

CHINESE ISSUE EDICT AGAINST FLAPPER DRESS

Pekin Minister of Education 'Horror-Stricken' by Fashions.

By NEA Service
PEKIN, Nov. 13. — Alarmed by what he deems a growth of immodesty, the minister of education of the Pekin government has issued an edict against all "flapper" forms of dress among Chinese girl students.

Horrified by the sight of students of the universities, he declares that "some of the girls even purposely wear particularly short skirts and wide sleeves. Thus when they raise their arms the elbows may be seen. As to their skirts, when they walk their knees are sometimes exposed."

The wearing of flowery and colorful dresses also is deplored by the minister, although he does not ban their use—yet. He recommends in strong terms, however, that a dark uniform be adopted by all girl students.

The students, who acknowledge themselves to be the chief patriots of China, declare they are being oppressed by a "capitalistic imperialistic" government, which has taken away the right of every proletarian to dress as he, or she, sees fit.

"That city government costs remained normal in California while State costs jumped 455 per cent and county costs 365 per cent in the past thirteen years can be attributed largely to the fact that California cities are being run by experts, while county and State business is in the hands of politicians," Beckett said.

About 70 per cent of California's residents live in cities. In California there are twenty-seven cities run by managers, whose first concern is a showing of efficiency.

"Common sense economists are becoming convinced that lower taxes are to be found not so much in par-simonous government as in efficient government," Beckett said.

Z. B. Hunt, 4244 Rockwood Ave., said: "Now is certainly the most opportune time to boost the city manager movement, and I am a Republican, too."

POTATOES ARE CAUSE OF SIN

Movies Are Not Responsible for Empty Pews.

By Times Special
LONDON, Nov. 13.—While clergymen of all denominations are trying to decide whether golf, the movies or poor sermons are responsible for empty church pews, the Rev. Dr. Lindsay Young of Portsmouth, has advanced a new reason.

"The Archbishop of Canterbury—head of the Church of England—is himself largely responsible because he encouraged people to grow potatoes and other vegetables on Sundays during the war," Dr. Young declared in a sermon. "The Archbishop cannot expect to permit people to violate one commandment and have them continue to obey all the others."
