Butler Sorority Carols, Though Mercury Is Low.

Students at Butler University were hovered around the big fire places in the fraternity houses in a vain endeavor to keep warm Wednesday night, when they hear the sweet, tremulous tones of "Hall Dear Old Alpha Chi."

Tumblin' out on the front porches, they found the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority giving a serenade. The coeds explained later that the tremulous tones came from quivering knee caps.

Indianapolis and Indiana high schools will present plays on the value of open-air sleeping under the auspices of the Indiana Tuberculosis Association. The plays will Prizes ranging from $100 down to $10, will be given for the best plays dealing with the subject that are presented by high school pupils.

Murray A. Auerbach, executive secretary of the Indiana association, said today the idea that night air is injurious still prevails. Many schools which will present plays are conducting surveys of the conditions in their communities.
