DOWNTOWN LIGHTS TO BE BRIGHTER

New Contract Calls for More Power.

Downtown Indianapolis will be twenty times brighter under the new city lighting contract in effect next year than at present, John L. Elliott, former city engineer and lighting consultant, said today.

Instead of the present twelve 100-candle power standards to a city block, the new system calls for eight 3,000-candle power standards to each block.

The downtown lighting system will be extended, double-standard light being specified on Massachusetts Ave. as far as Tenth St., with other extensions under consideration.

The present lighting contract costs the city approximately $300,000 annually. Although downtown lighting next year will be more expensive, Elliott said the difference will be saved in residential districts, where fewer and brighter lights are planned.

FIRST IN FIGHT FOR DECENCY.

Discussing the common religious, theatrical and immoral literature, the current issue of the Epiphany of the Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, south.

While the Evangelical Churches have always had decided differences of opinion with the Roman Catholic Church, in regard to this particular issue, the board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, south, has decided to place the issue of the Epiphany of the Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, south, in the hands of the Roman Catholic Church.

"In New York, the Roman Catholic Church certainly deserves more credit than any other for what little has been accomplished in closing the tendency of some New York wholesalers by nudity and indecent language on the stage."

"The Knights of Columbus, we understand, have appointed a committee to investigate the attitude of the Catholic Church in regard to the issue of the Epiphany of the Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, south, and to report to the board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, south, on the issue of the Epiphany of the Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, south."

INDIANA FARMERS TO RENEW FIGHT FOR MARKET BILL

Federation Will Lay Plans
at Convention Next Week.

Plans for driving a cooperative marketing bill through the State Legislature in January, and means of lessening the heavy tax burden are expected to be important matters before the convention of the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation, at the Severn Monday and Tuesday.

The federation backed and lost the cooperative marketing measure two years ago when Warren T. McCray, then Governor, vetoed it. "Meanwhile the federation has gone ahead toward cooperative marketing under such legislation as is available. The State wheat pool of this summer was the most important step."

President W. H. Settle, according to advance notices, will devote considerable space in his annual report to discussion of cooperative marketing.

The taxation problem has been studied by Walter Baker of Bourbon, Ind., who will report to the convention. He is expected to make definite legislative recommendations.

The county unit educational bill will be a subject of great interest. Because of the widely divided opinion in the State, the program planners arranged for a debate on the subject Monday evening. Mrs. Verna Hatch, Huntington; Dr. W. P. Dearling, president of Oakland City College, and E. J. Hecker, Irvington, have the affirmative side and Mrs. Charles W. Sewell, Otterbein; William Bosson, Indianapolis, and J. E. Mount, Crawfordsville, the negative.

By United Press

Mrs. Howard Johnson, wife of the song writer, told Behan victims following a party at the Alhambra Hotel. She was robbed of $8,000 worth of gems.

TOWN DECIDES 'WET'
Council Secedes, Pronouncing On Dry Act Null and Void.

Sturgeon Falls is in the far north, where for months lumbering and mining centers have talked secession.

Whopper
NOW that it's all said and done, just who did catch the largest bass in these parts this summer?

Al Hunter, Bedford, Ind., started the argument with a claim that his 4 1/2 pound catch was the prize. Along came a Columbus (Ind.) citizen and said that was a mere minnow. He claimed that Charles Chrisman of Columbus snagged a five and one-fourth pounder.

Today comes a letter to The Indianapolis Times from Todd Rutherford and Walter T. Keller of Mooreville, howling "em all over." They say they caught a large mouth black bass in the west fork of White Lick Creek, weighing six pounds and two ounces. The fish will be displayed at the Em-Roe sporting goods store all next week.

Come on now. Who caught a bigger one?

WAR—NO, ONLY WOMAN
"International Incident" Turns Out Personal Squabble.

By Times Special
LONDON, Nov. 22.—What appeared at first to be an international incident fraught with grave peril for the Balkans has resolved itself into a lovers' squabble. A former Greek officer named Volonaky shot the Greek military attaché in London Friday. It was discovered that Volonaky was an employee of former Premier Venizelos. It looked bad for the Balkans, where even less than a murder can start a war.

Subsequent investigation, however, indicates Volonaky's grievance had to do with the love of a woman.

PROPOSALS MADE TO CUT NUMBER OF STATE BOARDS

Giving Added Responsibility to Department Heads Suggested.

Abolition of the formal boards entrusted with the direction of affairs of the State health department, highway commission and conservation commission, and combining of the boards of trustees of all State penal and benevolent institutions into a single board, are among suggestions being made by various State officials and State house employees, also being given as a suggestion, a committee to look into the matter of reducing boards and commissions.

Suggestions are based on the assertion that the actual direction of State departments is by department heads anyway, and that the boards are superfluous. The health department would be directed solely by the State health commissioner, the highway commission by a single director, and the conservation department by a single director. Trustees would be named to direct all State penal and benevolent institutions and would serve full time on salary, it is suggested.

Support of the county unit system of combining all schools in a county under one head, instead of under township, city and county officers separately, also is being given as a suggestion to cut down expenditures and simplify school government.

A current theory on abolition of all State boards is to substitute in the place of each a single director, an expert in his line, responsible to the governor.

A. R. Baxter, Indianapolis, has been made chairman of the committee. He is assisted by Jackson, Lawrence Cartwright, Portland, and John H. Kiplinger, Rushville, are other members.

Charles Kettleborough, director, legislative reference bureau, was named secretary. Elmy Wolford, to be secretary to Jackson, and Frederick E. Schortlander, secretary of State elect, are to cooperate.
