INSURANCE FOR AUTO LIABILITY NEEDED--SHANE

Manager of 'Bull Dog' Co. Points Out Many Accidents.

"Some people say that liability or indemnity insurance is not necessary and is a useless expense," said H. A. Shane, State Manager of the Bull Dog Auto Insurance Association, with offices at 460 City Trust Bldg. "Yet I saw three cases last Friday morning that prove to me and to any other person who saw the accidents the fool-hardiness of operating a motor vehicle without liability insurance."

"Early Friday morning I received a telephone call from Thirteenth St. and Broadway. A truck insured by the Bull Dog Auto Insurance Association hit a Jordan touring car, on its way from Terre Haute, Ind., to East Liverpool, Ohio, the fault being that of the driver of the truck. I immediately went to Thirteenth St. and Broadway, examined the car and authorized repairs."

Damaged Again
"The owner of the Jordan car, being a stranger, was to follow me to the service station. At Thirteenth and Meridian Sts. there was a blockade on the west side of Meridian St., extending about half-way across the street. The Jordan car had cleared the blockade and was cutting back to the right-hand side of the street when a taxicab skidded and damaged both fenders on the other side of the Jordan car. The total bill to the Jordan owner, had liability insurance not stepped in, would have been in the neighborhood of $75."

"While I was going to Thirteenth St. and Broadway I saw a young girl crossing Delaware St. at New York St., struck by a taxicab and dragged in front of the car possibly thirty feet. This was one of three cases that happened within forty-five minutes of each other."

Insures All Taxicabs
"The Bull Dog Auto Insurance Association writes liability insurance on taxicabs, busses, jitneys and private livery cars. We feel that such cars should at all times be covered by insurance. I think that a rate of $275 a year, which includes protecting the owner of the taxicab against suit brought by passengers in cabs as well as pedestrians and property damage outside of the cab, is comparatively cheap and would be a cheap premium for the owner of the taxicab that hit the young woman, even though circumstances might prove the driver was not at fault. The possibility of a suit is strong and nearly any attorney handling this kind of work would want that large a fee for this one case alone."

MANY REASONS WHY FOLKS GO TO CAFETERIA
Do you remember—if you are a woman—the days when you passed the theater that housed the "stock company"? Every time you came within half a mile of it, you always hoped to catch a glimpse of your favorite actor or actress "off the stage." And if you'd only known where they lived or where they ate or where they walked, you'd have haunted the place for hours in the hope of seeing if the heroine was really as pretty in daylight as she was before the footlights and whether the leading man looked as much of a hero in sunlight as in moonlight.

That's why a lot of Indianapolis girls and women—not to mention the business men, though they won't admit it—are dropping into the Hotel English Cafeteria these days, for there they are not only sure of finding good food, but are almost equally sure of seeing Jolly Larry Sullivan, Isabelle Arnold, the attractive ingenue of the Berkell Players or some other member of the company having lunch.

For stage folks, more than any other people, a good place to eat when they find it. They don't have many chances to eat home-cooked food, and they tire quickly of ordinary restaurant meals. Therefore, when they find, almost next door to the theater, a cafeteria like that managed by A. H. Farris, they seldom look farther. The convenient location of the cafeteria, on the west side of Meridian St., just where it joins the Circle, is another factor to recommend it to the business man, for it is within a moment's walk of any downtown office, and the music played during the lunch hour adds much to the pleasure of the patron.

'FIDELITY LOSS' IN COUNTRY IS LARGE AMOUNT

Foster and Messick Say We Must Watch Those We Trust.

Four million dollars a year is lost by business men in the United States through credit advanced to dishonest customers, according to J. M. Trego, who is working in the interests of the states to raise a fund of $25,000 to be used for the elimination of credit losses.

But, staggering as this amount seems, it is by no means all the money lost through misplaced trust, according to Foster & Messick, managers of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, 460 Fletcher Savings and Trust building.

Another Type of Loss
"While business men are working with Mr. Trego in his efforts to eliminate business losses," Foster & Messick say, "they should also give consideration to another type of business loss, which amounts to $200,000,000, namely 'fidelity losses.'"

"We have as authority for these figures the American Institute of Accountants. Their report from last year, recommending ways and means to prevent business losses, recommended fidelity insurance as the whole remedy for this type of loss."

Beginning to Realize Loss
"Credit questionnaires now carry a question as to whether fidelity insurance is carried, and credit men are taking that question into consideration. Business men generally are realizing that only those they trust least can harm them. They watch those they don't trust. Sentiment on this question is rapidly being eliminated."

"Where a business concern is not protected by fidelity insurance on its employees, the misappropriation of any of its assets may result in failure, or at least financial embarrassment."

"Fidelity insurance is the only prudent safeguard. It is a moral deterrent, and it affords a security and peace of mind far more than the comparatively small premium charged."

ROST ASSERTS SHORT SKIRT IS MOST STYLISH

Tailor and Cleaner Says 'Ups' Have It in Fashion-land.

Life is certainly a matter of ups and downs these days, but just now the "ups" have it, particularly in the matter of the skirt length, according to H. A. Rost, tailor and cleaner, whose shop is just east of Pennsylvania St., on Michigan St., in the new Medical Arts Bldg.

In connection with his tailoring department, where he makes popular priced suits to order, Mr. Rost has an alteration shop, and it is there that the long skirts of last years are remodeled and shortened into the fashionable and abbreviated mode of the spring.

"The change in skirt lengths has brought me an unusually heavy business from women who appreciate that a small and inexpensive alteration of this kind, when done by a tailor who knows how to give the professional finish to his work, practically makes a new suit out of one that seemed hopelessly out of style," Mr. Rost said.

"The shortening of skirts, however, is only one of the services I offer in connection with my tailor shop. Frequently I remodel wide-sleeved wraps that are no longer in style into the modern close-fitting type of coat, and very often men bring me good suits made in the tight-fitting fashion of last year and have them widened by letting out the seams in the coat and trousers."

"When this work is done, as it is here, with all the care that is given to the making of a new suit the result is just as satisfactory and much less expensive than such a suit would cost new."

Mr. Rost has been in the tailoring business since 1896. After working for some time at the Kahn Tailoring Company, he opened his first shop in Indianapolis nine years ago, in a little room at 12 W. Ohio St., back of the old Claypool Cigar Store. There his business expanded until he was forced to take space in the Marion Bldg., at 8 W. Ohio St., and from there he moved to his present location, 111 E. Michigan St.
