

License Taken to Groom-to-Be

Girl, Sweetheart's Mother and Friends Arrange for Wedding.

With her groom-to-be home, sick in bed, a pretty 19-year-old girl, accompanied by her sweetheart's mother and three girl friends, hopefully applied to Miss Margaret Mahoney, county license clerk, for a marriage license.

"But where's the man?" asked Miss Mahoney.

"Oh, he's home sick in bed, but I'll sign the license for him," spoke up his mother.

Take It to Groom
"We'll have to sign it himself," insisted Miss Mahoney. The four girls quietly conferred with the mother who later asked if they might take the license to her son. With Miss Mahoney's consent the four hastened home with the document.

Several hours later they returned, the bride smiling, and the mother and friends confident that all was now complete. But it costs $2.50 to get a license. Again mother came to the rescue. "Can you cash a $17 check?" she asked. But Miss Mahoney had to refuse it.

Get Money Together

"I've only got a dollar," signed the prospective bride. "Here's another," said her mother-in-law-to-be. And with a search through the purses of the three girl friends they managed to collect the additional 50 cents.

"You know it's bad luck to postpone a marriage, and we're planning to be married tonight," the happy girl smiled as Miss Mahoney handed her the license.
