

CHANGES IN TAX LAWS PROPOSED

State C. of C. Will Make Recommendations.

Recommendations of a tax revision committee of the State Chamber of Commerce will be presented to the Legislature in the form of bills and resolutions, according to J. E. Frederick, president.

They include: Employment of full-time deputy county assessors; reassessment of real property in 1925, instead of 1926, and quadrupling thereafter; review of budget expenditures by State tax commissioners; denouement of complete home rule in taxation and opposition to extension of power to issue municipal corporation bonds.

Continuation of State tax commission; review of tax budget expenditures rather than merely the levies, in cases of appeal; coordination between State board of accounts and the tax board; repeal of Federal estate tax law and application of budget law and scrutiny of proposed budgets were favored. Present enactment of State income tax was opposed.

POUND IS FULL AGAIN

Owners Surrender Pets Rather Than Pay License Fee.

Announcement by the city that police will arrest those who fail to obtain licenses due Jan. 1 before Jan. 15 has caused the dog pound to be overcrowded, Dr. Elizabeth Conger, poundmaster, reported today.

The pound has accommodations for about 100 dogs. There were 125 there today. Many owners called the pound, wagon and gave up their pets rather than pay the license fee. Dr. Conger said there are some splendid dogs in the lot, which any one may obtain by paying the fee.

IGNORES STICKERS; FINED

Plea License Plates Stolen Fails to Free Driver.

Although he testified his automobile had been stolen and license plates belonging to William Bassett, 413 N. LaSalle St., placed on it, Edward Traugott, 311 W. Washington St., today was fined $1 and costs each on a charge of having no license numbers and no certificate of title, by City Judge Pro Tem. Lloyd D. Claycomb.

Police testified Traugott disregarded several stickers. Fines of $1 and costs each on charges of parking in a safety zone and parking at hotel entrance were suspended. Traugott was discharged on a charge of parking in a taxi stand.

LACK OF WATER HINDERS FIREMEN

Damage in Two Blazes Put at $5,000.

Investigation was being made today to determine origin of a fire that caused $2,000 damage to the Schussler Meat Company plant at Gardner Lane and White River, late Thursday. Firemen were handicapped by lack of fire plugs.

Home of Charles Jones, 2173 N. Drexel Ave., was destroyed by fire late Thursday. Damage estimated at $3,000. The blaze was communicated to the home of C. D. Clark, 2173 Linwood Ave., causing $200 damage. Firemen were forced to obtain water from Pogue's Run, 1,000 feet away.

Not until firemen had extinguished a blaze causing a $25 damage at the home of Mrs. Daisy Reid, 930 S. Delaware St., Thursday, did the occupants know their home was afire.

A box car containing fruit belonging to the Western Fruit Growers' Association was fired by an over-heated stove Thursday. Damage was estimated at $500.

PRIMARY BILL TOPIC

Proposed Change Arouses Interest of Legislators.

The proposed bill to modify primary election laws by a partial return to the convention system is one of the chief topics of interest to those legislators who have remained over the four-day adjournment.

Frank C. Willis, Republican, joint representative from Knox and Pike, was one who declared himself for the bill.

The proposed bill is being sponsored by a bi-partisan movement. D. C. Stephenson, former State Klan head and now head of a powerful Republican political machine, is opposing it.

NO GUN, HE ESCAPES

W. C. Fivecoats, Occidental Hotel, told police while he was passing Court St. and Capitol Ave. two colored men stepped out from the darkness and told him to give them his money. Fivecoats told Sergeant Dever when he saw they did not have a gun he ran east in Court St.

HAPPY HOME LIFE ENEMY OF 'JAZZ'

By MRS. WALLACE REID

This is the third of a series of six articles written by Mrs. Wallace Reid, wife of the late film star, on the problems confronting young people—and their parents—today.

I WANT home and mother to be associated with good times in the minds of my children. I want them to find their best times right at home when they are older—not just by themselves, but with their friends, too. I do not want them to have to seek their jazz elsewhere—although, of course, they may have good times away from home.

The point is that the home should be the place where children can enjoy themselves in a healthy, hearty way. Then they'll be content to enjoy themselves at home when they are older. When parents can insure this, they have thwarted many of the dangers that beset children who get too far away from home influence.

Make your children's friends welcome at your home. By this you have accomplished two things—you have kept the children at home and you have had a chance to make a close acquaintance with their friends. But only a part of a child's time is spent at home. Much of the rest is spent at school. And here is a word of advice to parents:

Know your children's teachers. Remain in close contact with their school work. It will pay. You cannot expect a teacher to spend time with each parent every day, of course, but there are organizations that provide a meeting ground for parents and teachers and you should take fullest advantage of them.

Showing an interest in your children's school work is one sure way to make them love school. It is a habit that will continue after they are grown, and you will never regret the time so spent.

Furthermore, you can learn much about the success or failure of your home discipline by learning about your children's actions at school.

Thus we have the start of our program for preparing our children for their freedom from home ties and home influence that young people boast, in spite of all parents that may think they have tried to do to stop it. It may be summed up as follows:

Happy home life, close supervision of school work and companions, and giving the children a fundamental idea of thinking and deciding for themselves, knowing right from wrong, and choosing of their own volition the former in preference to the latter.

INAUGURAL PLANS HOLD LIMELIGHT

Jackson Remains at Home With Cold.

Plans for inauguration of Governor-Elect Ed Jackson and Lieutenant Governor-elect F. Harold Van Orman, Monday, held interest today of legislators who remained in Indianapolis over the week-end, following adjournment of the General Assembly Thursday, to reconvene Monday morning.

Van Orman left for Evansville Thursday night and will return to Indianapolis Monday morning aboard a special train with about 400 of Evansville and southern Indiana friends and admirers.

Jackson, confined at home with a heavy cold, probably will stay in bed until Monday, his wife said today. The Governor-elect has completed both his inaugural address and his message to the Legislature, to be delivered in joint session Monday afternoon.

AFFIDAVITS ACCUSE 97

Sixty-three affidavits, naming ninety-seven persons, have been filed with Judge James A. Collins of Criminal Court by Claude M. Worley, court investigator. Charges range from petit larceny to blackmail. Blackmail charge is against Oren Elmore, 19, a bellboy, alleged to have sent a blackmail note to Chung Yip, a Chinese laundryman, several weeks ago, demanding $1,000 under threat of death.

Twenty-five defendants are free on bond, four are fugitives and the remainder in jail. Arraignment will be in Criminal Court at 9 a. m., Monday.

IN CRIMINAL COURT

Affidavit charging Miss Mabel Clark, 18, with assault and battery with intent to kill has been filed in Criminal Court with Judge James A. Collins by Claude M. Worley, court investigator. Miss Clark stabbed Dick Miller, an Indianapolis Times reporter, Dec. 5, while she and Miss Ora Mullin, who had escaped from the Indiana Girls School at Clermont, were being brought to headquarters in the emergency automobile.

FEELS SPRY AS CRICKET AT 63

Declares Todd's Tonic Is the Best Remedy for Stomach Trouble.

"For years I was a miserable woman, due to stomach trouble. I had indigestion so badly that I couldn't even eat soft food without having a spell of indigestion. I tried a whole lot of medicines that didn't do me any good. Gas, bloating, heartburn, headaches and a pain in my back kept me feeling bad all the time. Since taking three bottles of Todd's Tonic I am better in every way. My appetite is good and I can eat anything I want and do not suffer from indigestion. Although I am 63 years old, I now feel as spry as a cricket. Todd's Tonic did for me what no other medicine had been able to do, and I heartily recommend it to any one who suffers as I did."—Mrs. Mary Nichols, 2287 N. Capitol Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

Todd's Tonic, with its wine-like flavor, is most pleasant to take. For sale at all
