

SOCIAL Activities

The wedding of Miss Mary Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Evans, 3445 N. Pennsylvania St., and Samuel Runnels Harrell, was solemnized at 8:30 p. m. Saturday at the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church. The Rev. J. Ambrose Dunkel officiated. Paul Matthews, organist, played a program of bridal music preceding the ceremony.

Miss Eleanor Evans was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a gown of pink chiffon. The bridesmaids were Misses Elizabeth Meyer, San Diego, Cal.; Dorothy Marnon, Mary Elizabeth Leighton, Chicago, and Mary Hamilton. Miss Meyer and Miss Marnon wore orchid chiffrons. Miss Leighton and Miss Hamilton wore gowns of pale pink chiffon. All carried arm bouquets of flowers. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of white satin trimmed with duchess and rose point lace. Her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms and extended to the hem.

Women Who Age

All welcome to this test

By Edna Wallace Hopper
At a grandmother's age, I keep my youthful bloom and contours. The thousands who see me daily on the stage and elsewhere know that I look 19.

That is due to factors science made for me and one is my White Youth Clay.

This is a new-type clay, white, refined and dainty. It is nothing like the crude and muddy clays so many have employed.

It combines two clays with other needed factors. The clays are clean and white. This is a dainty application, and the final result of 20 years of scientific study.

White Youth Clay purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. It removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. It draws the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. The result is a rosy afterglow which amazes and delights.

It combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. Many women seem to drop ten years with a single application.

Clay is a beauty essential. No woman can look her best without it, or keep her youth. In all the age, none have found a beauty help to compare with clay.

Now clay is made inviting. It is made to combine added helps. Whatever other clay you may have tried, you owe yourself a test of this new type.

Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Clay is supplied by all druggists and retail counters at 50c and $1. Send coupon for trial tube.

Let it show what it does.

COAT FROCK

Youthful and becoming coat frock, fashioned of navy blue twill, made with long-fitted sleeves and interesting neckline, ideal for school, business or travel wear, is expressed in Pattern No. 2554. A frock of this character is very expensive in the shops. Here is an opportunity for you to have the same model of good quality lustre twill, at just the cost of the material and a few hours' time. The small figures reveal the simplicity of the pattern. Crepe faille, wool rep, tweed or crepe satin is also smart for its development. Cues in sizes 16 years, 36 to 46 inches bust. The 36-inch size takes 3 1/2 yards of 40-inch material. Price 15 cents, in stamps or coin (coin preferred). Our patterns are made by the leading Fashion Designers of New York City, and are guaranteed to fit perfectly.

Every day The Times will print on this page pictures showing the latest in up-to-the-minute fashions.

This is a practical service for readers who wish to make their own clothes.

You may obtain this pattern by filling out the coupon below, enclosing 15 cents and mail it to the pattern department of The Times. Be sure to write plainly and to include pattern number and size.

The Tangle

Although I did not understand Syd's smile, Little Marquise, from his face I knew I had answered him with one quite as enigmatical, for I suddenly realized that I was not moved by anything that Jack or Syd had told me. I did not care about any kind of scandal that could descend upon Jack's more or less sinful head.

All I sensed at that moment was that I was sleepy, dreadfully sleepy, and I wanted to go to bed.

I was a little horrified at this sensation, for I thought if I had been the right kind of woman, Little Marquise, I ought to be angry, angry as I had been on other occasions when Jack had had similar cars to tell me, but here I was looking at it all as one completely on the outside.

I was perfectly willing to help Jack all I could in this mess, but whatever anyone else might think, I knew that as far as I was personally concerned I was out of it, and the only wish I had in all the world was that I could just go up to my room and get into bed and sleep. Jack evidently waited for some of us to say something, but no one seemed to have anything to say.

"What shall I do?" Jack finally asked.

"I think," said Sally Atherton, "the first thing for all of us to do is to go to bed. I am sure we are all tired, I am especially so, and I am sure that Leslie is worn out. Look at the clock. It is after 3."

"You're right, Mrs. Atherton," Syd said. "Will you let me take you home?"

"Sally stay here all night," I invited, impulsively.

"I'd like to, Leslie dear, but I don't think I had better do that. If there are any reporters outside they have seen the lights in the drawing room and if I don't go home they probably would think that we were having a conference about Jack's side of the accident. As it is, I shall walk out, call a gay good-night to you all, and get in a taxi.

"I'll be down quite early in the morning, and I hope you will be there, Mr. Prescott. I don't mind telling you that before this thing happened I determined to discharge that Simpson young woman as soon as possible. But from what you have told Jimmie Condon, I think it is out of my power."

Jack groaned.

"I'll take you home, Mrs. Atherton," persisted Syd.

"No, I'll go alone. You may call me a taxi, though."

"Tomorrow morning, Leslie, you and Mr. Prescott should go early to the hospital and find out how those two young people are."

Again Jack groaned.

"Can't we do that over the phone?" he asked.

"Hardly," answered Syd, who, as nearly as I could see, was enjoying Jack's discomfiture.
