

M'QUIGG WILL MEET LEGION

Commander to Make First Official Bow Here.

Brig. Gen. John R. McQuigg, American Legion national commander, will make his first official bow to the Indianapolis Legionnaires at a reception at the Indianapolis Athletic Club Wednesday night.

State Commander Clarence Jackson also will meet officially the local veterans for the first time.

The reception will be the opening gun in the local membership campaign. Commander Jackson will urge plans for a large delegation of Indianapolis veterans to attend the 1927 national convention in Paris.

A minimum rate of approximately $200 will take the ex-fighter back to France, State headquarters has announced. All ex-service men, regardless of Legion membership, are invited.

Council Interested Over Proposed Change.

Members of Indianapolis Section National Council of Jewish Women have keen interest in the movement for adoption of a city manager form of government to replace the present political spoils system in Indianapolis. Mrs. Isaac Born, president, said today.

Edward O. Snethen, an attorney, and secretary of the citizens committee sponsoring the movement recently explained the plan to the women.

"I believe the city manager plan will eventually be adopted," said Mrs. Born. The organization does not go on record on questions of that kind she said.

"The matter was presented in an educational way. It was a wide awake meeting and many questions were asked about the new plan. I regard it as a civic rather than political move."
