

HUNGRY MAN OWN DAD

Restaurant Keeper Drags His Father of Police.

By NEA Service
TOKIO, Oct. 16.—An old Japanese by the name of Seichiro Ishikawa was desperately hungry.
He strolled into a little restaurant and then tried to run away without paying his bill. The restaurant keeper started after him and a scuffle ensued. He then dragged the old man to the police station, where he found that the hungry man was his father, whom he had not seen for twenty years.

By United Press
DES MOINES, Oct. 16.—Two people who can not swim cause the majority of accidental drownings while bathing in the opinion of C.

C. Riley, manager of the municipal beach here who has saved the lives of 112 bathers during the last five years.

Riley says when two insecure swimmers are bathing together they persuade one another to go beyond their depth or take other chances either one, if alone, would never take.

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand, Oct. 16.—American deer hunters would find a hunting paradise in New Zealand.

Herds of red deer have become such a pest here that the government has removed all restrictions against shooting them. The annulment of all laws for the protection of deer followed the complaint of farmers that the herds become so numerous they constituted a serious menace to growing crops.

POLICE MUST SWIM

New York Makes New Requirement.

By Times Special
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Every city has its drawbacks, even to policemen. Just now New York is putting into effect an order requiring that all policemen must know how to swim. The reason, Commissioner Enright explains, is that the city is surrounded by great expanses of water, and to be a truly proficient policeman, one must be able to rescue persons, who accidentally, and otherwise, fall into this water.
