

SAFETY ZONES PARKING SPOTS, MR. FIXIT TOLD

Conditions of Capitol and Illinois St. Cited—City Pledges Probe.

Do You Know?

Walter Monroe, in charge of sewers at the street commissioners' office, is directing a campaign to remove roots which have stopped up a number of sewers.

Let Mr. Fixit help you prevent your car from being towed. He is the times representative at the city hall. Write him at The Times.

They're a little far-sighted about no parking signs on Capitol Ave., a correspondent informed Mr. Fixit today. The result is a dangerous traffic condition.

DEAR MR. FIXIT: You seem to be able to get things done that no one else can do, so try and see what can be done about these things that happen day after day and are observed by autoists and pedestrians alike.

On the north side of Sixteenth St. there are signs reading "No Parking on this side, Police Order" and yet there isn't hardly five minutes of the day that cars and trucks are not parked. The most dangerous place is at Capitol Ave. and Sixteenth St., where they are building a new hotel.

All along N. Illinois St., from Sixteenth St. downtown, cars park in the safety zone. Especially is this noticeable at Sixteenth and Eleventh Sts. They park right in the safety zone; consequently when cars pass there is no room to ride through the white safety marks where pedestrians stand for cars. This is an every-day occurrence.

A. DEVINE.
Sergt. Mary Moore, head of the police accident prevention bureau, agrees that this is a serious condition and will investigate at once.

DEAR MR. FIXIT: Would you kindly attend to a real need and thereby do a lot of folks a real service? I have in mind the condition of Southeastern Ave., from Rural St. east to the Belt elevation. Either side of the road is used for a dump and careless drivers of dump wagons have encroached upon it. Feet or more in places to ride through the white safety marks of the road to avoid the uneven surface.

LIFE-LONG SUBSCRIBER.
Police will seek to prevent this practice, Lieutenant Thomas promised.

DEAR MR. FIXIT: I have observed particularly for the benefit of property owners and I would thank you to serve this community by urging the engineering department and board of works to expedite a resolution for a sewer main to serve the region on Shelby St. south of Holiday and the streets east of Shelby St., but particularly south of the termination of the Bean Creek sewer.

Anticipating your promptness and favorable action in this connection, SUPPORTER OF MR. FIXIT.
Mr. Fixit has seen the plans for your sewer, which will extend as far as Martin St. The delay seems to be caused by a proposal to annex a section of land from Carson to State Ave. The idea is to connect this entire system of sewers with the Pleasant Run-Bean Creek interceptor sewer.

DEAR MR. FIXIT: While the city constructed the new Kessler Blvd., north of Speedway Blvd., they used Eighteenth St. for some time and the street is now in such a deplorable condition it can hardly be used. We have been taken into the city, pay city taxes, are without fire protection, schools, water plugs, etc., and the least we are asking is that this Eighteenth St. up to Goodlet Ave. be taken care of so that people living in that vicinity can put their supply of winter coal in.

CITY TAXPAYER.
The engineer of the park board will investigate, Mr. Fixit was told.

DISMISSAL OF
BIG M'CORMICK
CASE IS ASKED

Defendant in Action Here
Files Motion—May Go to New York.

Motions for dismissal of the suit of Harold F. McCormick, Chicago millionaire, who is seeking to prevent his wife, Edith Rockefeller McCormick, from obtaining $750,000 from trust funds established by her father, John D. Rockefeller, were on file in Federal Court today by Mrs. McCormick, and the Equitable Trust Company of New York, trustee.

McCormick brought the suit as "next friend" of Annie Oser, his infant granddaughter, whose mother, born Mathilda McCormick, is the wife of Max Oser, Swiss riding master.

This is the first action taken in the case since motions to quash the summons on Mrs. McCormick were filed in August by the Trust Company and overruled by Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell.

Ruling Awaited
H. J. Elam, of Elam, Fesler and Young attorneys said other actions in the case here were delayed, awaiting the ruling of the New York courts. Friday the Appellate division of the Supreme Court of New York State, ruled that the suit should be tried in New York.

Elam said it is possible that the case will be tried in one or the other of the courts without conflict, as one of the courts might waive jurisdiction until a settlement is made.

Judge Not Here
Judge Baltzell is not in Indianapolis now. No action will be taken here immediately on the motions to dismiss.

Indianapolis attorneys, representing Mrs. McCormick said today that she filed the motion for dismissal on grounds that the witnesses in the case, her children, could not be brought here for trial. The legal representatives for Mrs. McCormick have believed that the case should be heard in the New York court, it was said.

Church Congregation Erects Building In Hurry

Congregation at Fairview Church

When Aladdin wanted a new palace he rubbed his magic lamp a little, and it sprang into existence. Not having a lamp, the congregation of the Fairview Presbyterian Church, Forty-second St. and Capitol Ave., wanting a new Sunday School building, waved their hammers and saws today, and a stucco building twenty-four by sixty feet started assembling in a hurry.

When the sun rose, all there was of the building was a foundation, built Friday. At noon today the building was half done. The Men's Bible Class and the Live Wire Class expects to meet in the completed building Sunday morning.

R. H. Shelhorn, Sunday School superintendent, also head of the R. H. Shelhorn company, was in charge. He donated the labor of his force of carpenters, who measured and sawed the more intricate parts, while members of the congregation nailed and carried lumber, donating their services, too. The carpenters, whose work day ends at noon, donated their services for the afternoon.

One suspect was arrested. He was found in a gravel pit several blocks away from the hold-up scene. A restraining order to prevent the town marshal from arresting the bus officials when their cars drove on streets used by the Beech Grove Traction Company was granted Thursday in Superior Court Five. LEGAL BATTLE OF STEPHENSON OPENS MONDAY

Trio to Go on Trial at Noblesville on Murder Charge.

By Times Special
NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Oct. 10.—What is expected to be one of the hardest legal battles in the history of Indiana law will begin Monday here when the State places on trial D. C. Stephenson and his two aids, Earl Klineck and Earl Gentry, on charges of murdering an Indianapolis girl, Miss Madge Oberholzer.

Defense of the former Republican leader and his aids is in the hands of Eph Inman and Ira Holmes, Indianapolis attorneys, and the local law firm of Christian E. Waltz. Prosecutor William H. Remy of Marion County and Charles E. Cox, former Supreme Court judge, retained by the Oberholzer family to assist Remy, have the prosecution in charge.

Unusual Theory

The three defendants will be tried on a theory of murder rarely brought, though well-known to the law, attorneys point out—that of refusing medical aid to a dying person.

The State expects to prove, through a lengthy death-bed statement made by the young woman, that Stephenson, Klineck and Gentry made Miss Oberholzer, Stephenson's neighbor in Irvington, go with them to Hammond, Ind., where she took poison in a hotel after they had kept her prisoner all night. Remy hopes to establish that she was then placed in Stephenson's automobile, and brought to Indianapolis, being refused medical aid although she screamed for a doctor.

Fight on Statement

It is known that a hard fight will be made on the dying statement being admitted in evidence. Defense attorneys will try to attack the statement on the theory it was not written as Miss Oberholzer said it, but was drawn for the purpose of a civil suit against Stephenson.

The three defendants have been in jail in Indianapolis and here nearly six months, the State successfully resisting their efforts to be released on bail.
