'Big Red' or 'Big Green'?
WE promised some sort of a prediction on the Cornell at Dartmouth game on Saturday. The reason we are centering to a great extent on this battle is because it looks like the out-standing game in the East despite the fact that there will be more spectators at the Harvard-Princeton set-to. And, of course, there is plenty of interest in other contests.

Dartmouth is being made a big favorite around Indianapolis. The grid followers may be wrong. We have a hunch that Dartmouth is somewhat over-rated and Cornell somewhat under-rated.

We have reasons as follows: Cornell, in spite of bad breaks, defeated Columbia, 17 to 14. Columbia's two touchdowns were scored on an intercepted pass and a recovered fumble. Had breaks gone the other way Cornell never would have been threatened. Pease, Columbia's great back, played against Cornell and not against Ohio State in the game won by Buckeyes, 9 to 0.

Dartmouth beat Brown, 14 to 2, but did it by recovering two blocked kicks behind the goal line. The forward passes of the "Big Green" team failed. Keeler, Brown star, was injured in the first half and forced from the game.

Cornell has been very much the mystery team of the East because of its habit of playing third rate teams. The game last Saturday against Columbia was the first real test and the "Big Red" team showed plenty of power. It is coming along.

For these various reasons, when the "Big Green" and the "Big Red" eleven clash it looks like a fairly even match. However, there is a good chance for the dope to be upset again in a major battle. In Indianapolis Dartmouth is a 10 to 7 favorite. We believe, in spite of the trend of opinion, that Cornell, the "Big Red" team, has an excellent chance of defeating Dartmouth, the "Big Green" eleven.

ACROSS THE BOARD TODAY: The football season is winding around most of the summer and fall with that original $500. Across the board shot it all on Thursday and today woke up broke. And the way it happened is enough to cause the most hard of heart to get out his handkerchief and wipe away a few crocodile tears.

We went broke by the margin of a hair. In the first place, we got into the running a $50 win parlay was played on Cyclones and Big Blaze on Thursday. Cyclone was at odds of 3 to 1, but Big Blaze lost by odds of 3 to 1. Big Blaze lost by odds of 3 to 1. Sniff! Sniff! Boo! Hoo!

When we got the heart of our prediction today we came to our rescue and advanced us $500. The condition he made was that we shoot the whole works at once. He wanted to see some action. Beggars cannot be choosers so the entire $500 will be put up today.

Here's how we are going to risk the $500 across on PANDER PETE in colt: $50 across on PANDER PETE in colt at Churchill, $50 across on SIEGER in colt at Churchill, $50 across on OH SUSANNA in colt, the fifth at Churchill: $50 win, place and show across on ACCUMULATOR in colt, the fourth at Churchill. That's short and to the point.

THIS is the day that the dopers must put down their opinions in black and white on Saturday's games, or forever hold their peace. It is easier not to select the probable outcomes of the grid contests. We will choose the harder way in a few games. There are four contests between Big Ten rivals. This is the way they look to us:

Iowa to defeat Wisconsin after a hard battle.

Illinois to win by a fairly large score over Chicago unless the Maroons play above the form shown so far.

Michigan to win by decisive margin over Northwestern.

Ohio State to defeat Indiana U. by comfortable margin.

Here's something for the "Society for the Prohibition of Everything" to investigate. Coach Zuppke of Illinois gives his grid players green tea. Tannin, which is found in tea, must have a terrible wallop. We would like to have some of the old lady members look this up.

SOME of these days Minnesota is going to join the Big Ten conference. The Gophers have played only one Western Conference football game this fall, which resulted in a tie with Wisconsin. Butler is the opponent on Saturday. The Swedes have something to think about in the last two games of the season when Iowa and Michigan are met.

Red Grange will find the going much tougher against Chicago. Teams that have had some experience with the flash devise means of stopping his sensational dashes. Don't expect too much of him this week.

If the latest reports from Iowa are true and Kutsch will not be able to play against Wisconsin because of injuries sustained in practice, the Badgers have an outside chance to spoil the Hawkeye side hopes.

A rodeo was held last summer in Grant Park stadium, Chicago. If there are any lassos lying around which the wild west performers forgot to take with them Northwestern had better gather them up for use on Friedman, Molenda and Oosterbaan of Michigan Saturday.

TWO midicts will direct the attack of the opposing elevens when Franklin and Purdue clash at Lafayette on Saturday. Chapin of the Baptists never strained any weighing machines when he stepped on the scales. The huge youth tips the beam at around 125 pounds. Smiley of the Boilermakers pushes the dial up around 145 pounds.

LEADING GAMES FOR HOOSIER TEAMS SATURDAY OUT OF STATE

69,000 TO SEE BIG FEATURE

Chicago-Illinois Battle, With Grange Performing, Holds Mid-West Interest.

By United Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The Illinois-Chicago game at Urbana, Saturday, will draw the biggest crowd and most interest of any gridiron contest in the Mid-West.

Red Grange, who hit his stride in the Penna game last week, is largely responsible for the widespread interest in the game at Urbana. Fans realize this is Red's last year of collegiate competition and the season is rapidly drawing toward its close. As many as can get into the huge stadium will be there.

19 Special Trains

Extra bleachers seating 2,000 spectators have been erected, bringing the total attendance Saturday to 69,000. Nineteen special trains will be run from Chicago.

Illinois has been beaten by Iowa and Michigan and Chicago was tied by Ohio State, which means unless Michigan and Iowa are unexpectedly defeated before the end of the season, Saturday's game at Urbana will not affect first place in the conference standing.

There are three other games Saturday between Big Ten rivals, two of which will come close to the Illinois-Chicago game in general interest.

Coach Burt Ingwersen's Hawkeyes, with victories over Illinois and Ohio State to their credit, meet Wisconsin at Iowa City. The Badgers have been one of the disappointments of the season and unless they show marked improvement Iowa's slate should remain clean.

Wolverines at Chicago

Michigan's powerful scoring machine, one of the greatest teams in the country, will draw a full house to the Grant Park stadium in Chicago, where it clashes with Northwestern's Wild Cats. Unless the Wolverines go into the game with too much confidence, they should pile up another good score and increase their string of conference wins to four.

"Moon" Baker may be in the Northwestern back field, but one ankle is still weak and he probably will see only part time service.

Ohio State and Indiana meet at Columbus. Both teams have been defeated.

The other Big Ten teams meet non-conference, Minnesota taking on Northwestern, Michigan on Purdue, and Cornell at Franklin at Lafayette.

CORNELL SQUAD READY

Every Regular in Shape for Dartmouth on Saturday.

By Times Special

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 6.—With red banners flying, Cornell's undefeated football team started for Hanover Thursday, where an equally undefeated Dartmouth team is pawing up the dirt in anticipation of Saturday's fray.

Coach Gil Dobie got his charges away with every regular intact, Fred Wester, the flashy quarter back, having recovered from a severe cold.

Seven Boxers Named to Enter Amateur Show.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—Chicago and Illinois have places again on the Pennsylvania football schedule for 1926 which is to be presented by the faculty committee. The Chicago game is booked for Oct. 16 at Philadelphia and the Illinois game Oct. 30 at Urbana, in 1926. Columbia is back on the schedule for Nov. 13 at Philadelphia.

Holle has been matched with Bill Walters, from the Bud Taylor gymnasium at Terre Haute and will be in the line-up against the south side high school Saturday. Prep field is located on W. River-side Dr.

An opponent is being sought for Charles Scone, 160 pounds, of the Fairbanks-Morse Club, and as local boys in that class do not seem over-anxious to mix it with the F.M. k.o. specialist, the Taylor gym may be called on for an adversary.

Ohio State and Indiana meet at Columbus. Both teams have been defeated.

The other Big Ten teams meet non-conference, Minnesota taking on Northwestern, Michigan on Purdue, and Cornell at Franklin at Lafayette.

HERE'S ANOTHER BOUT

Now It's Stribling Against Tunney in N. Y. Show.

By United Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Young Stribling, Georgia light heavyweight, will be offered a bout with Gene Tunney, New York heavyweight, in the main event of the Christmas fund benefit at Madison Square Garden in December if the boxing commission will suspend the six-round minor rule.

Stribling will be of age on Dec. 26, after which the rules will permit him to fight more than six rounds.

Keith's ends with the contest.

The Culver band is to give a concert before the game and between halves. The Cadets will stage a drill on the field. A dinner at the Claypool and a theater party at Keith's ends with the game.

The Culver special train is due to arrive at 11 a.m. Saturday. The cadets will parade to the Claypool, where they will have lunch. The train then will carry the visitors to Irwin field and will wait on a siding until the contest is over.

Concert and Drill

The Culver band is to give a concert before the game and between halves. The Cadets will stage a drill on the field. A dinner at the Claypool and a theater party at Keith's ends with the game.

All Boy Scouts of Indianapolis and Army officers from Ft. Harrison will be guests of Butler at the game.

At the University Heights field here Indiana Central takes on Hanover. It is quite an undertaking for the local eleven which under the able leadership of Athletic Director George has been put on the sports map.

By Times Special

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 6.—Coach Eddie O'Conor's Purdue cross-country team will take part in its third long distance meeting of the year here, Saturday morning, when it opposes the Indiana "T" harrers. The meet is to start at 11 o'clock and will be run over the regular Big Ten course at Purdue.

The same rules will prevail as under the watch system of timing.

At the start of each race the score board will register "40 plays to go," and then "39," "38" and so forth until 40 plays have been made. The period ends then and the score at that time is recorded.

Lieutenant Johnson, a West Point cadet, is quarter back, and Captain Robinson, formerly of Alabama Polytechnic, is playing full back.

Two weeks ago the J. J. C. defeated the Battery B team from Ft. Harrison so decisively that they earned the chance to meet the regular post eleven. The east enders again will be outweighed, as the Army outfit averages 175 pounds. Sunday's game will start at 2:30.
