

BLACKBURN MAY OBTAIN FREEDOM ON BOND TODAY

City Judge to Act on Release After Reading Coroner's Report.

City Judge Delbert O. Wilmett will decide late today whether William Blackburn, charged with the fatal shooting of John R. Martin, 24, of 2524 Central Ave., at the Atheneum, Oct. 25, will be allowed freedom under bond. A preliminary hearing was held in city court Thursday and Judge Wilmett said he would read the coroner's report before he would render a decision.

Arnold Lyness, who was with Martin at the time of the shooting, testified he and Martin had attempted to push past Blackburn and his son-in-law, Smith Martin, who were acting as doorkeepers. Lyness said they were pushed out and started back again after some one had given them a ticket. He said they were within six feet of the door

EMORY PLUMMER PUSHING CHARLES FISHER.

Emory Plummer, 548 Holly Ave., was the first payer of a freak election bet reported in Indianapolis. He pushed Charles Fisher, 2153 S. Delaware St., from the Kahn tailoring plant, St. Clair St.

when Blackburn fired point blank at them, the bullet striking John Martin. Lyness admitted he and Martin had one drink.

Blackburn testified he struck John Martin across the face with the gun which Ralph Purcell had handed him when Lyness and John Martin were attacking Smith Martin. He said the gun was accidentally discharged. Blackburn admitted to Deputy Prosecutor Burdette Little he used the gun on John Martin when he was not threatened.

EASY PATH SEEN FOR REPUBLICANS IN LEGISLATURE

Teaching of Bible, Segregation and Blue Laws May Be Introduced.

With the next Indiana Legislature overwhelmingly Republican, G. O. P. leaders are anticipating little trouble in putting through regular Republican measures at the next session.

Republicans have a majority of sixty-six in the House and thirty-two in the Senate, the upper house being the same proportion, Republican and Democrat, as the present Senate.

Where friction will arise, however, leaders point out is that the House is overwhelmingly Ku-Klux Klan and they are predicting that Klan policies will be introduced as set out in a recent proclamation issued by Walter Bossert, grand dragon.

In the Senate, the Klan strength is not so definitely known, but Klansmen are claiming a working majority in this branch.

Among measures likely to be introduced in the next legislature are compulsory teaching of the Bible in public schools, abolition of private and sectarian schools, segregation of negroes and stringent Blue Laws applying to Sunday theaters and baseball.

One of the measures of especial interest to farmers expected to come before the Legislature is a cooperative marketing bill, sponsored by both Democrats and Republicans.

Governor-elect Jackson in his keynote speech of the campaign pledged appointment of a commission to survey the State government with a view to cutting off all unnecessary and overlapping boards and commissions, and it is considered likely, in view of this pledge, some boards and commissions will be lopped off by legislative enactment.

U. S. JUDGESHIP GOSSIP IS RIFE

Speculate on Successor to Anderson.

Politicians today discussed appointment of Judge Albert R. Anderson of the United States Court of Appeals at Chicago, which is expected to be recommended to the Senate soon. Speculation as to Anderson's successor on the Federal bench here was also rife, and according to Republican leaders, Judge Robert C. Baldwin, Princeton, is slated.

It is said there is a movement on foot to revive the Hickey bill, providing for a second Federal Judge in Indiana. United States Senator Samuel M. Ralston stated he had not read the Hickey bill as re-drafted, and had given it no consideration. Senator James E. Watson is understood in favor of the measure.

Harry Long Muncie, now holding a Federal appointment in Washington, is expected to be the successor to Homer Elliott, United States district attorney, who resigned, but agreed to continue in office until certain cases are disposed of.

COMBING FOR SENATOR

Democratic Leaders Scanning List for Candidate.

Democratic leaders are combing the State for a candidate for the United States Senate in 1926.

An out-of-state candidate is preferred, according to Democratic leaders, and such men as Dan W. Simms, La Fayette, W. H. O'Neil, Lawrenceburg; Ed. Hoffman, Ft. Wayne; George Dittler, Evansville; J. A. M. Adair, Portland, are being talked over in connection with the senatorial campaign.

In Indianapolis, Frank C. Dally and Frederick Van Nus both former United States District Attorneys, are among those mentioned as senatorial possibilities.

COFFIN BIDES TIME

County Boss Says He Has Not Picked Man for Mayor.

George V. Coffin, Republican county boss says he has no candidate for mayor yet.

Furthermore, he does not want to be Republican State chairman, denying rumors to that effect.

"Of course, I want to back some good business man for mayor, and will, when the time comes," he said. "My candidate will be one the people want."

Coffin said he knew there was a multitude of good Republicans willing to sacrifice themselves on the altar of public office as mayor, but he had kept the question as still as possible until the recent election was over, for fear of dissension in the ranks.

This was the statement of Dr. Herman G. Morgan, city health officer, today as a method to stop the epidemic in the city.

"It seems a small thing to do in arresting spitters," said Dr. Morgan, "but the protracted drought has increased the menace of the spitter public."

As a start in his campaign, Dr. Morgan said he would investigate the aid of having "Don't Spit" warnings painted on the sidewalk. He is also considering advisability of urging merchants to flush sidewalks in front of their places of business and asking the city for more frequent flushing of streets.

Combination of dust and dirt with the menace of spitters is a big factor in spread of respiratory diseases, he said.

Here is his warning to safeguard personal health:

Watch the kind of food eaten.

See that bedroom is properly ventilated.

Don't use too much or too little bed covers.

Treat colds as soon as they appear. Don't delay.

Despite the long dry spell with varying day and night temperatures, Dr. Morgan said the cases of mild influenza, pneumonia, and colds were not in excess of average for this time of year.
