

TWO REPUBLICAN EDITORS CALLED

Elliott and Pierce Funerals Set for Wednesday.

Prominent Republicans and editors of the State were planning to attend the funeral Wednesday of George A. Elliott, 55, G. O. P. Sixth district chairman, of Newcastles, and J. W. Pierce, 46, of Clinton, both newspaper editors, and both former presidents of the Indiana Republican editorial association.

Mr. Elliott and Mr. Pierce died at their homes Monday within a few hours of each other.

Mr. Pierce, in addition to being publisher of the Daily Clintonian, was president of the Clinton Chamber of Commerce. He was born at Shelbyville, Ind., and after attending Wabash College and State Normal School at Terre Haute, entered newspaper work, purchasing the Clinton paper in 1908.

Mr. Elliott succeeded his father as publisher as the Newcastle Courier. He had been active in Republican politics for years.

Governor Jackson, Secretary of State Schortemeier and other State officials are expected to attend his funeral.

CLEMENCY GIVEN TO 18

Eight Marion County Prisoners Released Lighter Terms.

Of eighteen prisoners given clemency by Governor Jackson, on recommendation of the State pardon board, these four men from Marion County: Fred Collier, five to fourteen years, robbery, sentenced Jan. 18, 1921; Frederick Brock, ten to twenty years, burglary, sentenced May 20, 1921; Mollie Rose, 180 days, $500 fine, child neglect, July 22, 1924; Joe Stapert, ninety days, $200 fine, violation liquor law, sentenced May 9, 1925.

Clemency was refused in eight Marion County cases.

Boy Scouts at Shortridge

Boy Scouts are being organized at Shortridge High School by Joel Hadley, Shortridge instructor and a assistant Scout master of Troop 23. He also was connected with Troop 83, special Scout Masters' Training School troop.

A Fine Fellow, Is Alex

—Photo by Perrott.

PATROLMAN ALEX SMITH

Alex Smith was appointed a policeman in 1915 and has a clean record. Quiet and easy-going he moves along making arrest after arrest, apparently unnoticed. But when the year is up he has about as many and good ones, for in most cases the cases in court have resulted in convictions. Alex says the hardest arrest he ever made was that of a mere slip of a girl. He and his partner had chased her for some distance out E. Washington St., and the small police Ford finally drew alongside the big Packard. Finally she came out, but flaring with rage. She had a bottle of whisky in her hand. She slammed the bottle toward the ground. The bottle struck Alex squarely on the arm. When Alex recovered from his anger, the girl and the bottle were taken to police headquarters in fast time. Smith is patrolling District 26, bounded by Fall Creek, Twenty-First St., College Ave. and Pennsylvania St. Better meet him, he's a fine fellow.

Legion Official Speaks

Robert A. Adams, judge advocate of the American Legion, was the principal speaker Monday afternoon at a meeting of the Council of Jewish Women at Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation Temple. A musical program was provided by Mrs. Philip Etroymson and Mrs. Edgar Kiser, accompanied by Mrs. Simon Kiser. Mrs. Sol Kiser presided.

Weekly Book Review

Last Word of Novelist Shows Love Is a Dream

By WALTER D. HICKMAN

LOVE is the "bunk," and at best it is "only a dream." That is the last impression given to the world by the late Marie Corelli, famous English novelist.

Her terrific indictment of love is contained in her last book, "Open Confessions," just published by George H. Doran Company, New York.

Am told that Miss Corelli refused to permit her "confession" of her only love affair to be published until after her death.

Never in my life have I read such a fearless indictment of what we call love between a man and a woman. Her experience with the "love" of one man actually made this brilliant woman a "man hater."

In the opening chapters of her "confession" she slays of that mental warmth which comes from a great spiritual love of a talented woman for a man-artist. She sought by her love and inspiration to make him reach the very heights of fame.

She dreamed into this man heavenly attributes of character which he never possessed. When he married another woman for money, Marie Corelli returns a heated and one-sided indictment against not only this one man but men in general.

This book will appeal directly to women because no man could read parts of it without getting hot under the collar. I admit I was amazed at the terrific attack she makes upon man and love. At times this famous woman appeared "soured" on life to me. Eccentric?

BIG CHIEF OF THE BARBECUE

North Carolinian Says That for Digestive Disorders Black-Draught Is All He Ever Takes.

For many miles around, William C. Hardy, of Keford, N. C., is known as "the barbecue man." He is master of the old southern art of roasting meat, and whenever it is desired that a big crowd be assembled here, announcement of a barbecue with Mr. Hardy in charge is sufficient to bring out the people.

"Black-Draught is a fine medicine," says Mr. Hardy. "I never tried any better."

"When I had the flu four years ago it left me in a bad condition. My feet and legs have given me a lot of trouble. It seems as if Black-Draught has helped me a lot since then. I always keep it in the house. I take it for constipation and bilious headache."

"It seems to me a fine way to keep well is to take a dose of Black-Draught occasionally. It keeps the system clear of impurities. I am a great believer in it. It is all I ever take for digestive disorders."

Thousands of other men and women will agree with Mr. Hardy's recommendation of Black-Draught as a medicine for the prevention and relief of digestive disorders. Ask any one who has taken Black-Draught. Try it, yourself.

GIRL QUESTIONED IN DISAPPEARANCE

Helen Gordon, 16, Found at Salvation Army Office.

Juvenile court authorities today questioned Helen Gordon, 16, who disappeared mysteriously from near her home at 1839 N. Harding St., Saturday at midnight, and who was taken into custody when she appeared at Salvation Army headquarters in quest of food and clothing late Monday.

Miss Gordon said she had been at a cheap hotel near Ohio St. and Capitol Ave. She could not identify the hotel when taken to the neighborhood by police.

Mrs. Claude Bales, Miss Gordon's aunt, with whom she lives, said she thinks the girl became frightened Saturday night when she arrived home late from a show with three young men and found her aunt and uncle waiting. They had warned her about going to public dance halls, Mrs. Bales said.

Misses Mildred Overbeck, 16, of 1925 Mansfield Ave., and Nora Hughes, 16, of 1641 English Ave., who were with Miss Gordon at the Lyric dance hall, told Mrs. Bales they met three young men whose names they did not know, who accompanied them home.

GUN COMPANY FORMED

New R. O. T. C. Unit to Be Part of National Guard.

Latest movement in R. O. T. C. units of Shortridge, Technical and Manual Training, three city high schools, is organization of a machine gun company of recruits, 18 years or older. This company will be enlisted in the National Guard. Sergeants Murphy and Gernstein, United States Army ex-service men, will be instructors.

The company will drill every Monday night at the armory under Government pay. It also will attend summer camp at Camp Knox, Ky. Their unit will be a part of Company D, commanded by Lieut. Albee Bientz, a Manual High graduate.

Church Prelate Better

By United Press
MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 3.—Archbishop Sebastian G. Messmer, suffering from angina pectoris in a convent infirmary here, continues to show improvement, his physician declared today. The physician, however, declared his conditions is still precarious.

Beauty

A Gleamy Mass of Hair
35c "Danderine" does Wonders for Any Girl's Hair

"Fame is mere noise."
"A wedding is, at all seasons, a kind of comedy, or solemn farce. Can it be otherwise in these our modern days of advancement? A man and woman stand up before an altar to a God in whom they do not believe, and swear to take each other for better for worse till death do them part, knowing that the divorce court is always in the background as a convenient matter of arrangement."

"There are both savage and dull animals in the field and forest—not one of them could ever be so hateful and repulsive as the biped called man."

Coming from a woman who attained so much widespread influence in the world, this "confession" will be both startling and illuminating as it shows the cause of many of her mental deductions.

It may be our applause to many who read it, but to me it is the most startling confession I have ever read.

The women will "eat up" this book and the men will have an interesting evening when their wives digest it.

"I often marvel at the ease with which widows of brave men put aside the thought of their dead husbands, and choose fresh loves, new embraces and strange interests; I was I remember, almost excitedly interested when the widow of Scott, the intrepid Arctic explorer, gave herself to another man. Scott's death was an epic of courage—I

"The self-sufficiency of the men who imagine they have 'genius' is one of the saddest spectacles on earth."

"I often marvel at the ease with which widows of brave men put aside the thought of their dead husbands, and choose fresh loves, new embraces and strange interests; I was I remember, almost excitedly interested when the widow of Scott, the intrepid Arctic explorer, gave herself to another man. Scott's death was an epic of courage—I

"The self-sufficiency of the men who imagine they have 'genius' is one of the saddest spectacles on earth."

"I often marvel at the ease with which widows of brave men put aside the thought of their dead husbands, and choose fresh loves, new embraces and strange interests; I was I remember, almost excitedly interested when the widow of Scott, the intrepid Arctic explorer, gave herself to another man. Scott's death was an epic of courage—I

"The self-sufficiency of the men who imagine they have 'genius' is one of the saddest spectacles on earth."

"I often marvel at the ease with which widows of brave men put aside the thought of their dead husbands, and choose fresh loves, new embraces and strange interests; I was I remember, almost excitedly interested when the widow of Scott, the intrepid Arctic explorer, gave herself to another man. Scott's death was an epic of courage—I

"The self-sufficiency of the men who imagine they have 'genius' is one of the saddest spectacles on earth."

"I often marvel at the ease with which widows of brave men put aside the thought of their dead husbands, and choose fresh loves, new embraces and strange interests; I was I remember, almost excitedly interested when the widow of Scott, the intrepid Arctic explorer, gave herself to another man. Scott's death was an epic of courage—I

"The self-sufficiency of the men who imagine they have 'genius' is one of the saddest spectacles on earth."

"I often marvel at the ease with which widows of brave men put aside the thought of their dead husbands, and choose fresh loves, new embraces and strange interests; I was I remember, almost excitedly interested when the widow of Scott, the intrepid Arctic explorer, gave herself to another man. Scott's death was an epic of courage—I

Smash!
down go
PRICES

EGGS	STRICTLY FRESH NO. 1	DOZ.	29c
EVERY EGG GUARANTEED
BROOMS	A 60c VALUE	AT—	29c
SOAP	KIRK'S WHITE FLAKE	Bar—	3c
BEANS	MICHIGAN HAND PICKED	Pound	7½c
FLOUR	AUNT JEMIMA PANCAKE	Pkg.,	10c
APRICOTS	HEAVY SYRUP No. 1 Can		12½c
QUAKER PUFFED WHEAT		Pkg.,	11c
BEANS	Joan of Arc CAN	11c	STARCH Hoosier Brand PKG. 5c

Fresh Fruits, Vegetables		LENTEN SEASON FOODS		MEATS
Lettuce HEAD Each	7½c	TUNA FISH White Meat ½-Size Can	31c	Sliced Bacon Lb.	33c
Grape Fruit Each	5c	SALMON COLUMBIA RIVER Can	28c	Shoulders Lb.	19c
APPLES YORK Imperial	8½c	CRAB MEAT Imported ½ Can	39c	Pork Loins Lb.	23c
SPINACH Lb.	10c	SHRIMP Wet Pack No. 1 Can	20c	BEEF CHOICE CHUCK ROAST Lb.	17c
CABBAGE Lb.	3½c	MACKEREL Norwegian Med. Size	10c	MARKETS AT
Potatoes Peck	25c	CHEESE Wisconsin Full Cream	35c	2224 Shelby St.
ORANGES Doz.	39c	IMPORTED SARDINES		3404 N. Illinois St.
Bananas Lb.	8½c			NEW MARKET
ONIONS Lb.	4c			Opening Saturday
				5424 E. Wash. St.

BREAD

Pound Loaf Wrapped The Outstanding Bread Value of the Hour

5c

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

"JUST AROUND THE CORNER FROM EVERYBODY"