

Looking Over Palace Show

GLISTENING, golden figure of a girl dancing under a purple spot. What more striking and colorful picture could you imagine for a dance? This is the picture presented in one of the acts in the act entitled the "Jug Orchestra" at the Palace today and tomorrow.

The orchestra itself is made up of men playing stringed instruments and a piano. As featured members are two girls, Pauline Vincent, who has some very extraordinary dancing and Billy Hagga, whose voice adds to the charm of several numbers which she sings.

Olcott and Maye have an amusing act in which the outstanding are the impressions of a "Fly night musical show" by Mr. Olcott and some character songs by Miss Maye.

Joe Jenny and the Empire Comedy act is a comedy act in which some of the time burlesque fun is interspersed with excellent harmony by the four men.

Gene Cobb and Company have a comedy sketch, the scene of which is laid in Mexico. Fun is brought in by the young husbands fatal anning toward the Senoritas and his life's suspicions.

Peet and Le Anna Company open a bill with several athletic tricks and difficult balancing stunts. Bill includes photoplay "Mansion Aching Hearts," with Ethel Clayton and Cullen dani.
