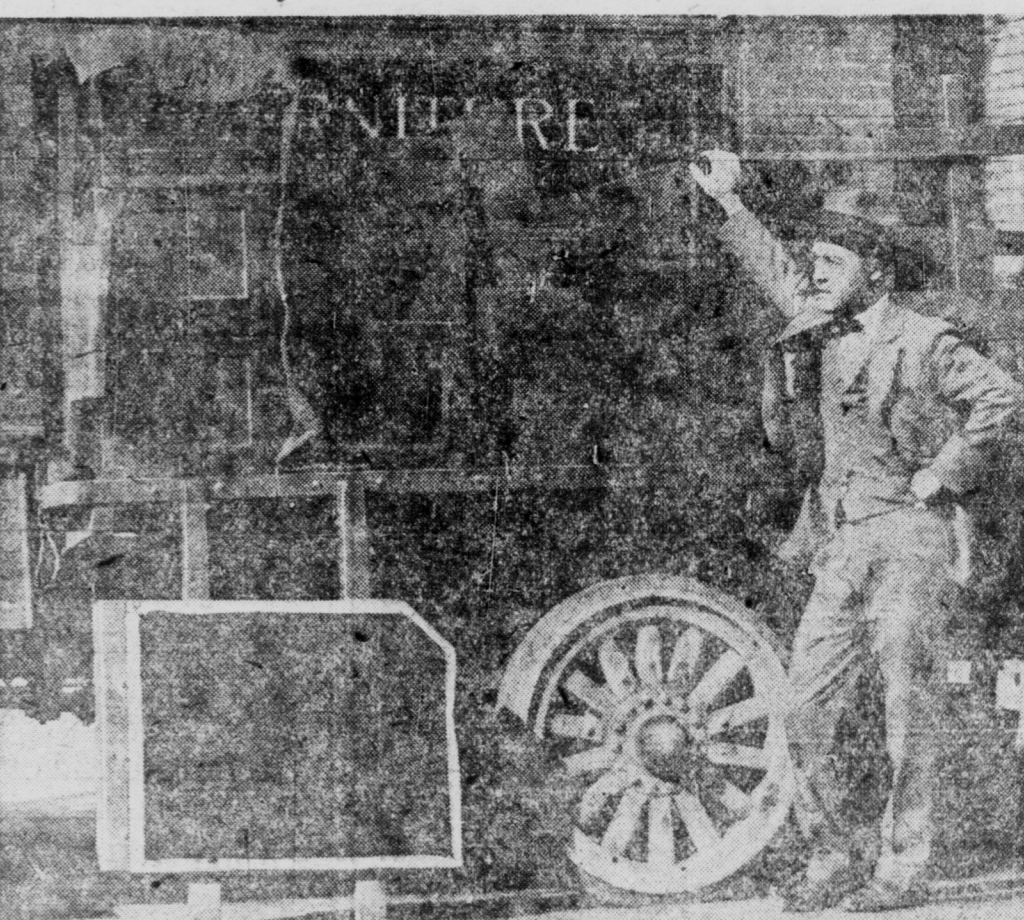

Judge Rules She Can Be
Governor of Texas.

By United Press
ATLANTA, Sept. 29.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee for Governor of Texas, is eligible to hold that office, District Judge George Calhoun ruled today.

Ruling was made in answer to a suit filed by Charles Dickinson, San Antonio attorney, to keep "Ma" Ferguson's name off the ballot on ground the State constitution implied the Governor of Texas must be a man.

Calhoun held the State constitution does not prohibit the holding of office by women and overruled the contention he was without jurisdiction in the case. Notice of appeal was filed by Dickinson.

LOVE TO BLAME, SAYS MAN HELD IN POISON PLOT

Only Sorry He Can't Be With Woman Whose Former Husband He Killed.

By United Press
MARION, Ill., Sept. 29.—"Love makes a man do anything," was the explanation given today by Robert Tate, who confessed to instigating the poison plot that resulted in the death of Joseph Harrington, first husband of Mrs. Tate.

"I suppose I would do it over again," Tate remarked. "Love gets a man so."

Tate gave arsenic to Harrington and when that dose failed to kill, Harrington's wife, now Mrs. Tate, administered the fatal dose.

Then They Married

A few days after the death Ruby and Tate, boarder at the Harrington home, were married.

"I did not want her to take the blame," he said as he leaned back on the cot in his cell in the jail here. "I loved her too much. I wanted a sweet and pure woman. Ruby was all that a man desired. I would go through hell for her."

"When she told me Sunday she loved me still, I couldn't let her suffer alone. I suppose we got married too fast, that's what caught us. I could not wait, though."

"I joined the church of God for her. That was the first time I ever went to church. She wanted me to go, though."

"I Love Her"

"They let us together Sunday. All I miss now as I sit here in the jail is Ruby. I suppose we won't be together long. Both will get the rope. But when I walk up to the scaffold, I will tell the world I love her and it will come from my heart."

District Attorney D. L. Duty said today he would ask for the extreme penalty.

NATIONAL GUARD TO GET $50,000 REFUND FROM U. S.

Adj. Gen. Smith Back From Conference With Militia
Bureau at Capital.

Adj. Gen. Harry B. Smith, who returned from two weeks in Washington, where he succeeded in getting the Militia Bureau to return to Indiana National Guard units their full organization funds taken over by the bureau when the units were mustered out of service after the war.

The units, through gifts and profits from canteens had each between $500 and $2,000 in company funds when the draft boards ordered the strength to be doubled and the units to go into service. The order increased the units from 700 to 250 men in some instances. In these and similar instances, the Militia Bureau had been holding that the funds would be returned in proportion to the full strength as compared with the original strength. A 100-man company, having a fund of $1,000 and whose war strength was 250, would get only 100 250ths of the $1,000 back.

Smith pointed out that it was the original 100 men who raised the money and that the bureau's plan was unjust. After weeks of negotiation the bureau has agreed to return the full amounts to the organizations.

Under the new plan, $50,000 will be returned to Indiana units where only $20,000 would have been returned before.

Smith also spent several days in an attempt to get the bureau to refund $27,000 to the Indiana Guard for money spent in equipping troops for Mexican border service in 1916, from manufacturing plants, and the preliminary work of putting them in place.

Executive exposition officers were opened in the exposition building with Claude S. Wallin, manager, and a corps of assistants. Downtown exposition office, 503 Chamber of Commerce Bldg., is to be kept open during the week with Harry B. Williams in charge.

The "Highway Limited," the trackless train which has been making a State wide tour in the interest of the exposition, has left Indianapolis on its fourth two-day trip, going to Logansport by the way of Frankfort, Lafayette and Delphi. Train is scheduled to return Tuesday with stops at Peru, Walhask, Kokomo, Tipton and Elwood.

Does the Bible support capital punishment?

"Not entirely," says William C. Morro, professor at the College of Missions, considered one of the best local Bible authorities. "The Old Testament clearly recognizes and advocates such a policy as recognized in the history of the Hebrew and Jewish people," said Professor Morro. "Capital punishment is shown in the old Mosaic law, and Old Testament scriptures deal clearly with capital punishment."

But the New Testament regards capital punishment in a different light, Professor Morro said. Any passages from the New Testament noted in support of capital punishment are only reached from inference, he said.

Bible Is Quoted

Delegates to the Chicago Lutheran conference of the Missouri synod, largest of the Lutheran bodies, in session there declare that capital punishment is "legal and backed by spiritual authority."

To offset the arguments of those who, opposing the death penalty, quote the Bible in support of their claims, the statement quoted:

Genesis 9:6 — "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed; for in the image of God any man shall surely be put to death."

Romans 13:4 (St. Paul)—He (the ruler, the government) beareth the sword (the instrument of capital punishment) not in vain; he is the minister of God, a revealer to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil.

Jesus—They that take the sword shall perish by the sword.

Romans 13:4—If thou do that which is evil, be afraid, for he (the ruler) beareth the sword not in vain.

Romans 13:3—Rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. If thou then not be afraid of the power?

"A most baffling situation confronts us today," says the statement. "On the one hand, heinous and atrocious crimes are being committed in ever increasing numbers, crimes that outrage and shock every righteous citizen; on the other hand we hear of persistent agitation for the abolition of capital punishment and a plea for mercy to the criminal."

The passage from the New Testament listed by the delegates in which Jesus Christ says: "They that take the sword shall perish by the sword" does not advocate capital punishment, Professor Morro said.

"I would not quote that remark of Jesus as saying he approved capital punishment," said Professor Morro.

WILMETH WARNS CITY HOSPITAL ABOUT ESCAPES

Attendants Must Prevent Prisoner-Patients From Leaving, Says Judge.

Doctors and nurses at the city hospital will be ordered into city court on charges of alleged prisoners to escape, unless alleged conditions there are investigated and corrected, Judge Delbert O. Wilmeth warned today, following testimony in city court of Miss Esther Hardesty of Martinsville, Ill., who escaped from the detention ward at the hospital week ago Sunday and was rearrested Saturday.

The girl said she asked the doctor in charge of the detention ward for permission to have company and that it was denied.

"Well then I'm going to beat it," she testified she told the officer. "If that's the way you feel, go ahead," she alleged was the doctor's reply.

Nurse Is Accused

She also stated that a nurse had told the patients that she was going to be out over Sunday and "if any of them wanted to slip out and come back it would be all right."

Wilmeth told Dr. Nafe that persons sent to the city hospital for treatment were prisoners of the city court. Many of them are accused of serious charges and their escape cannot be tolerated, he said. He warned the superintendent to "go to the bottom" of the numerous escapes of prisoners from the hospital.

Girl's Fourth Escape

Miss Hardesty left the hospital with Fannie Lotshaw. She said it was the other girl's fourth escape from the hospital.

Judge Wilmeth said he was determined to keep Miss Hardesty away from society for a while, and sentenced her to forty days at the Indiana woman's prison and fined her $25 and costs on a statutory charge.
