

STIRRIN' the DOPE

By VEDDER GARD

HERE are several reasons why football results are hard to dope. One of the difficulties comes from the fact that if one is not on the inside and knows the workings of a team he does not give an even credit for developing from one week to the next.

There are coaches who can gradually point a team through a season until it reaches the peak for certain games. There are no two better illustrations than Princeton in the East and Minnesota in the West.

The Gophers started out under their new coach, C. W. Spears, as though they were just a scrub aggregation. They looked fairly good, but not good enough. After winning preliminary games the Swedes lost to Notre Dame, which, of course, was no disgrace. But the Irish had just been beaten decisively by the Army.

Then they were tied by Wisconsin. The Butler game was the tip-off, but no one gave the northern outfit the credit it deserved. Then the Iowa slaughter. Michigan is in for a battle next Saturday.

We believe Minnesota can down the Wolverines. The team has been coming under the persistent coaching of Spears, and the complexities of the Warner shift have been soaking in.

Princeton in the East was not given a chance at the start of the season. All one heard was Yale, Yale, Yale as far as the "Big Three" was concerned. But Bob Roper has a way about him of developing a club out of ragged odds and ends.

At the start Amherst was defeated which was nothing to get up and cheer about. Then Washington and Lee was downed by a close score. The Navy was tied, but Colgate beat the Tigers, 9 to 0. Swarthmore was defeated, 19 to 7.

Then came the real tests—the contests which Coach Roper wanted. His team was ready. Harvard was buried, 36 to 0 and Yale was defeated in one of the so-called big upsets of the year, 25 to 12.

But the question always arises, are those upsets really upsets? When a team decisively outplays another is it an upset? Of course, such a result is unexpected on a comparative score basis, but it seems that comparative scores do not mean much in this grid game.

The Yale defeat probably wasn't such a surprise to Coach Roper, who knew what he had: knew what he had developed slowly and patiently throughout the season. If Minnesota had been as many will call it "kicking over the dope bucket." Maybe so, maybe so. And maybe not!

ACROSS THE BOARD TODAY: More collected on two winners and the losers, and out of $140 put up only $136.50 came back, showing a net loss for the day of $3.50. Rothermel and Wagner were winners, but Lexington, the best one being at odds of 6 to 1. Gabelerine won, but was disqualified for a foul. Pete was third, but was hooked up with Gabelerine. Responder ran out of the douch and Responder was scratched.

At Bowie, in the big race, Primrose was third, a head out of second place, and paid 5 cents over even odds. Frying Cloud was second at short odds, but was hooked up with Chikawa, a loser. The bank roll today is $1,156.95.

In the first at Lexington today, FLAG NUTCRACKER won like a high flyer, and gets a $10 win-and-place payoff. The SPA may surprise in the third. The investment is $5 across the board.

MARGARET GALT will pay something if the filly can beat Golden Mary in the fourth, and will try her $5 win, place and show. INDIANAPOLIS, in the fifth, has disappointed after, but is a long punishment and will try the filly just once more for $5 worth, right across.

At Bowie, MR. PEPP will be played, $10 win, place and show, in the fourth. There are plenty of good ones in there but the odds must be to catch the judges' eye. KANDIDU can do it in the fifth, and $5, in place and show, right on the filly's chances. We hope it will be OUR BIRTHDAY in the finale. Ten dollars, win, place and show, is the risk we take.

NOT only did Princeton "ring the bell" against Yale last Saturday, but after it was all over the Tiger freshmen tolled the chapel bell twelve hours without a stop in honor of the 25 to 12 victory.

Not only did the Princeton team tear up the Bulldog eleven during the game, but after it was all over the rooters tore up the Yale goal posts and took them home as souvenirs. At least that's what press reports say. The Tigers broke loose.

Now to make the football season a complete success for those who love to see the dope upset, Harvard should defeat Yale next Saturday, Ohio should defeat Illinois and Indiana down Purdue. Then, of course, there is De Pauw to beat Wabash. And not a one of them is impossible. Nothing is impossible this year on the football field.

According to Frank Getty, feature writer, the under card had its day on eastern grids last week. Saturday was a great occasion for the fellow family. It was the cat's paw. The Princeton Tiger clawed the Bulldogs, the Columbia Lion chewed up the Army Mule and the Pitt Panther sprang on Penna.

It is generally agreed that Technical High School has the class of the local prep football teams, but the Green and White had better be on their toes next Wednesday. Manual is "rarin'" to go. Higgs will be in shape and that player's presence in the game makes all the difference in the world to the south side eleven.

He is the best passer among Indianapolis high school players and upsets in football usually come like flashes of lightning out of the heavens.

PHILLY GETS MANY 1926 EVENTS—SENIOR INDOOR TRACK AT CHICAGO.

Philly Gets Many 1926 Events—Senior Indoor Track at Chicago.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 17.—The Amateur Athletic Union closed its annual meeting here today with completion of awards of events to various cities next year and the election of its officers.

Murray Hulbert of the Metropolitan association, was expected to be given another term of office to carry on the work he has been doing as president of the A. A. U., for the past year.

Philadelphia, scene of the sequel-centennial exposition, has grabbed the lion's share of events, six of the championships already having been awarded the Quaker City, including the national senior and junior outdoor track and field meet.

At Chicago The National Senior indoor track and field meet will be held in Chicago in February. St. Augustine, Fla., was scheduled for the national senior indoor swimming championship; cross country run and St. Louis was given the 15-mile national championship.

The A. A. U. voted to send an American boxing team to Buenos Aires to compete in the Pan-American meet next April. The representative team will be chosen after the national amateur championship bouts to be held in Boston.

200 Records While two hundred records made by athletes in various meets under A. A. U. supervision during the past year were approved at the parley, sixty-six were rejected and others referred back to committees.

Among those in the latter class is the running broad jump of 23 feet, 14 inches, made by William A. Dowling of Georgetown University in New York on March 7, 1925.

A break between the intercollegiate A. A. U. and the A. A. A. U. was threatened by certain supporters of Dowling unless the record is accepted, since it was made at an A. C. A. A. meet.

LEWIS WINS Strangler and Munn Stage Act in Texas.

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 17.—Ed (Strangler) Lewis heavyweight wrestler, defeated Wayne (Big) Munn, here Monday night. Munn made short work of Lewis in the first fall, downing him in 7 minutes, 35 seconds with a crotch hold.

Lewis, with a neat bit of "whittling" tactics, wore the big boy out and downed him in the last two falls with headlocks. Time: 52:41 and 13:12.

YALE SINGS THE BLUES Coaches Tell Warriors They Had Better Watch Out for Harvard.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17.—In an atmosphere of indissoluble gloom, Yale's weary warriors put their bruised heads and long faces together Monday and listened while the coaches "moaned the blues" about the coming contest with Harvard.

So worn and dejected were the players' coaches were ready to spare the acrimony and work on morale and mental alertness. Yale, instead of looking forward to a romp over Harvard, now is being told that the team must brace if it expected to win at Cambridge next Saturday.

ALONG THE SIDELINES

AT INDIANA BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 17.—The annual contest between Purdue and Indiana will find a heavy battle in the line. The Purdue victory of last year shall not be repeated. The Hoosiers probably will rely on straight tactics for victory.

AT MINNESOTA MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 17.—Minnesota's "crucial week" opened with a session. Dr. Charles W. Spears explained the Michigan aerial attack against the defenses that will be perfected this week. Minnesota believes it can stop Michigan's passing, it will hold the upper hand.

AT MICHIGAN ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 17.—Anticipating a possible muddy field, Michigan is concentrating on its passing attack in which Moten is the "king log." Part of the practice was held in the snow. A dry field is Michigan's hope.

AT IOWA IOWA CITY, Iowa, Nov. 17.—Iowa will finish his major preparation for Southern Cal. today and leave for Los Angeles, hoping that Fry, who was hurt in the clash with Minnesota Saturday, will get into the game.

AT CHICAGO CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—The greater part of Chicago's eleven was ready to meet the Green and White team of the University of Wisconsin. The eleven is expected to be ready for Wisconsin.

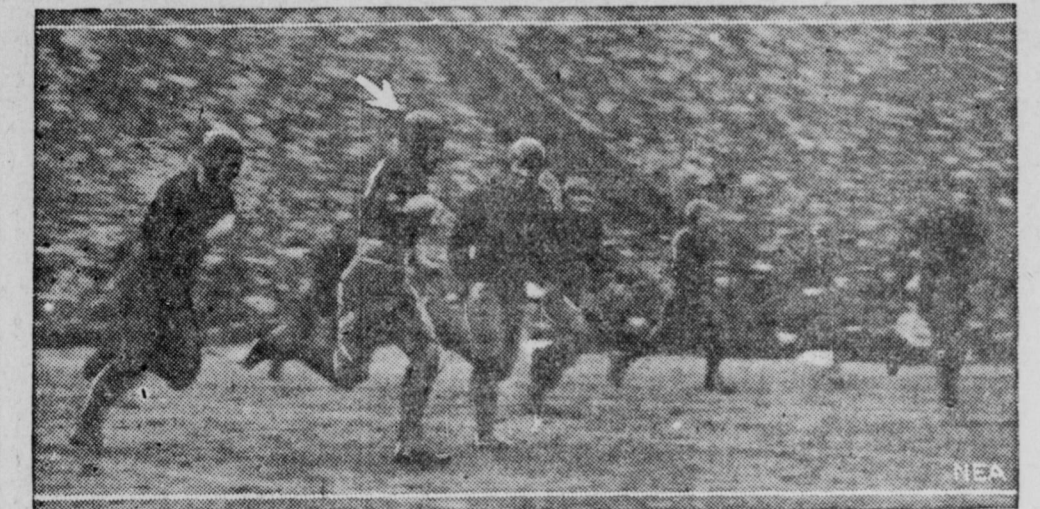

AT WISCONSIN MADISON, Wis., Nov. 17.—Forecasting a victory over Chicago as a pleasant end to a season that has been fairly successful after a bad start, Wisconsin is expected to have a good game. The Buckeye passing got a lot of attention. Wisconsin has no hospital and will be at its full strength.

AT ILLINOIS URBANA, Ill., Nov. 17.—Illinois is disregarding everything the experts say about its game with Ohio State Saturday. The battle between the two schools always has defied all odds, and Illinois is taking no chances. A big mob of students will descend on Urbana to see Captain Grange do his last playing.

AT OHIO STATE COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 17.—A season that started out wonderfully, but now into complications, will not be such a bad one after all to Ohio if the Illinois game can be captured. For once this season, the Buckeye probably will have full strength on hand. About 80,000 spectators are expected.

REED K. O'S DUGAN Bu United Press KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 17.—"Wild Bill" Reed of Columbus, Ohio, kayaked "Knockout" Dugan of Atlanta in the fourth round.

As Dartmouth Downed Chicago Maroons

DARTMOUTH'S football team proved its claim to national leadership when it trampled the strong Chicago eleven, 33 to 7. This picture shows McPhail, Dartmouth's fleet quarter back, snatching a pass from Oberlander in the first quarter and running forty-five yards for the first touchdown.

FINAL GAME Butler Players Work to Make Squad on Trip.

Butler is being put through hard workouts in preparation for the last game of the season with Centenary College at Shreveport, La., Saturday. The Bulldogs lost to Centenary last year on Irwin field, 9 to 7, and are determined to close the season with a decisive victory.

The players are working hard to show Coach Page they should be the ones to make the long Southern trip. The squad is to leave Indianapolis Thursday noon for the inter-sectional battle.

There were no serious injuries as a result of the Dayton game and the entire squad took part in the scrimmage which started out the week's work.

STIFF DRILL Ferndales Improve Offense for Jonesboro Battle.

The Ferndales will be a well-trained offensive team when they line up against the Jonesboro Fliers Sunday at Washington Park. Coach Eberhart, disappointed with the drive the locals show when they are without scoring distance, has sent out the warning that players who fail to appear for signal practice Wednesday and Friday nights will find pay envelopes short.

No small amount of notice has been given the reputation and record of the Jonesboro team. Without a defeat by a State team, Jonesboro is a strong contender for the title.

Jonesboro has played the games with Hartford City and Kokomo. Last Sunday the Ferndales and Hartford City played a scoreless fray, so that on score alone the game here Sunday will be between two evenly matched elevens.

BENDER OFF LIST Bu United Press CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Charles Albert (Chief) Bender, coach of the White Sox pitchers last season, is not on the reserve list of players issued Monday. Bender will coach the Annapolis team next spring but may be back with the Sox in June when he finishes with the Middies.

SAFETY YOU'RE OUT! By Eddie Ash

MINNESOTA defeats Michigan and claims the Big Ten grid title. The Gopher warriors will get a headache whenever they think of that Notre Dame game of a few weeks back.

The Moon was shining bright along the Wabash last Saturday, but it was a Purple Moon, a Mr. Baker, and he was gleaming through the Hoosier stalwarts of Purdue.

MINNESOTA defeats Michigan and claims the Big Ten grid title. The Gopher warriors will get a headache whenever they think of that Notre Dame game of a few weeks back.

THE PURPLE MOON WILL GET A CHANCE TO GLEAM NEAR THE BANKS OF THE ST. JOE NEXT SATURDAY. AND THERE'S NO QUESTION ABOUT NOTRE DAME BEING FEARFUL OF HIS RATS.

Notre Dame song hit: "Gone Agin, down Agin, Up Agin—Flannagan!"

From the hot sands of Texas to the cold sod of Indiana, is a far cry, but the "Wild Irishman of the Campus" appears to have become acclimated rapidly.

If you hear men talking harshly and using their arms like a traffic cop this week, don't decide they're goofy. They probably will be Indiana, Purdue, Wabash or De Pauw oldtimers telling each other what's going to happen Saturday.

THE GUN-TOTING FRATERNITY IN HOOSIERDOM SOON WILL BE INCREASED. THE BASKETBALL SEASON IS GETTING WARMED UP AND ALL TIMEKEEPERS MUST CARRY "GATS."

According to Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, American League pitchers have been wrong about Babe Ruth's weakness being "low balls on the outside." Miller says Babe's weakness always has been "high balls on the inside."

U. PURDUE TICKETS Seats on Sale Here for Home-Coming Fray at Bloomington.

Tickets for the Purdue-Indiana home-coming game in Bloomington Saturday are on sale locally at the I. U. extension center, 319 N. Pennsylvania St., or at Bursar's office, Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.

Saturday will be dedication of the Indiana memorial stadium and Indiana followers, Purdue supporters and other grid fans are boosting to fill the new plant.

5 BOUTS CARDED MONDAY

Harter Fills Program for Nov. 23 Show—Two 'Shorties' Matched.

Promoter Harter has rounded out his flat program for next Monday night at Tomlinson Hall and there will be five scraps, calling for a total of forty-four sessions of milling.

Patsy Kline, well-known Cincinnati boxer, has been substituted for Al Wolgast to meet Louie Lavell, Anderson, in one of the ten-round features. The change was necessary, owing to a weight difference, but Harter feels sure the change will not detract from the action.

As the card stands, completed, it follows: Patsy Kline, Cincinnati, vs. Louie Lavell, Anderson, ten rounds; 138 pounds. Melie Ate, Indianapolis, vs. Joey Clem, Milwaukee, ten rounds; 128 pounds. Happy Altherton, Indianapolis, vs. Jimmy Yelmont, Terre Haute, ten rounds; 148 pounds. Jack Hart, Evansville, vs. Kewpie Trimble, Chicago, ten rounds; 136 pounds. Shorty Birch, Indianapolis, vs. Shorty Holbrook, Indianapolis, four rounds; catchweights.

Boxing fans will be surprised to see Shorty Birch, the demon Wabash Park baseball scorecard seller, in the ring; but he's going to be there. He urged Promoter Harter to get him a match and Harter sought another "Shorty" to oppose the megaphone kid. This bout will be the four-round prelim, but if it lasts one round the "Big Boys" will be amazed. It probably will be a scream.

The four ten-round scraps are expected to supply no lack of glove-throwing and the show undoubtedly will attract a capacity house. There is a mixture of boxers and punchers included. There will be no advance in prices and tickets are on sale at the usual places.

Boilermakers Brush Up Speed to Throw Against Crimson Rivals.

Bu Times Special LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 17.—Considerably banged up as a result of the Northwestern encounter and somewhat disappointed at the outcome but not at all disheartened, Purdue has begun practice for the closing game of the season, with Indiana next Saturday afternoon in the Hoosiers' new Memorial stadium at Bloomington.

The game will be the Indiana homecoming affair, and will be the official dedication of the downstater's great athletic plant.

Taub, Spencer, Koransky and Deephouse emerged from the Purple contest nursing one or more serious bumps. There has been no crippling of fighting spirit however, and it will be a typical Phalanx-coached Purdue eleven which will throw its speed against the Crimson, who are favorably situated in numerous ways for the Boilermakers' invasion.

The brightest spot of the Northwestern tilt from a Purdue angle was the performance of Wilcox, who dashed through the entire Purple team 70 yards to a touchdown. Wilcox will be a marked man next Saturday at Bloomington, and for good reason. His playing will have a definite bearing on the outcome of the game.

Purdue's squad will travel down Friday morning on a special train, and outside of a workout on the stadium gridiron, will make its headquarters before the game at the Greystone Hotel in Bedford. A special train Saturday will carry the Purdue fans to the game.
