

RECTOR WILL BE HONORED AT SERVICES

De Pauw to Have Memorial for Donor of Scholarships.

By Times Special
GREENCASTLE, Ind., Oct. 14.—Bishop Frederick D. Leete of the Indianapolis area of the Methodist Church will be principal speaker at memorial services here Friday for the late Edward Rector, founder of the Rector Scholarship Foundation and benefactor of De Pauw University.

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of Chicago, former president of De Pauw, will speak also, as will F. P. Davis, Chicago attorney; H. B. Longden, vice president of the university, and Hugh McGlasson, '27, representing the student body and Rector scholars.

Mrs. Rector Guest
More than 500 members of the Scholarship Foundation plan to attend the services, which will be held at 10 a. m. in Meharry Hall. Mrs. Rector will be an honor guest.

Friday was chosen as a fitting day for the memorial since that was the date of dedication of Rector Hall, woman's dormitory, donated some years ago by Mr. Rector and named after his wife.

The University will publish a special pamphlet of the memorial. Foundation Unique
The Scholarship foundation is unique in that it is the only one of its kind in the United States. Graduate members are now in every State, China, South America and Porto Rico. A permanent organization of members of the foundation, known as the Rector Scholar Association, of which Kenneth D. Buchanan of Indianapolis is secretary, has been formed.

Permanence of the foundation has been assured by recent gifts of Mr. Rector in his will, totaling approximately $2,500,000.

Do Some of Your Dreaming on the Roof of Your Home

By Walter D. Hickman
VERY feller can't have a nice tall chimney to put his back against and dream of Indiana, cowboys and the like.

It's so because every lad can't crawl up to the roof of his home and there have a "secret place" to dream while he looks up at the moon.

But there is a remedy for that. Ernest Poole has written a story about a lad who had a chimney, such a roof and dreams of real beauty.

Am telling you of "The Hunter's Moon," by Ernest Poole, published by The MacMillan Company, New York, and sells at $2 a copy. So if you have the dreams and no chimney and no roof, just get a copy of "The Hunter's Moon."

Am thinking that this book would inspire Bill Herschell to write some more poetry about the real boy and his dreams. The truth is, "The Hunter's Moon" is poetry, the sort of poetry that is expressed in the form of a novel.

Every little boy has the right to dream the right sort of dreams. Amory Barnes was such a lad and he lived in New York. His mother and his dad debated a great deal on the right of Amory to dream and sing weird songs.

Real Hate
Amory's mother helped him reach the "roof" and helped him to weave pretty dreams and pretty songs. But his Grandmother Barnes believed that dreams kept little boys from growing up to make money.

Grandmother Barnes so hated dreams and poems and songs that she started to freeze up all the dreams in Amory. She tried to poison the love that once existed between Amory's mother and father. The dreamless grandmother succeeded.

But haven't told you about Grandfather Wade—some people would call him a waster but he went from country to country hearing and remembering the songs that the people sing at work and at play.

To Grandmother Barnes this was all "rot" and, of course, she did not like to have Grandfather Wade return from one of his trips because she knew that Amory would start dreaming new dreams and rehearsing some new songs. So this family under one roof began quarreling and fighting to control the personality of Amory.

At times, Poole in the recital of this simple little yarn bursts forth in great beauty. I believe you will feel the explosive charm of the songs that Grandfather Wade sings into the memory of Amory.

For Every Home

It seems to me that all fathers and mothers would be wise in getting a copy of "The Hunter's Moon." Just place it on your library table. No other bait will be needed because every boy wants to dream.

There is a message for parents in "The Hunter's Moon," especially those parents who seek to make just matter of fact men out of their little boys.

Let the boys dream their dreams. Give 'em a chance to dream healthy big dreams. That is youth.

Give a boy the right kind of dreams when he is a lad and I know what kind of a man he will be. We get such little beauty in our lives when we start to make a living.

Don't deny anybody of his songs, his dreams, his chimney and his roof. And don't deny him a chance to read, "The Hunter's Moon."

Industrial Helps
The Indianapolis Public Library through its technical department lists the following three good books on aeronautics:

"Textbooks of Applied Aeronautic Engineering," by Woodhouse. Compilation of information on different type of airplanes, with some technical matter for designers.

"Airplane Engine," by Marks. Reliable data regarding the principles of design and practical operation of all classes of typical aircraft engines.

"History of Aeronautics," by Vivian. Traces development of flight from the legendary period to the present time.

The Restaurants of

Hotel Brevort

Madison St., East of La Salle
CHICAGO

Competent authority has said, that of the three best restaurants in Chicago, two are located in the Hotel Brevort.

When you visit Chicago, have at least one meal in the beautiful Main Restaurant or the Old English Grill of this famous hotel.

The superiority of service that distinguishes Brevort Restaurants is typical of accommodations in every department of this convenient downtown hotel. And Brevort charges are notably moderate.

Near at hand are the principal stores, banks, theaters, office buildings and wholesale houses.

THE Crescent Sunola

Heats the Whole House

Genuine Porcelain Walnut Enamel.

Most Beautiful Heater on the Market.

The perfected, practical warm air furnace! The Crescent Sunola is the last word in cabinet type heaters for medium and small sized homes. The Sunola circulates large volumes of warm, moist air and operates on the same principle as a basement furnace. It draws in cold air at the bottom of the cabinet, heats it, and forces it out at the top in such volume and with sufficient velocity to fill the entire house.

BEAUTY AND UTILITY

The Crescent Sunola combines rare beauty with utmost utility. The Sunola is so splendidly designed and perfectly finished that it greatly increases the beauty of any home, no matter how well furnished.

As it is not necessary to open the door to shake the ashes, there is no dust or dirt. The Sunola is the most sanitary heater for the home—the easiest to keep clean.

The Sunola burns any kind of coal—hard or soft, lignite, slack or coke. And its coal consumption is no more than an ordinary stove and many times less than a basement furnace. The economy of the Sunola is one of its attractive advantages.

Asbestos lined on all four sides, making a complete circulator. This feature is exclusive with the Crescent Sunola.

Guaranteed to hold fire 48 hours. Draft door machine fitted. Air tight joints.
