

NEW WASHINGTON PARLEY ON ARMS SEEMS PROBABLE

Would Not Conflict With League Conference, Officials Say.

By United Press WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Most of the apparent conflict between the League of Nations arms conference scheduled for next June and the new Washington arms conference proposed by President Coolidge has been removed by informal exchanges of views between Great Britain and the United States.

Since the league conference will be devoted to land armaments on continent of Europe and the proposed second Washington conference to limitation of naval and air armaments not covered by the first conference here, there should be no conflict between the two, officials believe.

Supplemental Pact

Proposed Washington conference would attempt to supplement the five-power pact limiting capital ships by stopping expensive competition in lighter naval craft, setting limits to air preparedness and beginning codification of international law.

Great Britain is understood to recognize need for another Washington conference, first suggested by President Coolidge last February.

Recent developments have considerably strengthened the President's desire for another conference here to pick up the loose ends left by the last conference.

Three Factors

Chief among these factors are: Conflicting interpretations of the five-power pact, such as Britain's protest against American gun elevation on capital ships.

2. The danger to the administration's economy program if this country is forced to enter expensive and unequal competition in light cruisers, in which Britain is already far superior.

3. Increasing popular pressure upon the administration to continue limitation of sea armament begun three years ago. The British government is said to be hopeful that France can be induced to limit her submarine building which causes British uneasiness.

CAL' SENDS THANKS

President Writes Letter of Appreciation to Woman, 101.

By United Press OTTAWA, III., Nov. 14.—A letter of appreciation from President Coolidge for casting her vote for him, today was in possession of Mrs. Celia Hoyer, 101 years old, of Seneca, near here.

STARTING SATURDAY DANIELS' SPECIAL ALTERATION SALE

Clearing our stocks to make room for new, enlarged departments throughout the store, featuring our new Daylight Clothing Dept.

SUITS AND OVERCOATS

Featuring new models suitable for every man. Finely tailored. Newest fabrics.

$16.50

In Our New Daylight Clothing Department.

Men's

PANTS

—Stripes $1.69
—Mixtures
—Cashmeres
—Worsted Special

Cone's Boss Overalls

—Union Made $1.65
—All Sizes to 42
—Special

Extra Heavy "Western" FLANNEL SHIRTS $3.95

In the New Wide Checks.

Heavy Flannel WORK SHIRTS $1.95

Men's Heavy SWEATERS, Special $1.69

With Shawl Collars—Two Pockets

Daniels

Where Washington Crosses Delaware

Modern Art

JULIETTA STORM BREWS AGAIN AT COUNCIL SESSION

Attorney's Claim $5,000 Has Made Building O. K. Is Ridiculed.

Heated words and argument marked the meeting of the county council today to consider an ordinance appropriating $30,000 to repair the new men's wing at Julietta, county asylum for the insane for six months, the storm center of Marion County's public building scandal.

Merle N. A. Walker, attorney for the contractors, George A. Weaver & Son, defended the construction of the $138,000 addition, and denounced the agitation against his clients, which finally resulted in their indictment on charges of perjury and making false claims in connection with misconstruction charges.

"My clients have spent $5,000 recently putting that building in shape," he declared. "It is now better than the original plans called for."

"That's an imposition on intelligence," declared Councilman George N. Montgomery. "Talk about that pile of junk being put in good shape for a paltry $5,000!"

John J. Griffith, county engineer, member of the board of arbitrators appointed to settle what the Weavers should do to repair the new building, said the only way to bring the building up to specifications is to tear it down and rebuild.

Commissioners said the Weavers have refused to make repairs as recommended by the arbitrators.

Walker retorted the report was not complete, not covering the new women's wing, on which no complaint was made.

The council adjourned until Saturday, when it will take final action on the Julietta case.

Wife Reported Missing

Mrs. Lou Belle Tatman, 44, of 712 N. New Jersey St., is reported missing by her husband, Frank Tatman, 1224 N. New Jersey St. She is ill.

Tatman told police. When she left she was wearing dark clothing.

For Colds, Grip or Influenza and Sores Present Take CHAMBERLAIN'S CHOCO QUINN'S Cough Remedy. A Sure and Proven Remedy. The box bears the signature of E. W. Grove. 30c.—Advertised

DIAMOND GOES TO DEATH UNAFRAID, ADMITTING GUILT

'Greatest Man I Ever Saw,'
Says Warden of Man
Who Slew Wife.

By United Press MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Nov. 14.—Harry Diamond, 26, of Gary, Ind., with a smile of indifference on his face, walked boldly to the electric chair in the State early today and paid with his life for the murder of Nettie Diamond, 42, his wife, on a lonely road, near East Chicago, Ind., on Feb. 14, 1923.

The "death walk" from Diamond's cell to death-house began a few minutes before midnight. Silently Diamond moved down the narrow corridor, accompanied by Warden E. J. Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Pays Tribute The prison physician, Dr. P. H. Weeks, and Dr. J. V. Kerrigan of Michigan City, at 12:10 pronounced Diamond dead—exactly twenty-one months from the day that he killed his wife.

Diamond, "the greatest man I ever saw," Warden Fogarty said, "didn't give up hope that he would be given a reprieve until Thursday afternoon."

In the afternoon he was visited by a sister and brother. To them he admitted murdering his wife, but said "it was one of my epileptic fits, but no jury in the world would be heave me, so I might as well die."

He requested that none of his family be present.

Denied Guilt at Trial

At the grand jury Porter County Circuit Court at Valparaiso Diamond testified that William Armstrong, 17-year-old negro chauffeur of the Diamonds, had shot his wife while they were motoring between East Chicago and Gary.

S. A. E. Hears Purdie Man

Factory experts and engineers representing fifteen Indiana cities attended a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers at the Seatorium Thursday night. H. E. Hushion, of Purdue University, talked on the flow of heat from piston to cylinder walls.

SEVENTY-FIVE LOSE JOBS Part Board Acts Early Because of Funds Lack.

Seventy-five employees of the park department were severed from the city pay roll today due to reduction in park and recreation activities and shortage of funds.

Although the reduction in the working force is made every winter, the action was taken earlier this year, due to a smaller appropriation. Custodians, day laborers and supervisors are included.

JAVA IS SHAKEN BY EARTHQUAKE

By United Press

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 14.—More than three hundred persons were killed in an earthquake in the middle of Java which destroyed a holiday resort known as Wonosobo, according to advices from the island today.

Several small towns are reported to have been engulfed by rivers, but damage in the larger towns was only slight.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.

It is 12:02 a. m. Diamond smiles at Warden Fogarty as he is strapped into the electric chair. Then at 12:04 the current circulated his frail frame.

Warden Fogarty, two guards and the Rev. A. W. Wood, the prison chaplain.