

HUNDREDS VOTE FOR WORLD COURT FOLLOWING TALK

Hamilton Holt Wins Advocates for Peace Plan in Lecture at Church.

The world court movement has support in Indianapolis. More than 600 persons voted favoring immediate entrance of United States in a permanent world tribunal of justice, following address of Hamilton Holt, peace advocate and publicist, of New York, at Roberts Park M. E. Church Monday night. Thomas C. Day read the resolution, which was telegraphed to President Coolidge and the Senate.

"The world court is the most American thing in the world outside," Holt said. "The court is not a substitute for war, but the first step toward isolation and the greatest step in the last five years."

"No Progress"

"Peace is the outcome of justice, justice is maintained only by law, and law is the outgrowth of courts. Courts, parliaments and executives are the agents of reason. Courts have been tried and worked everywhere except in the international realm. International law has not advanced since the twelfth century."

"The President is ready to cut. Will he stand behind him, or the Senators who are faithless to the party platform? I am sick and tired of obstructionism in United States Senate."

"War does not end, but breeds more war," said Bishop J. M. Francis, Indiana diocese of the Episcopal Church, who presided and introduced Holt. Indianapolis Oratorio Society furnished music.

Veterans' Aid Pledged

F. M. Rust, local representative of world court advocacy, asked citizens to lend support. Louis Howland, chairman of a committee of ten sponsoring the movement in Indiana, presided at a dinner at Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Alice M. French, head of peace work of American War Mothers, has written to President Coolidge and Senator Borah, chairman Foreign Relations Committee, asking favorable action before March 4.

Col. Thomas W. Miller of Washington, D. C., alien property custodian and president of Inter-Alleied Veteran Association, pledged support of veterans.

JOEL A. BAKER NAMED

Succeeds President of Indiana Democratic Club.

Joel A. Baker, deputy clerk of the Supreme and Appellate Courts, today is the newly elected president of the Indiana Democratic Club, succeeding Mark E. Archer. Baker is a graduate of Indiana University and has been active in politics a number of years. Other officers elected: Bernard Korbly, first vice president; Mrs. L. Ert Slack, second vice president; Joseph J. Ryan, treasurer; Edward W. Hohlt, secretary; Frank P. Baker, Thomas E. Garvin, Fred Hoke, John E. Hollett and Archer, local directors; Finley A. McNutt, Terre Haute, fifth district director; John D. DePrez, Shelbyville, sixth district director; E. E. McGriff, Portland, eighth district director; Carl L. Cue, Frankfort, ninth district director.

COOLIDGE PLANS TO TALK TERMS WITH RUSSIANS

Will Appoint Commission to Negotiate With Soviet Leaders.

By United Press WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Appointment of a commission to discuss recognition terms with soviet Russia is one of the features of the personal foreign policy which President Coolidge is preparing to further upon the retirement of Secretary of State Hughes and advancement of Ambassador Frank B. Kellogg to the State Department.

Other salient points in the President's program include another Washington arms conference, adherence to the world court with reservations and increased financial participation in Europe and Latin America without political commitments.

To Be Named Soon

The Russian recognition commission, it is understood, may be appointed by the President after Congress adjourns. Its aim would be similar to the commission which discussed points of controversy with Mexico and laid the foundation for the recent recognition treaty.

Senator Borah, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, is understood to have agreed to withhold his pressure for action on the Russian question on the assumption Coolidge will appoint his commission later in the year. Since the President's terms do not include immediate payment of American private claims for expropriated property and the Kereny debt of about $180,000,000, recognition is expected to result before final settlement of claims and owner ideas.

Has Own Ideas

Though the President regrets Hughes' resignation, it gives him an opportunity to carry out his own idea on world stability and peace which he considers the big job of the next Administration.

Borah ranks high in the President's estimation and has become an increasingly important figure since the election.

HOTEL GUEST ATTACKED

Two Charged With Molesting Joe Huffington.

Joe Huffington, formerly of Evansville, Ind., now stopping at the Lincoln, told police three men attacked him in his room, Monday night.

Earl Gentry, 5342 University Ave., was charged with intoxication and assault and battery, and Court Asher, 31, of the Claypool, formerly of Muncie, Ind., with assault and battery and drawing deadly weapons. Police say they watched the outgoing inauguration special train to Evansville, but failed to find A. W. Apperson, Evansville, who they were told, they said, was the third man in the attack.

Huffington police said, is an officer in the Ku-Klux Klan.

SUSPECT IS RESLATED

Detectives Allege John Gray Was One of Two Stick-Ups.

John Gray, 21, of 810 Grove St., arrested Saturday on a vagrancy charge, was related today by Detectives Dalton and Stone on a charge of conspiracy to commit a felony.

Police allege Gray was one of two men who held up Orval Drake, 2605 Brookside Ave., last November at Fifty-third St. and Central Ave. A month ago Earl Gadd was identified by Drake and held to the grand jury, according to police. Gray was not identified.

SINGLE TAX EXPLAINED

Scientech Club Hears Speaker From Terre Haute.

Advantages of the single tax plan, which proposes to place all land under government ownership were discussed by Warren Blauvelt of Terre Haute at the Scientech Club luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce Monday. The Government would derive its revenue by letting the land out to the people, he said. Only the land would be taxed, and earnings derived from the owner's thrift would not bear the brunt of taxation, he said.

LIGHTING SURVEY BEGUN

Engineer Here to Look Over Monument Illumination.

A. E. Suker, of Cleveland, Ohio, lighting engineer, today began a survey of Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument to make an estimate of cost of installation and maintenance of a flood lighting system, according to E. J. Giesbold, chairman Chamber of Commerce publicity committee, under whose auspices the study is being made. Technical data will be presented to the Legislature. A bill asking and appropriation is expected to be presented.

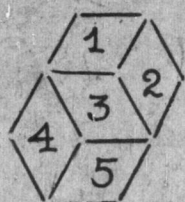

Husband Accused

OHIO ASSEMBLY WRESTLING WITH BUS LEGISLATION

Proposed State Control Auto Transportation Within Cities.

By Times Special COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 13.—The Ohio Legislature in session here is wrestling with the motor bus control problem, a problem which will soon come before the Indiana Legislature.

The last Ohio Assembly gave the public utilities commission, corresponding to the Indiana public service commission, power to regulate the motor bus business. There is now a movement on the part of friends of this law to have the commission regulate motor bus transportation within cities.

Governor Opposes

Governor Victor Donahey in his keynote speech declared against State control of busses in cities and insisted cities themselves should control this new type of transportation. In Cleveland, where the controversy centers, there is general opposition to restriction of busses in the transportation field on the ground that it would weaken the street railway company.

Ohio cities, unlike Indiana cities, have complete control over their public utilities. The State utilities commission has nothing to do with their regulation.

Profit at 6 Cents

One of the results has been the showing of a profit by the street car company in Cleveland on a 6-cent fare, one cent lower than that of Indianapolis. The company there is one of few in the country that has shown a profit.

SON HELD AT HAMMOND

Taken in Custody There at Request of Father.

MODERN FLAPPER MAKES GOOD WIFE

By MRS. WALLACE REID

This is the last of a series of six articles written by Mrs. Wallace Reid, wife of the late film star, on the problems confronting young people—and their parents today.

WELL, then, what about the future of the "flapper" and her dancing partner; the modern young man?

What of the products of this so-called "jazz age" ten years from now?

Personally, I believe with Judge Ben Lindsey that the modern "flapper" makes a good wife.

She may roll her stockings; she may dance, carefree and careless; she may do things that would have shocked her mother terribly at her age, but—

This girl is very likely to be looking forward to the day when she can have a home of her own, a good husband, and children on the doorstep. And the chances are favorable that she is going to be better equipped to guide these children over some of the rapids of life than was even her own mother.

She is certainly going to know how to chum with those children of her own as they grow to manhood and womanhood. She is going to be tolerant and patient and interested in the things that interest them.

That's certainly a good start toward motherhood, isn't it?

And I am just as optimistic about the young men. I refuse to be a pessimist about the "jazz age." The young people were fast "going to the dogs" when I was a girl, and I believe they were in my mother's time, too.

But I do see that it is necessary for the parents of today to adjust themselves to meet changed conditions, and to plan the education of their children so that they can meet these changes without danger to themselves.

I want to say again that the first thing and the most important thing in this connection is law observance on the part of parents, and the teaching of respect of all laws to their children.

Discipline in the home is more necessary now than ever before, but it must be properly administered. It cannot be thrust upon the children in this day.
