Fruits should always be served as cold as possible. Place fingerbowls on the table when fruit is served.

Wrinkles Disappear in Fifteen Minutes!

If you want to see wrinkles, age lines and sagging completely disappear from your face in less than 15 minutes, just mix a spoonful of powdered tartar with a spoonful of lemon juice. Apply this soothing mixture to your face. Before your very eyes, while you watch in the mirror, the ugly marks of age will disappear like magic. It is the most startling, best kept secret you looked like when young! Watch the "sagging" correct itself. Enjoy the strange, delicious sensation of stimulation, support and plump, smooth firmness!

When you wash off the application, your face looks years younger. The effect is far better than that of a face massage. Tartar is so harmless you could eat it. From your druggist you can obtain a package containing enough to bring the cost of each treatment down below three cents.—Advertisement.

You can almost feel RHEUMATISM disappear!
THAT miserable ache from inflamed, swollen muscles—GONE! Rheumatism conquered! Driven right out of the system—simply by building rich, red blood. Sounds almost incredible—but it's true! You see, rheumatism, as it is called, that cripples you up and tortures you night and day, is caused by impurities in the system. Weak, impoverished blood can't throw off these impurities—so rheumatism remains.

S. S. S. helps Nature rebuild your blood to fighting strength—builds red-blood-cells by the millions! Red blood purifies the system—rheumatism is driven right out. Get this wonderful relief yourself! Thousands are doing it! S. S. S. has been stopping rheumatism by building up red cells in the blood for generations. It will do the same for you. S. S. S. also cleanses your skin of blemishes—increases your appetite—puts power and strength and energy in your body. Get S. S. S. today from any druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

"You will forgive me, lady fair," continued Melville Sartoris in his letter, "I assure you I am not in any way trying to belittle your husband. He's an upstanding sort of a chap even if a little self-sufficient."

"I'm only trying to convey to you the fact that as an outsider, a man who has had a great deal of experience in observing people, I am quite sure that the friend of husband is the lover of wife."

"There, I know, I've expressed myself awkwardly, for not for one moment do I think that Friend Sydney has ever told you how much he cares for you. Indeed, I think he has kept his head stuck in the sand of coldness and like an ostrich thinks that all he would not have you see is covered."

"Nevertheless, I know that with your woman's perspicacity, you are well aware that the man who always comes at your husband's call does not always do it because of the love he bears to him alone."

"I'm having a quiet smile as I think of your consternation that I would dare to write you the things that I am writing, but, because of the conditions under which these letters are written, I don't mind telling you I am having the greatest romantic thrills I have ever had in all my life. I can say to you anything I want to about myself as well as everybody else. I can make you the most astonishing protestations, well knowing that you cannot stop me, because you do not know where to write to me and you never will."

"Dear lady of the snows, there are compensations in the fact that I shall never look upon your face again because, if it were otherwise, if I intended some day to meet you fact-to-face, I would never dare to tell you that more than any other woman on this earth, you intrigue and interest Melville Sartoris."

Surely, Little Marquise, you never received in all your life a letter that was more startling than the one from which I have quoted here and I feel quite wicked because I would not dare show it to Jack and yet it is nothing that I can help. I expect, however, that Jack would say that having read the first one, I could put all the others in the fire unopened. I defy, however, any woman good or bad who, having read the

New Help
That millions need
A real liver stimulant

Here is a new discovery which nearly everybody needs. Physicians are prescribing it to millions. The results it brings are among the marvels of modern medicine.

It is a liver gland secretion which stimulates the liver. We used to think that cathartics did that, but science has proved that they don't. They merely irritate the intestines. The only way to really stir the liver is this new way.

Stimulating the liver means an added supply of bile. We need a quart per day. Not only to flood the bowels, to keep them clear and open. But to combat intestinal germs.

Bile is nature's antiseptic. Germs breed by millions in the intestines when the bile is scanty. They feed the blood a constant supply of poisons. Very many of the ills we suffer are due to that poisoned blood.

An adequate bile supply does more than correct constipation. It ends the cause of countless ills. Nearly everybody can gain new health by an added supply of bile.

That liver secretions embodied in tablets called Dioxol. Each tablet represents ten drops, purified and concentrated, with other important helps.

first one, would ever torture her curiosity in the way it would torture it, if she destroyed the others she received unopened. Melville Sartoris is extremely clever. He has built up for himself a most intriguing companionship—one that has all the charm of intimacy and yet he has arranged matters in such a way that he can keep on or let go as he pleases. I have nothing to say. What would I do if I could write him, Little Marquise?

CONGRESSMAN'S WIFE DIES

By United Press
GALESBURG, Ill., Nov. 6.—Mrs. May Roberts King, wife of Representative Edward J. King, prominent in Congress, died suddenly of heart disease here early today.

Martha Lee's Column

Triangle Points

Dear Miss Leo: I have been in love with a young married woman for three years. She is young, but she is six years older than I. She loves me, she has more faith in me than in her husband. She is a good woman, a good housekeeper and mother. She isn't happy. Do you think I left where she couldn't see me every day, it would change things and make it easy for her? She has just married the wrong man. Her husband doesn't care for her, but she loves her children.

BEWILDERED.
I think the young woman will doubtless adjust herself to the conditions more peaceably if you stay away from her than if you hover around. I think it is the honorable thing for you to do to go away. Moreover, you have your own side to think of. The woman is a good deal older than you, and had children whom she cannot help but love more than you if she is any kind of a mother at all. If she went away with you with her children your "romance" would lose its flavor, since, in my opinion, it is based on romantic pity, and if she left the children at home, she would annoy you with her persistent worry, and flashes of conscience. Better go now.
