

PLANS FOR FIFTY YEARS TO GO TO COUNCIL TONIGHT

Elaborate Program to Care for Traffic Problems Worked Out.

Plans for widening important thoroughfares in Indianapolis, eliminating jogs and straightening and opening streets to meet growing traffic problems for the next fifty years will be submitted to city council tonight by the city plan commission. If council approves the plan, widening of New York St. from East St. to Irvington will be the first work undertaken, commission members said.

About $100,000 now is on hand for the work, according to Gustav H. Schmidt, chairman of the commission's traffic committee. By the end of the year the amount will have increased to about $300,000, he said. The money accrues from a 3-cent tax levy.

Thirteen Proposals

In general the plan is devised to divert heavy traffic around the downtown district.

Thirteen general proposals in the plan:

1. Widening of Massachusetts Ave. twelve feet from Pennsylvania to Delaware Sts.

2. Covering Pogue's Run from Ohio to Tenth Sts. and using, with a roadway, the center for heavy traffic, light traffic to each side.

3. Opening Twenty-Second St. from Capitol to Northwestern Aves.

4. Widening of Cornell Ave. from Davidson St. to Massachusetts Ave. In connection with the Pogue's Run roadway and S. Davidson St. this would give a thoroughfare from the north side to the freight depot district.

Rerouting of Cars

5. Rerouting of street car lines out Pennsylvania St. to Ft. Wayne Ave.; out Ft. Wayne Ave. to Eleventh St., thence to College Ave. This would relieve the pressure of the nine car lines now using Massachusetts Ave.

6. Widening Delaware St. to sixty feet. Massachusetts Ave. to Fall Creek. In this connection removal of esplanades in all streets will be recommended. Opening of Tenth St. from Ft. Wayne Ave. to Indiana Ave., making a major thoroughfare across the entire city.

7. Widening New York St. from East St. to Irvington; straightening all jogs, extending street from Oriental St. across Highland Park, through Marlowe Ave. to Randolph St.

8. Widening Sixteenth St. Roosevelt Ave. to West St., and eliminating jogs. Connecting West St. with Northwestern Ave., giving Sixteenth St. an opening on the west to the city limits.

New Preferential Street

9. Making Union St. a preferential street for light traffic, Madison Ave. to Adler St.

10. Removing jog in Lexington Ave. at Shelby St.

11. Widening Cruse St. and extending it from Washington to Ohio Sts. to connect with Pogue's Run improvement.

12. Removing jog in Prospect at East St., crossing Madison Ave. with Prospect at right angles and thence join Morris St., which would be widened ten feet from city limits to city limits.

13. Widening Oliver Ave. to a sixty-three-foot roadway, and extending it to National Rd. This would relieve Washington St. of much heavy traffic.

RAIL EMPLOYES GRANTED BOOST

Board Gives Increases to 87,000 Workers

By United Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Eighty-seven thousand employees of fifty railroads today were granted wage increases of from 1 to 2 cents an hour by the United States Railroad Labor Board.

Application for similar increases for 75,000 other workers was denied. The wage increases total approximately $3,300,000 annually. Classes of workers affected are clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees, janitors, elevator operators, truckers, stevedores and stokers.

Messengers, telephone operators and other employees under 18 are in the classes refused increases. The board decision grants vacations with pay to all workers mentioned in the application. Time and a half pay was allotted for Sundays and holidays. Reduction in working hours was denied.

Among the railroads affected were the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville, Illinois Central, Indianapolis Union Railway Company and Ft. Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville.

AGE MAY DECIDE FATE OF SLAYER

Girl Who Killed Mother Believed to Be 18.

By Times Special

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—The life of Dorothy Ellingson, self-confessed slayer of her mother, may depend upon legal proof of her age.

While the girl, now awaiting appearance in court here on arraignment on a formal murder charge, carrying a penalty of death if convicted, is said to be but 16 years of age, the fact that she gave her age four years ago as 14, when she was brought into Juvenile Court on a charge of incorrigibility, has caused an investigation.

Dorothy was born in Minneapolis and her birth certificate, presumably on record there, is expected to settle the question.

BILL AFFECTS TRAPPERS

Representative Carter, Salem, will introduce a bill in the house soon making it unlawful to trap fur-bearing animals before Nov. 20, instead of Nov. 10, as the law now reads. He said the measure was requested by both trappers and dealers in furs, as well as being approved by the department of conservation.

DRIVER FAILS TO STOP

Lad Receives Broken Collar Bone in Automobile Accident.

Search is being made for the driver of the auto that struck Willard Wilson, 14, of 429 N. Arsenal Ave., late Saturday at New York and East Sts. The lad is in the city hospital with a broken collar bone. James Fultz, 1926 S. Belmont Ave., was hurt about the head late Saturday when he was struck by a machine at Belmont Ave. and Mayne St. driver, was held.

Mrs. Simon Sutton, Cambry, Ind., was injured late Saturday when the auto driven by her husband collided with a Central Ave. street car at Thirteenth St. and Central Ave. El Williams, 118 E. Michigan St. motorman, was stated.

CHANGE IN GAME LAWS PRESENTED

Provides Greater Protection for Rabbits.

A bag limit of five squirrels, of ten rabbits a day is proposed in a bill introduced this afternoon in the Senate by Senator Penrod, Loogooe, Republican.

The bill is a reclassification of the Indiana fish and game laws, and is sponsored by George N. Mannfield, Superintendent of fish and game division of the State Department of Conservation, and the Indiana Fish, Game and Forest League.

Other changes are:

Prohibiting duck and geese shooting except from Oct. 1 to Jan. 15; fixing minimum length of fish which may be retained at: blue gill, 5 inches; black bass, 11; rock bass, 6; yellow perch, 7; wall-eye pike, 14; limiting fishing licenses to county of the holder; fixing closed season for rabbits from Jan. 1 to Oct. 19; requiring trappers to have hunting license, and declaring all year as open season on the red or "piney" squirrel. This is not the fox squirrel.

GOOD YEAR SEEN FOR HOOSIERS IN BUILDING TRADE

U. S. Department of Labor Predicts Boom in Survey.

By C. A. RANDAY
Times Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Indiana is destined to enjoy an extremely busy building season during the greater part of the present year, according to a survey made public to day by the Department of Labor.

"However," the report states, "a dearth of building labor is not expected, the impression being that the program will be of sufficient size to engage all available resident building laborers. If the tremendous program planned, goes on smoothly, without interruptions of any sort, there probably will be a labor shortage in industries manufacturing materials for building purposes, such as the iron and steel, brick, sand and gravel industries, and the like."

The nature of proposed building construction will be in residence and two or three story apartment dwelling houses. Especially in Indianapolis is the building program going to be large. Several large manufacturing buildings and apartment houses are contemplated and a large clubhouse in course of construction will not be completed until late in 1925. A considerable amount of church and hospital building also is planned in various cities.

Increased activity also is apparent in other lines. The iron and steel industry has made the greatest strides and it is easy to find openings for the skilled worker, but extremely difficult to place the unskilled men. Mines are operating on a little better schedule than a month ago and more miners are employed. Building construction of course is curtailed during extremely cold weather. A strong demand for female domestics is reported.
