

KARYL NORMAN, ROBERTS, SINGER'S MIDGETS HERE

Local Vaudeville Houses for Next Week Will Present Entertaining Novelty Programs.

With Karyl Norman, known as the Creole Fashion Plate, topping the bill at Keith's, this city is assured of an interesting novelty show at this house next week.

Singer's Midgets, considered by many to be the best midget act on the stage, arrives Sunday afternoon at the Palace for four days.

Joe Roberts, noted banjoist, will have headline position at the Lyric next week, starting Sunday.

The remainder of the bills of these three houses will include musical and comedy turns.

FASHION PLATE HEADS SHOW AT B. F. KEITH'S

As a portrayal of feminine types, Karyl Norman, probably best known in theatrical circles as "The Creole Fashion Plate," has few equals.

Norman will head the bill at B. F. Keith's next week, starting with a matinee Sunday afternoon, in a new act called "The Tinsel Song Shop." Norman will be assisted in the act by Reno Clark and Bobbie Simonds. A display of wonderful gowns worn by Norman should have a direct appeal to the women patrons of the theater.

The bill will include:

JULIA NASH AND C. H. O'DONNELL—Pair of distinguished players from the legitimate stage. They will appear in a one-act comedy playlet by J. Gordon Bostock, called "Static," being a satire on the radio craze. Ella Houghton will assist them in the act.

FRED JARVIS AND MISS FREDIE HARRISON—Former musical comedy stars, will be seen in a breezy singing and dancing act which they have labeled "The Love Bungalow."

ROGER WILLIAMS—Known to vaudeville patrons as "The Boy From Dixie," is a comedian with an original line of songs and stories with a novel punch to his act which makes it one of the ordinary.

MARINO & MARTIN—Will offer a comedy singing and talking act in which they impersonate a pair of Italian street merchants.

BLANCHE SHERWOOD—With her brother will present a daring aerial act, which is described as "Aviating Antics."

THE FOUR DIAMONDS—Including father, mother and two clever boys, will offer an act called "The Four Diamonds in a Perfect Setting." The act includes singing, dancing and comedy.

LANE AND HERMAN—Have an eccentric acrobatic act called "One Good Turn Deserves Another." The Pathe News, Topics and Fables will be included in the program.

NOTED BANJO PLAYER ON NEW BILL AT LYRIC

Joe Roberts, whose distinction as a concert artist has won him the title of "world's greatest banjoist," will be at the Lyric next week. Roberts has so mastered the technique of this favorite American instrument that he occupies a niche of his own in the musical hall of fame.

The bill will include:

TALLMAN AND KERWIN—"Navigators on the Ocean of Fun," a pair of clever comedy entertainers, introducing Pat Kerwin, former Indianapolis boxer, in a role that will surprise his home town friends.

SCULLY AND CAPLIN—Twenty dancers who have a lively mélange of songs and steps.

GRACE DORO—One of the youngest of successful song composers, author of "Baby Vampire," "How Do They Get That Way," "When You're Good You're Lonesome" and other popular hits, offering a program of her own songs interspersed with bits of piano comedy.

ANDERSON AND GRAVES—Favorite vaudeville duo who have conceived a new idea in trying to beat the high cost of living and with which they garner many laughs. It's called "Laying On Air."

"ON THE BOARDWALK"—A miniature musical comedy introducing a youthful comedian and the Four American Beauties. The scene is laid at a seaside resort. Comedy situations are numerous and the action is plentifully sprinkled with song and dance specialties.

LES KLICKS—French music hall stars presenting their surprising electrical novelty, "The Enchanted Forest"—the only act of its kind in the world.

AERIAL BARTLETT'S—Performing hazardous feats of balancing and gymnastics on a huge revolving ladder.

ON THE SCREEN—Sunshine comedy "Dangerous Curves," Kinograms and a Grantland Rice Sport-light, "By Hook Or Crook."

FINE MIDGET ACT DUE AT THE PALACE

Leo Singer presents his original company of thirty midgets, thirty tiny ponies and three midget elephants in their world-famous production, "So This Is Lilliput?" at the Palace Theater the first half of the week only.

These little people have eight separate acts which they offer. A symphonic orchestra and dancing revue, acrobats, boxers, and all types of entertainers are included in the company.

The bill includes:

POLLY AND OZ—A vocalist and pianist who mix comedy and harmony in their "Scenesongs."

W. D. POLLARD—Eccentric juggling comedian who entitles his act "Uncommon Nonsense."

On the screen are:

"Lady of the Night," with Norma Shearer in the leading dual role, with Malcolm McGregor and George K. Arthur in the cast the first half.

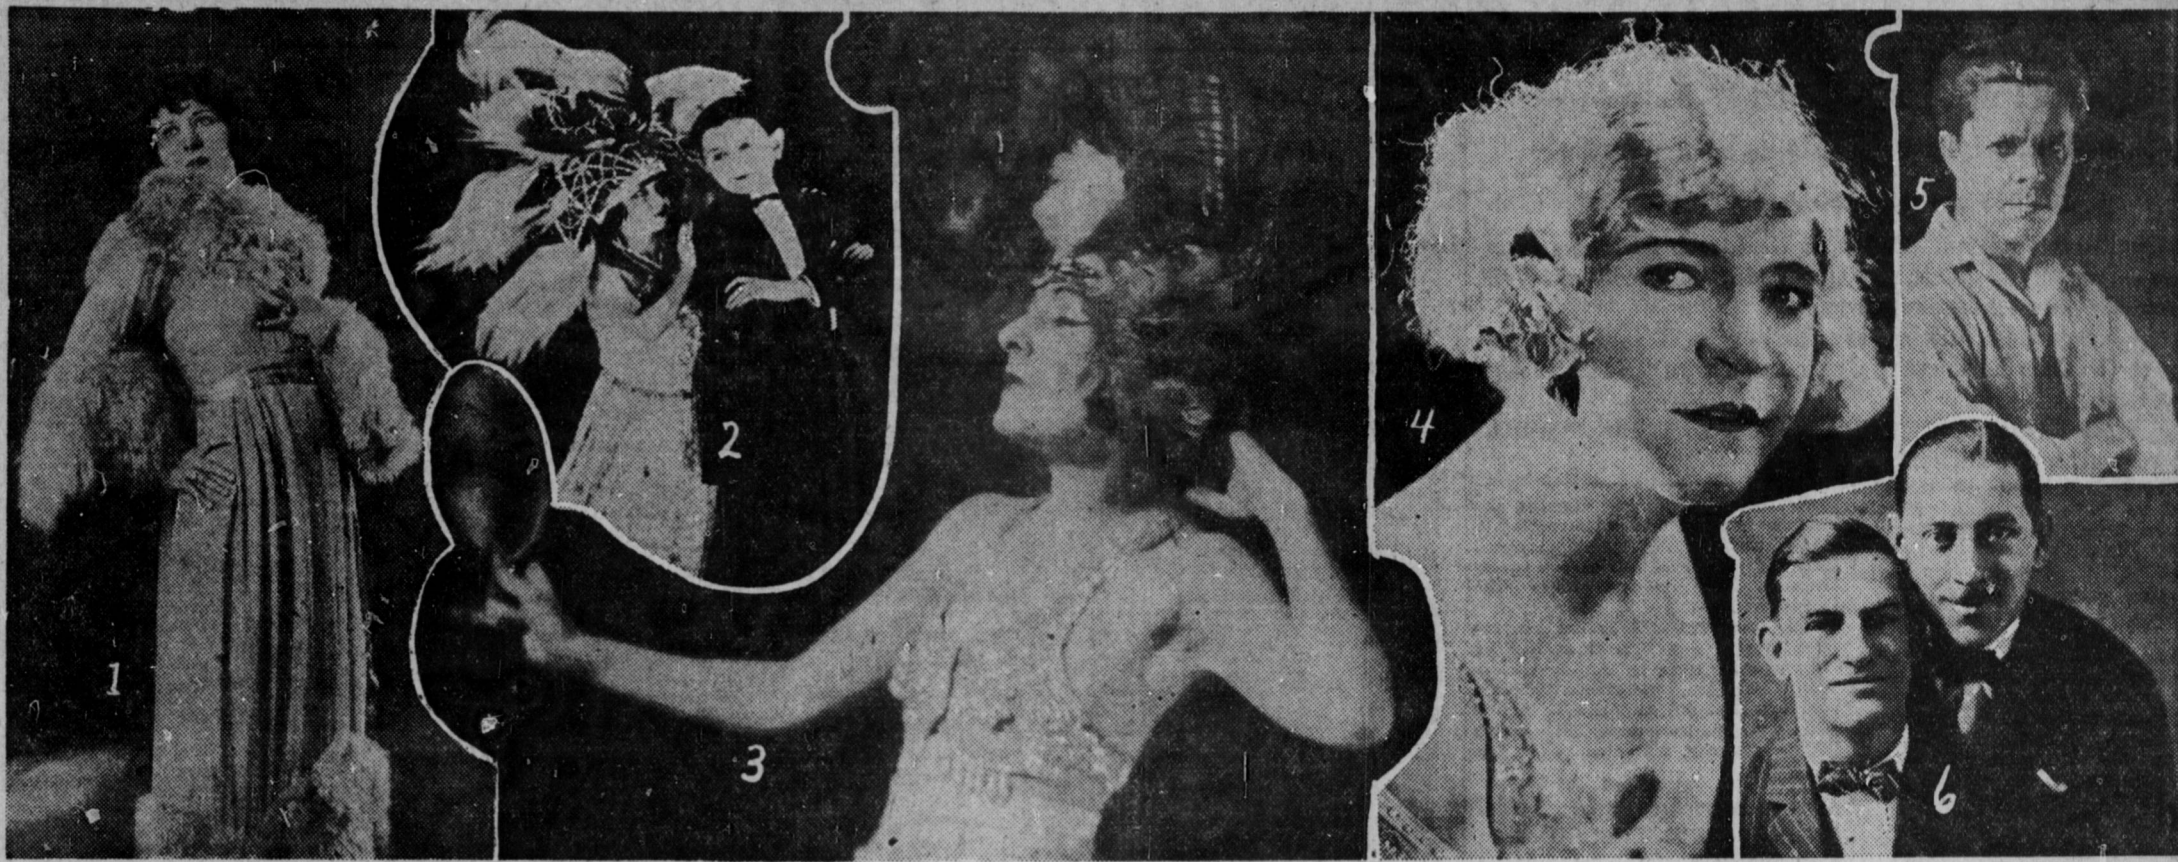

Pathe News, a comedy, a scenic. Topics of the day and an Aesop Fable are the short reels.

BARA TO RETURN

Theda Bara, who is to return to the screen as a Chadwick Picture Corporation star in Louis K. Anspacher's famous stage success, "The Unchastened Woman," is creating what she terms "emotional costumes" for this production. In the series of costumes there will be more than twenty of her own design, each in keeping with the mood of certain episodes of the stirring drama. Although colors and other devices have been used from time to time by stage producers to create certain sensations of atmosphere, Miss Bara's "emotional costumes" are distinctly an innovation. Production on "The Unchastened Woman" will be started shortly at the Chadwick West Coast studios.

DEFUNCT FIRM SUED FOR TAXES

Government Tries to Get $431,517.28.

Income tax claims totaling $431,517.28 have been filed against remaining assets of the Stenotype Company by the Government, according to letters sent today to approximately 700 creditors of the local plant by the Fletcher Savings and Trust Company, receiver. If the claim is upheld it will constitute a prior lien and will prevent distribution of the company's remaining assets among creditors.

The newest Government claim is based on a $1,180,000 award to the company by the Federal claims board for losses sustained through cancellation of war contracts. Of this amount the Government retained approximately $900,000 to cover wartime advances to the Stenotype company and now holds this sum to have been part of the firm's 1920 income.

The Fletcher company will contest the claim attorneys said. Approximately $200,000 is in custody of the trust company to be used in liquidating the defunct firm. This amount would be dissipated in case the claim is sustained. The Stenotype company went into receivership Nov. 14, 1918, after having manufactured various types of war munitions. Creditors would receive from 5 to 10 cents on the dollar if present assets were liquidated at once, Donald S. Morris, trust officer, said.

No. 1—Grace Doro will be one of the leaders on the new bill opening Sunday at the Lyric.

No. 2—Two of the little people with Singers' Midgets at the Palace next week, opening Sunday afternoon.

No. 3—Mme. Theo Hewes and her ballet will be one of the important events at Keith's the week of April 5.

No. 4—Karyl Norman will be the headline offering at Keith's next week, starting Sunday afternoon.

No. 5—Milton Byron will be leading man with the Berkell Players when they open the season at English's on Sunday night, March 29.

No. 6—Robinson and Bernard, phonograph and radio stars, will be an extra feature at the Ohio all next week.

Cedar Point, Ohio: Thomas Polk, Indianapolis, resolutions; Fred B. Snyder, Connersville, president's committee; Frank Downs, Gary, song book, and C. A. Budd, South Bend, constitution and by-laws.

SHORTRIDGE IS NAMED

Selected as Headquarters During Education Association Meet.

Shortridge High School has been selected by the National Education Association as its headquarters for the 1925 convention which will be held in Indianapolis during the week of June 29.

The office, classrooms, auditorium and gymnasium will be used for delegation meetings and exhibits. General sessions will be held in Cadle Tabernacle. Emmet Rice, member of the Shortridge faculty, has been selected general assistant at the N. E. A. headquarters during the coming session.

MAYOR OFFERS HELP

Letter of Assistance Sent Tornado Stricken Towns.

A letter of sympathy offering assistance from Indianapolis to tornado sufferers was sent to the presidents of the town boards of Griffin, Elizabeth, Owensville and Princeton, Friday evening by Mayor Lew Shank.

The letter read: "We shall assist in every possible effort to relieve your grief-stricken and homeless situation. If there is anything further that I or Indianapolis can do to be of assistance to your community, please command us." The letter told that Indianapolis citizens were co-operating with the Red Cross.

EXONERATION SOUGHT

Bus Driver's Fine Slashed to $1—Still Protested.

Dissatisfied, although Criminal Judge Pro Tem, Frank A. Symmes reduced the $50 and costs fine assessed Clinton Snapp, Greenfield, Ind., bus driver, in city court, Sept. 15, 1924, on a speeding charge, to $1 and costs Friday, Lloyd D. Claycomb, Snapp's counsel, asked that the case be continued in order that he may get two more witnesses. Symmes granted his request.

"It's a serious thing for a bus driver to be fined for speeding," said Claycomb.
