

STIRRIN' the DOPE

By VEDDER GARD

JACK DEMPSEY is fooling somebody—either the writers who say he will never fight and never can get in shape—or the public. A letter from a friend in Cleveland, where Dempsey put on three two-round exhibitions Wednesday night, says that the champ appeared in fine shape with no fat around his waist-line.

The epistle further stated that Jack's judge of distance (unlike the man who named it near beer) was good, that he was fast as a hantam on his feet, and hit like a ton with either hand.

Furthermore, Dempsey had each of his opponents groggy with punches from the big pillows he wore and knocked Marty Cutler, ex-wrestler, through the ropes with a jab to the solar plexus.

According to the letter John Risko was scheduled to go on with the champ but refused after an argument over the remuneration—otherwise known as dough.

Dempsey is fooling somebody. Who is it?

NEBRASKA-ILLINOIS RECORD

If you go back into ancient history far enough Nebraska has the edge on Illinois in games won and lost. Here's the record:

1892—Nebraska, 6; Illinois, 0.
1903—Nebraska, 16; Illinois, 0.
1904—Nebraska, 16; Illinois, 10.
1905—Nebraska, 24; Illinois, 6.
1923—Illinois, 24; Nebraska, 7.
1924—Illinois, 9; Nebraska, 6.

Wabash's record on the grid against Purdue has been excellent during the past five years. The scores:

1920—Purdue, 19; Wabash, 14.
1921—Purdue, 6; Wabash, 5.
1922—Purdue, 6; Wabash, 7.
1923—Purdue, 7; Wabash, 7.
1924—Purdue, 21; Wabash, 7.

But a Purdue man will tell you to go back farther than that. The first encounter was in 1889. Since that time Purdue has won sixteen and Wabash has been victor in seven. Two were tie affairs.

ACROSS THE BOARD TODAY

Racing luck was against us on Thursday at the track of Grace was left at the post, and Meerschaum at Woodbine finished third, after being forced wide in the stretch by another horse bearing out. First and second were scratched. At Latonia, Pandey was second and Red Pennant won. On the entire day's transactions we lost $14.70. The bank roll is $229.00.

Today, JULY BOY in the first at Latonia and CARE FREE in the first at Woodbine seem to go together so well that we will try them in a $5 win-place-and-show parlay. At Latonia we will play LIGHTER, TURNER, PAUL MILCOU and BRIER HILL—all of them $5 across. Some of those horses better step out or we won't have much dough left.

IT is gradually getting noised about that Ohio State has a great football squad this fall. You notice we didn't say great team. Sometimes wonderful looking material, for one reason or another, fails to develop into a winning combination. But from reports the Buckeyes look forward to a fine season.

Chicago also has the stuff according to all available dope. Ohio State and the Maroons clash in the first of the Big Ten struggles on Oct. 10. What a struggle it should be!

IT begins to look as though there won't be much to the big Latonia championship race on Saturday except King Had. He is sure to go to the post a heavy favorite. A very small field is the outlook, with, perhaps, only four or five thoroughbreds facing the barrier.

Maroon is out of it with a bad cough. Sir Peter will not go to the post, according to Mose Goldblatt's statement Thursday, and Quattrin has gone wrong and been shipped to the farm.

The eastern horses, Silver Fox and Chantey, had not arrived at the track Thursday, and it is doubtful if the pair will be on hand. None of the other writers seem to know whether the two will arrive late or not. It remained a dark secret last night.

HANOVER is to play a football game at Cincinnati U. on Saturday. It is an innovation tried last year at the Ohio city. Flood lights make the gridiron almost bright as day. There's a good theme for a movie.

Have the villain turn off the lights at a crucial moment—then a close-up of the undaunted hero, prepared for the emergency, snatching a flashlight from under his jersey and discovering the man who is carrying the ball, and by a flying tackle bringing him down one inch from the goal line just as the whistle blows and the players quit work.

A FEW "PICKS"

Nebraska to defeat Illinois, close game.
Butler to defeat DePauw, 20 points.
Purdue to defeat Wabash, 14 points.

(That's enough for today. The season is young and there are not many important games. With only three selections we can be wrong only three times.)

THE Greencastle correspondent says that Coach Hughes of DePauw had six teams in scrimmage on Thursday, in preparation for the Butler contest Saturday. It takes quantity as well as quality in these days on the college grids. In most institutions the battle on the campus is, "If you want to fight, join the Army-of-Gridders." The coaches' slogan, "Call out the reserves!"

FULL SCHEDULE OF STATE COLLEGE GRID GAMES ON SATURDAY

De Pauw at Butler Feature for Local Fans—Wabash and Purdue Contest Looks Like Battle.

A complete setting will be offered the sporting public on the Hoosier football stage Saturday afternoon with every eleven of any prominence going into action. Vincennes was at Danville Normal in the only game today.

In most cases the second games of the season will be played by the State contenders, while for Purdue and Indiana the test will be the first of the season.

It will be "Indianapolis Day" at Irwin Field, where De Pauw comes to battle Butler. The Butler Boosters' Association, an organization of local business men interested in Butler, has planned to turn out in a body for the game. A number of civic clubs have made reservations for seats.

Twelve hundred De Pauw supporters are expected to invade Indianapolis Saturday for the game. The delegation will arrive at 11:30 o'clock and parade through the downtown streets. A pep session will be held on the Circle.

Ready for Fight

Although De Pauw did not make an impressive showing against Bradley Tech last Saturday, the power of the Tigers is not underestimated by Coach Pat Page, the Butler mentor. De Pauw always fights hard against the locals. The local line-up considered having the best chance to start the game is: Woodling and Konold, ends; Hensel and Strole, tackles; Thaug and Southern, guards; Capt. Reichel, center; Helton, quarter; Nipper and Northern, halves and Miller, full.

Oland City meets Indiana Central at University Heights in another local contest.

Watch Notre Dame

Notre Dame, because of its strong showing against Baylor University last Saturday, will be closely watched. Lombard will offer the opposition for the Irish this week.

A feature contest will be staged in the new Ross-Ade stadium at Lafayette, where Purdue and Wabash mix in their annual rivalry tilt.

Against the new Phelan team Coach Vaughan of Wabash will send a comparatively green eleven, many sophomores being in the line-up for the Little Giants this season. The Wabash showing against Hanover was most encouraging to the Scarlet followers. Th. Bodemakers are favored by most critics to win by a small margin.

I. U. Starts

Bill Ingram's Indiana players will crack their season in the Crimson stadium with State Normal on the other side of the line. The Normalites are not regarded very seriously in this game and Indiana is picked to win by considerable margin.

Franklin meets Rose Poly at Terre Haute, in what should be a battle. Hanover journeys to Cincinnati for a game with Cincinnati University. Earlham takes on Dedanone and Evansville is at Louisville U.

FORMER CHAMPS BATTLE

Three Women Who Have Held Title Meet in National Golf.

By United Press
ST. LOUIS COUNTRY CLUB, Clayton, Mo., Oct. 2.—Three former national champions met today in the semi-final round of the women's national amateur golf tournament which was to be resumed here this afternoon.

Mrs. Alexa Stirling Frazer, three times title holder, was paired with Miss Louise Fordyce of Youngstown, the Ohio State champion, in the feature match of the day.

Miss Fordyce proved her ability to be paired with the former champion when she defeated Mrs. F. C. Letts of Chicago, 7 and 6, after Mrs. Letts had eliminated Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, who has held the golf title. Mrs. Frazer defeated Miss Mary K. Browne of Los Angeles, 3 and 2.

In the other grouping in the semi-finals Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, holder of several honors met Miss Edith Cummings of Chicago, also a former national champion.

Neither did George Hana and Ernest "Tex" Jeanes, left fielder and center fielder, respectively, of the Birmingham Barons.

In fact, if some one had broached such a proposition to them, they probably would have laughed in his face.

But with Pittsburgh and Washington in the world series this month, these two players will get a slash of the big coin.

Jeanes was purchased by the Senators and called for duty just in time to have his name added to the eligibility roll.

Hana, nominally the property of the Pirates all season, also was recalled just before the eligibility date rolled around.

Although it is very unlikely that either of the two men will play a prominent part in the series, both will draw down a share of the gate receipts.

N. Y. Next Point for Ballyhoo

By United Press
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Final details for the Dempsey-Wills heavyweight championship fight, which is scheduled for some place in the West next September, will be settled here next week, according to Paddy Mullins, manager of the negro challenger.

Mullins said Floyd Fitzsimmons, who made the match, would be here next week to settle a few remaining details, but that there would be no discussion about the place where the fight is to be held.

Jimmy Ring held the Robins safe and the Phillies won, 6 to 5.

BIG TEN ELEVENS GET BUSY

All Conference Grid Teams in Action Saturday—Grange in Spotlight.

By Edward G. Derr

United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Red Grange will make his 1925 gridiron debut in the University of Illinois stadium at Urbana, Saturday, when his team takes on the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Chiefly because of this fact the Illinois-Nebraska game will be the headline on the football program in the middle west this week-end. Fans are anxious to know whether the read head wonder will be able to repeat in this, his last year of competition.

Grange is in excellent condition. His back field running mates are faster this year than last, but his line, although heavier than last year, is green and inclined to be slow. Much will depend on this unseasoned line; it may make big holes for Red or it may get in his way.

Nebraska has a powerful team this year with a good sprinkling of veterans, headed by Capt. Ed Weir, an all-American tackle. The line caused trouble for Grange last year and may be more of a stumbling block Saturday. The back field has several veterans, including Choppy Rhodes, Manderly and Locke.

While Illinois is engaging in this hard contest, the other members of the Big Ten open their seasons with minor games.
